DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

The original mystery is to know what God is like. He has been often too remote to know Him, and we have good authority for the statement that "No one has seen God at any time." Yet there is an immediate flash of light upon that problem as Jesus adds, "The Son has revealed Him." Therefore, we make headway at this point. A Christ-like God reveals a God-like Christ. This, then, is the kind of a God we may be like and wonder of wonders, it is precisely the kind of a God we want to be like. That had people are made good, that what we loved we now dislike and what we dislike now we love, is indeed a mystery but it is a reality. It is the conversion of a frail and faulty human into God-likeness. Like tides on a crescent sea-beach when the moon is now and thin, into our hearts high yearnings come welling and surging in. Come from the mystic ocean, whose rim no foot has trod. Some of us call it longing and others call it God. Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is staid upon Thee because he trusteth in Thee, Amen.
