Every state, county and city official or board that handles public money should publish at regular intervals an accounting of it, showing where and how each dollar is spent. This is a fundamental principle of democratic government.

In the terrific 10 years just passed, the whole number of farms in the United States declined 3.1 per cent, from 6,288,648 to 6,096,789. At the same time the average holding increased from 138 acres in 1910 to 174 acres today.

That is partly due to the fact that the dust bowl which we have been industriously creating in the southwest for many years has at last begun to take its toll of blasted hopes and ruined homesteads.

All this means fewer of the kind of men who are solid proprietors standing with their feet on their own land. Such men are the backbone of any country.

The last of the 2,000,000 soldiers who went from the United States to France during the world war are only now, more than 20 years later, straggling home.

Many American soldiers stayed behind when the A. E. F. came home. They married French girls, and settled in Paris or in the little towns and villages they had come to know.

Alps. Today, as 100 years ago, there are not lacking Italians ready to undertake the long and difficult struggle for freedom.

For a long time Russian children, not to say adults, have been deprived of the pleasure of rapt contemplation of the Adventures of Sherlock Holmes.

Possibly the thrillers provided by the public treason trials, and the exploits of the OGPU agents in foreign lands were expected to provide all the necessary thrills to Soviet youth.

Their lives have been spent in the service of the profit system. Suddenly (quite unconsciously, one feels) their minds are elsewhere.

As you gaze at those tiny specks high up in the (temporarily, at least) blue California sky, a small, quiet voice within your consciousness says with startling distinctness:

The voice continues: "Contributing your bit to the American way of living has been your life. You have bought. You have sold. You have hired. You have fired. In your small way, you have BUILT. You and millions of others like you.

But new days are coming. DIFFERENT days. Those boys up there in the sky are preparing to meet the problems of these new days that are on the way."

YOU struggle. You say: "We can't all be up there. If the American way of life is to be saved, the American way of living must be CONTINUED, day by day. No matter what comes, it must GO ON. In every hamlet, in every town, in every city, on every farm."

Dr. O. R. Hess Ordered to Report for Army Service... Dr. O. R. Hess, who recently moved from Myrtle Creek to Roseburg to be associated in medical practice with Dr. E. B. Stewart, today received orders to report for active service with the U. S. army March 15.

RONNIE GOES HUNTING

CHAPTER VI

Ronica Bailey felt that utter despair, born of terror, when danger is all around you and nothing is to be done.

She had slipped off her horse and crept forward afoot in sheer adventure spirit and curiosity. She lacked even the pearl-handled pistol that stayed in her plane.

When she got there she saw the stock of the rifle in Starr's saddle scabbard. She remembered he had worn two side arms, but—

"Oh! Oh, my goodness!" Ronica Bailey murmured. Then Ronica did a characteristic if foolhardy thing. She took the officer's gun, opened it part way to see that it was loaded, and started right back to the spot she had fled from.

"All right!" she heard Starr yell, and was happy for it. "Come out of that with your hands up! Manos arriba!"

He mixed his commands in English and Spanish, but the tone, not the actual words, told Ronica of his desperation. Somehow she knew he was bluffing, possibly hurt.

She crept to a huge boulder, then dropped to hands and knees and started crawling. She had the side view of the battlefield now, and by moving from rock to rock, she came within 50 yards of the embattled men.

"I can shoot from here!" she said, and she was physically calmer than she imagined she could be. Muscles were tense. She lifted the rifle, rested on the boulder, and took a perfect, nerveless aim—a sharp bead right through the sights and on to the torso of a man dressed in dark clothing.

"No! No-no!" she murmured that, too. Not aloud, but to herself. Try as she would, Ronica Bailey could not thus shoot down any man!

All at once she shouted, "MR. STARR! I'M HERE! YOU MEN YOU BETTER DO WHAT HE SAYS!"

Her words sounded inadequate, silly, she realized. Muscles had begun to tremble, and now she was too utterly frightened to speak with anything like the threat and menace she had meant to put into her voice.

Instantly, somebody turned and shot at her. She didn't try again to call out or aim closely. She just shot back.

The rifle thumped her shoulder. She sat back, astonished, and gazed at the thing before she thought to pump in a fresh shell. Quickly then she raised up and shot again.
