MAY FETE TO BE CHARMING AFFAIR SATURDAY, MAY 17

The annual Roseburg high school May fete under the direction of Miss Muriel White will be presented free of charge to the general public Saturday afternoon, May 17, at 1:15 p. m. in the high school gymnasium.

The program will open with the crowning of the lovely brunette, Dorothy Crocker, as queen of the May. Stuart Slattery, new student body president, will place the jeweled crown upon her head. Carolyn Cordon, Patricia Quine, Marian Church, Patricia McClintock, Wynona Borgen and Bonnie Anderson, gowned in aqua rayon organza will attend the queen. Little Janet Church, Sally Adams, Sharon Lander and Sue Adele Smith in dainty dotted Swiss will act as flower girls. Marshall Pengra, Jr., Peter Williams and Merton Brooks will be the train-bearers and crown-bearer.

"The Saga of the Umpqua" will be presented before the queen and large audience which customarily attended the beautiful May fete. The story in dance and song of the Umpqua Indians and the coming of the pioneers is entirely different from past entertainments. The opening scene shows an old lady, Maxine Bailey, and her two grand children, Marilyn Beard and Marshall Pengra, Jr., looking at a picture book. In the act of reminiscing, the Umpqua Indians appear from their tents to dance and sway to the beat of the tom-toms. Miss Betty Marsters and Ralph Church sing, "Indian Love Call." Ethel Ann Van Voorst is the fire-lighting princess. Eventually the pioneers appear and the Indians withdraw. The pioneer songs and dances follow. Lila Sanders and Gene Richeson give a howling rendition of two dumb gold-diggers going to California. The pioneer ball ends the pageant story.

The last scene consists of "I'll Follow My Secret Heart," sung by Mrs. Eleanor Hoesmer Lewis and the May pole dances in which the following perform: Ruth Ann Ruhl and Vada Betts, Lois Fowler and Virginia Wolsk, Yvonne Boor and Nadya Ramp, Carol Crossland and Barbara Coleman, Betty Swift and Mildred Frohmader, Lois Tankersley and Dorothy Nicholas, Ruth Hanson and Jerris Johnson.

A flag finale will close the program. General manager for floor decorations is Bill Pyle, Catherine Irving and Anita Young are accompanists.
