Stamps-Bond Drive For Funds Shaping

WASHINGTON, March 21.—(AP)—The treasury today began enrolling an army of 500,000 persons to assist in a campaign to sell billions of dollars worth of the new defense savings securities to the American public.

Gale F. Johnston, St. Louis insurance man who will supervise the drive, said the campaign workers would be sent out to ask employers to use the securities for employee savings plans; to canvass the schools; to urge labor cooperation; to arrange with banks so depositors can have the bonds bought for them regularly and charged to their accounts, and to organize other promotional activities.

Governors, mayors and other prominent local officials will be asked to name committees to even the smallest communities. Johnston explained that the theme of the drive would be for continuous purchases rather than large lump sum transactions. For example, the idea would be to encourage a school child in the habit of buying one 10-cent savings stamp a week or month, rather than to have the child buy $5 worth at one time, and then forget about the matter.

The new securities, announced last night by Secretary Morgenthau, were graded in denominations all the way from 10 cents to $10,000, in order to make such regular purchase programs fit into almost any size purse.
