School For Grown-Ups

SUPPOSE that, either by accidental contact or in the course of your business a tourist—a stranger to this part of the world—asked you any one or all of the following questions; could you answer them accurately? Is there a summer resort on the North Umpqua that has the equivalent of hotel accommodations? Is there any bass fishing near here? What is the average annual rainfall? Are there any mines in this area—if so what is mined and where are some of the larger mines (if any) located? What kind of fishing is there available now? What kind of timber predominates in the Douglas county forest area? Is the road to Diamond lake open? These are but a few likely questions. Odds are even that the average person cannot answer half of the above list of questions accurately—and yet they are questions such as any visitor might well ask. The Roseburg chamber of commerce, with the cooperation of the state department of vocational education, is going to make a vigorous effort to correct this situation—particularly insofar as those people who have most contact with tourists are concerned. A "Tourist Information School" has been planned. The purpose of the school, which will present experts on the various subjects, will be to provide those who have contact with the traveling public with complete, accurate information about Douglas county. Details concerning the school will be published in this newspaper. A large regular attendance is urged.

When Somebody Gives—That's News!

NOT "What can I get?" but "What can I do?" Everybody knows that we need more of that spirit. Not so many actually do anything about it. In Lincoln, Ill., 500 members of the Logan County Building and Construction Trades council are doing something about it. A proposal had been made by the Lincoln Evening Courier that ornamental approaches be built at the points where state highways entered Lincoln. Leaders of the carpenters', teamsters', painters', plumbers', and common laborers' unions became interested. Their members volunteered to do the work without cost to the state, which cooperated by lending planners and machinery. So on May 10 Lincoln unveils the first of a series of the city gateways, made possible because it has men who are proud enough of their town to be willing voluntarily to do something about it; because it has men who were willing to ask not "What can I get?" but "What can I do?"

al for the expected attack on Britain. IN London there have been hints that the Balkan defeat may result in abandoning Churchill's 8-man cabinet and substituting for it a 4 or 5-man cabinet headed by Churchill and including the premiers of Canada, South Africa and Australia. Asked whether some such move is in the offing, Churchill answers: "No sir," and calls for a vote of confidence in the house of commons next week on his conduct of the war. In the commons, this motion will be offered: "That this house approves the policy of the government in sending help to Greece and declares its confidence that our operations in the Middle East and ALL OTHER theatres of war will be pursued by the government with the utmost vigor." Under the English system, if this vote of confidence is defeated Churchill will automatically be out. So the house of commons will be one of next week's hot spots.

NOTE Tobruk. It is providing an interesting exception to the German blitzkrieg technique of passing strong points by and relying on taking them later. The German armored columns rushed on past Tobruk, as they had been in the habit of doing in Poland, France and elsewhere. But they didn't rush far. TOBRUK IS SUPPLIED FROM THE SEA. So the British are able to use it as a base from which to attack the flank of the German column advancing into Egypt. So far the Germans haven't been able to take it by storm, and as long as it remains as a threat on their flank they dare not go much farther. That's why Tobruk is so important in the news.

HITLER must be increasingly eager to shut the pestiferous British fleet out of the Mediterranean. Don't discount the talk of a land attack on Gibraltar by way of Spain.

Threats Against German Consulate Bring Police... SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—(AP)—After two anonymous threats were made to bomb the new German consulate, a heavy police detail yesterday guarded movement of the consulate from downtown offices to new headquarters in an exclusive residential section. Police Inspector Sidney Du Bose, head of the crime prevention detail, said neither the police nor the consulate regarded the threats seriously, but that the police would take no chances. He said Chancellor Herman Loeper of the consulate reported receiving two anonymous telephone calls threatening to "bomb that place out on Jackson street," if the consulate moved in the face of protest by some residents of the area. The consulate made arrangements to move when its former lease in the business section was cancelled after two U. S. navy sailors, on leave and in plain clothes, ripped down the swastika flying from the tenth floor offices. Du Bose headed a squad of 15 patrolmen guarding the old and new consulates while a number of police patrol cars watched trucks along the route.
