

News of 4-H CLUBS

According to E. A. Britton, county club agent, replies to questionnaires which he sent out some time ago to boys and girls interested in raising Chinese pheasants total 17 with requests for an even 4000 eggs.

Of course, he states, not that many will be available from the state game commission for this one county alone, so adjustments will have to be made. These requests will be presented to the field man, John McKean, working with the commission, and assignments of eggs made to each member. This will be worked out within the next few days so each member will know how many eggs to prepare to handle. Eggs will not be available until the last week in May or about June 1.

The Coca Cola program will be taken to three different communities this week. On Thursday evening it will be given at Riddle in the high school gymnasium. On Friday evening this group will appear at the Leona school at 8, and on Saturday evening at the Dillard school. Food sales will be held at the close of each of these programs, and the proceeds will be used for 4-H club scholarships to summer school.

On Wednesday afternoon the second and third year's cookery served the first year cookery members an afternoon lunch. Vegetable salad, kool-aid and ritz crackers were served. Sixteen members and one leader were present.

The sewing groups held their meeting Wednesday afternoon under the leadership of Mrs. Place. Lorraine Clarke is planning on finishing her slip, and Faye Place worked on a patch. Dorothy Winkelman worked on her apron.

Safety first is being studied in the 4th grade 4-H Health club. The pupils are making booklets on "Safety First."

The 6th grade Health club has been studying the life of Louis Pasteur and also the great discoveries he has made for humanity.

The 11th and final meeting of the "Home Makers club" was held at the residence of the local leader, Mrs. H. D. Hess. Work has been completed in the club, so the members responded to the roll call by telling which she liked best of the articles she had made. The date for a club picnic was discussed. After adjournment of the meeting, Mrs. Hess served delicious cinnamon rolls.

Two plays, casting Dean Bartlett, William Harris, Earl Baquet and Steve Hess, were presented at the regular meeting of the "Edenbower Safety club" on Wednesday afternoon. Members answered the roll call by telling something that should not be done in a work shop. The songs and yells were led by Perdita Cline. Elaine Strausbaugh will perform this duty next time. Mrs. M. F. Miller, the leader, asked the members to read what they had written after being requested to give five subjects for safety.

A picnic will be held at the next and last meeting of the first year Clothing club under the leadership of Mrs. Cecil Harris. Zolamae Raynor led the group in the songs and yells, followed by the club pledge. Mrs. Harris asked the girls to complete their samplers by the next meeting, since this is the final article to be made. After the close of the meeting, punch and cookies were enjoyed by the group.

On Thursday afternoon the Arts and Crafts club gathered to work. All projects have been completed, so the girls worked on finger painting. The Woodworking club has nearly completed its course. An extra project, photo albums, has been added to the list.

Plays were also presented at the Bachelor Sewing club meeting. These were given by William Harris, Dean Bartlett, Steve Hess, Austin Welt, Arthur Bartlett, Jimmy Raynor and Duane Pope. The vice-president, Arthur Bartlett, took charge of the meeting in the absence of the president. All but one of the members have completed their work. They brought cardboard to be used in preparing exhibits. The roll call was answered by the name of a locally grown fruit.

On Monday evening the Local Leaders association was entertained by the Edenbower leaders at the school. A short pro-

The 4-H Scissor Snippers met on Friday. At the beginning of the meeting the Pats and Pans Cookery club and the Scissor Snippers Sewing club got together and said the 4-H pledge and creed and sang songs and yells. Old and new business were discussed, and it was decided to hold a special meeting some Saturday for the purpose of planning things for the spring fair. Roll call for the next meeting will be answered by telling how many things we have completed in 4-H so far this year. Two demonstrations were given, the first one by Bonnie Burling and Nadine Palmer on "How to Make a Pot Holder." The other one was given by Phyllis Wright and Donna Bernhardt on "How to Cut and Choose the Material for an Apron."

Mr. Britton paid us a visit on Monday of last week and talked about the spring fair and the 4-H summer school and camp. We all enjoyed the visit very much.

The 4-H spring fair to be held on May 2 will be in the high school gym. The program for the evening will consist of three demonstrations from the clubs here in Reedsport, and songs and yells. All entries to be judged will have to be in by 5. During the judging time, children will not be allowed in the building.

The Days Creek Woodcrafters Forestry club and their local leader, Chas. MacKenzie, held a meeting at the local school last Monday to discuss the plans for the spring fair, which is to be held at Canyonville May 8. The secretary, Margie Wright, was instructed to write to Mr. Britton for information as to getting a book of forestry laws and Oregon camp regulations, and also how much space would be allotted our club at the spring fair. For the next meeting, which will be held Wednesday, each member will tell of his plans for the exhibit which will consist of an ideal camp ground site.

Another meeting of the Woodcrafters Forestry club was held on Wednesday. After the regular business session our plans for the camp ground site were completed. The work of this exhibit will be started just as soon as the club receives necessary information.

Mrs. Perry DeVoe, local leader

er of the lower Days Creek Rose and Flower Gardening club, met with her club at the school on Wednesday of last week. After the regular business session the leader inspected the members' scrapbooks. Four of the members gave reports on their flower gardens, which they have already partly planted. At adjournment the club members sang several songs and gave some yells.

The Forest Guards of Riddle and their local leader, Leland Harter, went on a field trip Saturday to the forestry plot in this community. This club went en route the trail which was made by the Woodcrafters and Foresters of Days Creek.

The 4-H Clover club anticipated a very enjoyable time Saturday, April 12, as guests of the Roseburg chamber of commerce. We are all very appreciative of the chamber for planning March 12th as a day for us and other eighth graders of the county. Those from Days Creek having completed the marketing project were: Maxine Wright, Jean McGee, Lois Matthews, Dorothy Brown, Berdean Perdue, Robert Wright, Eldon La Chance, Leland Van Norman. The local leader is Miss Marjorie Church.

The U. S. forest service entertained the Days Creek school Friday afternoon with a number of slides, which pertained to forests, their uses, their enemies, methods of lumbering, recreational values, reforestation, method of protection and many more interesting subjects.

A moving picture which carried the tree from a seedling through life to its completed manufactured stage was also shown. Marvin Helland, Jack Soughbert and John Woods represented the forest service on this tour, and Mr. Helland gave an interesting speech complimenting the Days Creek Forestry clubs for the work they have pioneered in.

The Ringneck Pheasant club members of Days Creek have received their questionnaires from Mr. Britton. Several of the members have returned their questionnaires to Mr. Britton.

The upper river Rose and Flower Gardening club was organized Friday under the leadership of Mrs. John Ferguson. Margie Wright was elected president, Lois Ellen Matthews, vice-president, and Josephine Wright, secretary. Material for the project was passed out by the local leader and the work for the coming year was discussed. All members present plan on carrying division A. It was planned to meet at Lavadore, Wednesday, April 16. At the next meeting each member will discuss some phase of soil preparation. Roll call will be answered by each member suggesting a name for our club. The spring fair for May 8 and the possibility of having an exhibit for that time was discussed. Members present were: Josephine Wright, Maxine Wright, Lois Ellen Matthews, Alice Mae Welch, and Margie Wright. Two other members who were unable to attend are Mildred Spore and Hazel Welch. Miss Anna Lewis was a visitor at this meeting. After the meeting delicious refreshments of potato salad, sandwiches, jello and cake were served.

Mrs. Ferguson, an ardent flower lover and possessing one of the best arranged and most gorgeous flower gardens of this community, is considered an ideal leader for our club.

Senators Blanked By Yanks in Opener

(By the Associated Press)

Sixteen major league baseball machines were lined up today for action before more than 200,000 fans—but, even on opening day, it was the old familiar story of chasing the New York Yankees.

The fearsome bombers from the Bronx got a jump on the other teams yesterday by shellingacking the Washington Senators, 3-0, before President Roosevelt and 32,000 other capital fans.

was something like the way they used to scare their foes into submission by blasting countless "home runs" into the stands and over the fences in batting practice before their games began. They didn't even give Washington a chance during the contest. The Senators, as well as the spectators, were practically stunned by the ease of the thrust, and Marius Russo, sophomore south-paw, never let them recover. He held the Nationals to three scattered singles and started two of the Yankees' three double plays.
