DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

The story of the woman at the well, as found in John's gospel, gives insight into one of the wayside ministries of our Lord. There was intense hatred between the Samaritans and the Jews, and Jesus with true keenness of perception saw in this chance contact a real opportunity to break down the wall of misunderstanding. The woman's thinking passed through several stages. There was the stage of skepticism. "Art thou greater than our father Jacob?" Doubt is always a great stumbling block to a man's progress. How fine when one can say: "I will trust and not be afraid." Again, there was confusion between the natural and the spiritual. The woman knew only of the water of the well. Spiritual truths come to us when we are in tune with the infinite. Jesus gives us the living water. The finest thing about this woman's thinking was that it was receptive. There was a moment of spiritual rebirth. She went and told others: "Come see a man, which told me all things that I ever did. Is not this the Christ?" The greatest proof of our Christianity is at this point. "Come and see." Faith after all is not a magic key; faith is a vital force that links our lives up with the infinite. Amen.
