

Ickes Raps Oregon Governor For His Utilities Stand

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes accused Oregon's Governor Sprague today with speaking on behalf of private utility companies and attacking public power.

Governor Sprague last week criticized Ickes for refusing to sell any more Bonneville Dam power to the Aluminum Company of America.

"The governor," Ickes said, "with an utter disregard for the facts involved, has sought to use the incident to make an oblique but perfectly apparent attack on public ownership of power."

"He claims he is not speaking for Aluminum Company of America. We know that he is not speaking for the people of the northwest. Privately-owned utility interests, intent on maintaining their vast holding company empires, are the only other interested parties."

"It is apparent to me that he is speaking for privately-owned utility companies or for eastern interests which control these utility companies through their holding companies."

Ickes said that Alcoa now constructing an aluminum factory at Vancouver, Wash., already was receiving four-fifths of Bonneville's output of firm power and that if its recent request for more had been met Alcoa would have controlled 55 per cent of the dam's final capacity.

"The Bonneville law, he said, prohibited any one concern from monopolizing Columbia River electrical energy."

Ickes suggested that Governor Sprague was taking undue interest in the Spokane, Wash., election to determine whether that city should purchase federal power or continue taking electricity from private utilities.

Referring to the Oregon governor as a champion of state's rights, Ickes added that Sprague "might well adopt the principle he professes and leave the people of Spokane to decide their own interest."

SALEM, ORE., March 5 (AP)—Governor Sprague of Oregon replied today to Secretary Ickes' attack on him over their Bonneville power disagreement by saying "I don't like political monopoly any better than I like economic monopoly."

"Secretary Ickes' personal attack upon me is no answer to my statement of last week upon which I stand."

Sprague's statement after Ickes had refused to sell more Bonneville power to the Aluminum Company of America for its Vancouver, Wash., factory, was:

"Secretary Ickes' action represents the danger of concentration of authority that I have been preaching against all along. I am not speaking for the Aluminum Company, but I dislike the fact that any individual has the power to determine the destinies of communities in this fashion. When you eat out of the hand of Washington you have to take what they feed you."

Five Oregon Soldiers Hurt When Auto Strikes Pole

SEATTLE, March 5 (AP)—Five Camp Murray soldiers were injured, one of them, Spencer McCabe, 27, critically, when an automobile crashed into a pole on the waterfront at 12:45 a. m. today. McCabe's skull was fractured.

The others were James Allen Fessler, 19, the driver, Russell Nelson, 19, Paul Kaaluki, 22, and Kenneth Winn, 26. Their injuries were cerebral concussions and cuts and bruises.

They are privates in company K, 185th field artillery of Oregon. Two ambulances rushed them to Harborview hospital.

The hospital listed McCabe's home as Fairfield, Iowa. Fessler, Nelson and Winn as from St. Helens, Ore., and Kaaluki, from Delano, Ore.

Republican Named by Roosevelt to U. S. Board

WASHINGTON, March 5 (AP)—Ray C. Wakefield of Fresno, Calif., was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be a member of the federal communications commission.

Wakefield, who has been a member of the California railroad commission since 1937, will succeed, if confirmed by the senate, the late Thad Brown of Ohio.

The nomination was for an unexpired term of seven years dating from last July 1.

Wakefield, 45, is a republican, a graduate of Stanford university and a member of the California bar.

Higher Tomato Prices Predicted for Growers

Prospects are good for an increased price of from three to four dollars per ton on tomatoes this season, while wages to be paid female cannery workers will be raised, according to L. A. Smith, manager of the Riddle Valley Cooperative Cannery company, who was a business visitor in Roseburg today.

The National Cannery association reports a considerable reduction in tomato acreage on the Pacific coast and prices to be paid growers will be above the level of recent seasons, Mr. Smith said.

There also is a change in labor rates this season, he states, as federal and state regulations require payment at the rate of 37 1/2 cents per hour for female workers.

Melrose Grange Installs Chaplain, Enjoys Program

An interesting program, which included quiz games conducted by Katherine Poterquin and a pantomime by Alice Goff, Amy Kruse, Ruth Matthews and Lucille Conn, "The Aches of Biddy McCree," featured the regular meeting of Melrose grange Tuesday night. Fifty members and guests were present for the meeting, which opened with a potluck supper.

Williamina Bonebrake was installed as chaplain in a ceremony conducted by Mrs. Alice Goff, master, and Amy Kruse, marshal.

The next meeting will be held March 18. Tickets are being sold for a tamale supper to be held at the grange hall Saturday, March 8.

U. S. Asks Italy to Close 2 Consulates in America

WASHINGTON, March 6 (AP)—The United States told Italy today to close its consulates at Detroit and Newark, N. J., "for reasons of national policy."

The decision of the American government followed the recent action of the Italian government to have the United States close its consulates at Naples and Palermo, Italy.

Phrasing of the department's announcement indicated that similar action might be taken against other foreign consulates.

The American consulates at Naples and Palermo were ordered closed by the Italian government along with all other foreign consulates in those cities on the ground that they were within military areas.

Myrtle Creek

MYRTLE CREEK, Mar. 6.—Friends have received word from Mrs. J. G. Michaels at Tigard, that her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Elliott, are enlarging their poultry business a bit, having recently hatched 2000 baby chicks in their incubators.

C. A. Riddle, formerly an editor of the Myrtle Creek Mail, is now employed as a linotype operator on the local newspaper at Delake, about 25 miles north of Newport.

J. G. Buell and Dale Conley have gone to the coast to do logging or other mill work.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ireland had as a guest last Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. Ireland's mother, Mrs. Edith Fisher, of Corvallis.

Stock scales and a small corral for the convenience of shippers and purchasers have been built at the south end of the Myrtle Creek bridge by the Ledgerwoods.

The first spring thunder shower struck this community late Sunday afternoon, "waking up the snakes," as the southerners say, getting ready for St. Patrick's day.

The measles and flu epidemics seem to be on the wane throughout the community.

John Barney, pastor of the Roseburg Christian church, and a large delegation of members of the Ninety-and-Nine Men's movement, with Pastor T. M. White, Mrs. White and Mr. and Mrs. Stone from Myrtle Point, were visitors at the local church Friday evening for the purpose of presenting the work of the movement. While a comparatively small number were in attendance they were filled with enthusiasm by the stories of the good work accomplished in their home groups by the visitors. Following the church service Sunday morning a meeting was held by the men and an organization was effected with the following men elected as officers: William Vaughn, president; E. C. Snodgrass, vice-president; Alvin Newton, secretary. This is a temporary set-up to serve until a more permanent basis can be established.
