

"Slow" Order On Tires, Gas, Power Given Civilians

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—An official "go slow" warning was posted today for tire buyers all over the nation, gasoline users in the east, and electricity consumers in the southeast.

To meet the demands of rearmament, stock piles of rubber, largely from the East Indies, so defense officials ordered a reduction henceforth in the amount of rubber available for civilian consumption.

Hydroelectric power in the drought-ridden southeast is essential for the manufacture of vital aluminum, so the federal power commission announced yesterday that it was ready to urge adoption of daylight saving time throughout the entire area.

And with scores of tankers transferred from domestic runs to British use, eastern motorists got an official hint that it might be necessary to ration gasoline until new ways could be found to bring in petroleum from mid-continent oil fields.

America's 30,000,000 motor vehicle owners appeared destined to feel the first major effects of civilian sacrifices.

The motorists, however, got some encouragement in a move by the price control administration to "freeze" the price of gasoline, as a barrier to unwarranted increases.

Grand Canyon Shangri-La Sees 200 Indians Living on $6,635 Annually

PASADENA, Calif., June 19.—(AP)—Ever want to get away from it all? That might be easy if you were a Supai Indian.

Two hundred of the tribe have a hideaway in a remote and inaccessible branch of the Grand canyon, cut off from the outside world, where contentment reigns. Dr. J. W. Hoover of the University of Arizona told about it at the western regional convention of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

"It is quite remarkable that this American Eden, which actually is within the confines of Grand Canyon National park, has not become a mecca for tourists," he said. "Actually it is virtually untouched and unknown."

"Situated in Havasu canyon and oasis, it is surrounded by towering and unbreakable walls of rock. Descent is hazardous by a trail cut in the rocks."

"There are 200 Supai Indians in this Shangri-La and their principal contact with the outer world is the weekly trip over the 30-mile trail by the mailman."

"He, by the way, is the richest man in the community. But just how rich he is may be imagined by the fact that the entire 200 inhabitants live happily on a total annual income from all sources of $6,635. This means that the average inhabitant gets along on $35 a year."

"Some articles made by the Supai are sent out for sale. Recently the largest income has come from CCC labor. No worried or harried frowns could be observed on the faces of those who are known to other Indians as 'the people of the sky blue waters.'"

"Government officials last Tuesday in Washington took under advisement the appeals of the growers' representatives for a higher differential in favor of domestic wools in government orders."

"Mohair continues quiet but firm."

WOOL

BOSTON, June 20.—(AP)—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"While the turnover in wool on Summer street or in the west has been negligible, there seems to be a better undertone to the market, due to inquiries concerning supplies of wool and prices on the part of those who might be interested to bid on the coming government orders. Prices made on sales this week are generally steady."

"In the west, the few sales reported have been usually firm, although some wool has been sold at a slightly lower basis, here and there, especially average fine wool."

"Many manufacturers will have a backlog of orders running into the first quarter of 1942, with awards of government fabrics presently. Mills are correspondingly indifferent to civilian business."

Hoover Hits Alien Isms at Stanford's 50th Anniversary

PALO ALTO, Calif., June 20.—(AP)—Stanford university completed its first half-century of existence today with the dedication of a library named for its most famous alumnus, Herbert Hoover, after having heard the former president declare that universities must be the main bulwark of freedom.

Taking part in a symposium on the future of higher learning, Mr. Hoover last night told a Stanford audience that universities were "the one great hope" in a world "sodden with propaganda and demagoguery."

The world war and subsequent events demonstrated, the former president declared, "that free minds and free spirits cannot thrive if the people are to be corrupted even by half-truths."

"The roads to totalitarianism," he continued, "are bordered with the wreckage of truth. And I may add that the road to foreign wars is lighted with propaganda which itself is half-lies and half truths."

"The future of American depends upon our people reaching their own conclusions unclouded by such poison."

Coincidental with the anniversary celebration it was announced that Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, Stanford's president, would continue as head of the institution until January 1, 1943, and also would be made chancellor of the university.

Work Relief Vote Sees Senate Tilt

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(AP)—Then senate approved today a work relief appropriation of $936,390,000 on a voice vote, and sent it back to the house for action on $50,485,000 of increases and other amendments.

The measure included $875,000,000 to provide jobs for an average of 1,000,000 persons under the works projects administration during the fiscal year that begins July 1, a sharp reduction below recent years recommended by President Roosevelt and previously voted by the house.

A brief but stormy exchange between Senators Adams (D., Colo.) and Murray (D., Mont.) preceded final senate action when Murray asked the senate to delete a house provision removing David Lasser from WPA employment.

Murray said this was unfair discrimination and defended employment of Lasser, former head of the workers alliance, as a WPA inspector at $4,400.

Adams protested that Lasser, when head of the workers alliance composed of relief workers, had "insulted congress" and WPA officials in testimony demanding larger relief funds.

The senate shouted down Murray's request.

Mrs. Baird was a member of the Christian church.

Funeral services will be held at the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Oakland at 2 p. m. Sunday, Rev. Paul Callahan officiating. Arrangements are in charge of the Stearns mortuary, Oakland.

Grange Asks Tax Shift To Aid Family Farms

NEWPORT, June 20.—(AP)—Graduated land taxes to discourage corporation farming and encourage family-size farms were advocated yesterday by the Oregon State Grange in its 68th annual convention.

The grangers also urged "vigorous and immediate action" against nazi and other un-American acts in this country, and to block the sale of needed commodities to countries unfavorable to democracy.

FAVORITE RECIPES BY PROMINENT OREGON WOMEN

A FAVORITE RECIPE by MRS. R. L. CROSBY ASHLAND

Ashland is proud of its Rogue River pears and tomatoes and apples... and of the fine community service and good cooking of its Parent-Teachers Association president, Mrs. R. L. Crosby.

And Mrs. Crosby is justly proud of her delicious, tangy apple juice pie. So she graciously consented to tell us how it is made... sweetened with Oregon's own and only sugar, to be sure. And speaking of Oregon sugar, Mrs. Crosby gladly adds: "White Satin verifies its name when combined in my cakes and pie fillings, for it produces a smooth texture, which tempts the appetite."

APPLE JUICE PIE

Mixture No. 1: One (12 oz.) can Apple Juice; one cup sugar; one tablespoon butter; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon; 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg; 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice.

Mixture No. 2: 3 tablespoons cornstarch; 3 egg yolks. Take 1 cup Mixture No. 1 and dissolve cornstarch; add egg yolks. Stir all together and cook until thickened. Place in baked pie shell and cover with whites of eggs to which 2 tablespoons of sugar have been added. Brown in oven.

PAstry: 2 c. flour, 1 c. shortening, 1/2 c. cold water, 1/4 t. salt. Combine shortening with flour and salt in large flakes. With a knife, cut in the water until it holds its shape. This makes 4 shells.
