The ladies assembled early in the morning at the home of Virgil Lynn in Melrose from where they were transported by Mr. Lynn in his school bus to the home of Mrs. Cory. The group stopped at the Landers lookout to enjoy the view from that point, which due to the clear day was excellent. Mrs. Cory served the guests a delicious fried chicken dinner with strawberry shortcake with berries from her field which is just coming into full bearing. The afternoon was spent in visiting and strolling through the beautiful groves adjoining the place which were gorgeous with rhododendrons in full bloom. At three o'clock the return trip was started with each lady bearing a huge bouquet of rhododendron blossoms.

One group of the guests walked with Mrs. Cory the short distance to the Callahan school house which is a very fine structure located in a beautiful grove. Mrs. Cory teaches the school which averages from ten to twelve pupils. The ladies enthusiastically expressed a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Cory for her delightfully generous hospitality.
