Myrtle Creek

MYRTLE CREEK, March 26.—While watching a tractor in operation Saturday, Roy Endicott of Nugget, was standing near a wheel struck a stick which flew out at the side, striking Roy's ankle with such force that the bones were broken.

William U. Fugate, 84, retired Methodist minister, residing at the home of his daughter, Mrs. R. O. Chaney, was stricken with paralysis last Wednesday and is in a very critical condition.

Mrs. Lottie Weaver has received word from her brother-in-law, D. W. Jackson, of Billings, Mont., of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Lou Jackson. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson have visited here many times and have many friends in this community. Mrs. Jackson was Miss Lou Strode before her marriage and grew to womanhood on South Myrtle.

A blue truck loaded with cabbage and cauliflower en route to a northern market was wrecked a mile north of Canyonville Sunday afternoon. The springs of the front wheels on the trailer broke and the trailer turned over on its side necessitating one way traffic for a time.

Mrs. Owens' small cottage is nearing completion and is a neat little structure. It is located on Cedar street between Johnson and East Broadway.

Mrs. Margaret Way who spent a few days in Mercy hospital last week came home last Friday. She is improving but will have to go back again for observation soon.

The Chester Chamberlain house on Broadway which was begun last summer has been receiving some more attention lately, with Mrs. Chamberlain's brother, Ned Norton, as carpenter. When finished this house will be one of the best buildings in this part of the town.

The old wooden water meter boxes are being replaced with cement boxes and boxes are being installed for the houses that have been skipped. Wm. Gallup and Hank Ackert are doing the work.

The local Masonic lodge celebrated its birthday on March 17. A large crowd attended and the beautiful decorations on the tables, which bore out the St. Patrick motif, were much admired. The banquet which was prepared by a committee of Eastern Star women was attended by Masons and their wives.

There will be a sacred concert given by a quartet of young ministerial students from Northwest Christian college next Friday night at the local Christian church. The concert will be followed by a sermon by K. E. Burke, president of the college. It will be followed by a meeting of the 99 Men's group.

Mrs. Mary Cave and son, Jimmy, of Medford, came down last Wednesday and made a two-day visit in Roseburg with the former's twin sister, Mrs. Nan Hurlbert. On Friday the sisters came to Myrtle Creek to celebrate their birthday at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Aldredge. The family party was increased in size and enjoyment Saturday evening by the arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Pleasant Aldredge and son, Robert, also from Medford. Sunday afternoon the southern visitors returned home.
