ty in the United States in which the Italians have any interest whatsoever.

ROME, June 23.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Phillips delivered to the Italian government today a note in which Washington rejected the Italian charges that United States consular officials—whom Italy has demanded be withdrawn—had acted improperly.

In an attempt to obtain relief for Americans in Italy whose bank accounts are blocked, the ambassador also informed the foreign minister of regulations under which Italians may obtain money in the United States.

American consular officials are planning to leave Italy within a week in accordance with Italian orders for their expulsion.

An authoritative source said regulations for the withdrawal of funds of Americans in Italy had not yet been fixed, but added that the question was no longer on a reciprocal basis.

The banks are still refusing to allow Americans to make even the smallest withdrawals for personal expenses.

as assistant fire wardens, or in first aid, home economics, aircraft warning service, recreation, motor corps, or as instructor in home nursing, accident prevention, swimming, first aid, nursery school, recreation, nutrition or domestic science, also are urged to be present.

Men will be enrolled for police reserve, fire department reserve, first aid, aircraft observers, air raid warden, guard duty and other services.

The local council has been furnished with application blanks for enrollment of both male and female volunteers in any of the services listed. These blanks at present are obtainable at the office of the Roseburg chamber of commerce, but will soon be placed in central locations in all parts of the county.

The meeting Tuesday night will be open not only to the groups mentioned, but to the general public, and all persons interested in volunteering for any particular service are invited to attend. Reservations should be made in advance at the chamber of commerce office or at the Umpqua hotel.

Rev.M.T.Wire Retained as Methodist Pastor Here

Methodist pastorate appointments announced at the state meeting at Eugene today included the retention of Rev. Melville T. Wire in the Roseburg pulpit. In compliance with the previously expressed wish of the congregation, his immediate predecessor in Roseburg, Rev. S. Raynor Smith, was retained at the Jason Lee church in Salem. Rev. James Wilkins was designated to supply the Myrtle Creek-Canyonville churches, and Rev. Stearns Cushing, Jr., who has filled various Douglas county pulpits, was assigned to the Heppner church.

using Finnish bases.

The Finns said, however, so-called bombers had struck swiftly at their ports and shipping a few hours after Adolf Hitler started his dawn offensive against the U. S. S. R.

Nazis Announce Progress

The conflict ranged from continued maneuvers for position in the far north where, in Finland, the 2,600-mile front touches the Arctic sea, to the fierce encounter of men and machines, aloft and aground, in the central and southern sectors.

The German high command, customarily chary of detailed claims in the first stages of its blitzkriegs, announced favorable progress, according to plan, by the German land and air forces.

Anglers' Clinic to be Held Tuesday

Pictured above are Roy L. (Doc) and Esther Haslett, the "Gypsy Anglers," who will conduct a school of fly and bait casting on the courthouse lawn here between 4 and 7 p. m. Tuesday. They are shown with a catch of yellowtails taken on fly in Mexican waters.

That man is here again, and if you have nothing better to do, he can straighten out the kinks in your casting troubles in a jiffy. Roy L. "Doc" Haslett, "The Gypsy Angler," who holds an annual clinic for anglers, will be on the job again between the hours of 4 and 7 p. m. Tuesday on the courthouse lawn and will be glad to help any angler with any problem. "Doc" is an expert of the highest caliber and his advice is yours for the asking. He is a traveling good will man, hired by the tackle companies to spread the gospel of good fishing form. As far as the "Doc" is concerned there are no strings attached to his offer and he will be glad to give you the benefit of his knowledge and experience. "Doc" knows all the answers but, by his own admission, he cannot always convince the fish. Here's the secret: Esther, Mrs. Haslett to you, catches all the big ones. "Doc" just carries the reel. However, a real expert in his line, Haslett has an easy, successful way of teaching the art of angling and his advice on tackle and fishing problems is invaluable.

An important part of "The Gypsy Angler's" program consists of demonstrating easy, simple angler's knots worth knowing. The new Nylon leaders and fly and bait casting lines are in his equipment and fishermen looking for the latest and best in gear have an opportunity to inspect, at first hand, all of the recent developments in advanced tackle and equipment. It is emphasized that nothing is offered for sale.

Haslett invites sportsmen to bring their own outfits, if they wish, and will gladly and freely give advice about correctly selecting rods, lines, reels and other items of equipment which will enable the angler to "fight the fish, not your tackle."

while in the eastern Baltic German torpedo boats penetrated Russian coastal waters, sinking a patrol boat and four small merchant ships.

Heavy Casualties Reported

German air raids on the Russian Black sea naval base of Sevastopol; on Kiev, capital of the rich Ukrainian wheat region which is the vast area Adolf Hitler hopes to seize, and on other Russian cities, rolled up great casualty lists.

The Russians said 65 Nazi raiders were shot down. The Germans reported Russian raids on East Prussia.

The Russian high command made no mention of the fighting front along the Rumanian frontier where Rome radio reports said German and Rumanian allies had crossed the Prut river into Bessarabia, the province Russia seized from Rumania. The Russian implication was that the red army was holding firm in all other areas.

On the Rumanian front the soviet's better defenses are situated along the Dniester river, the old boundary, and Russia was said to be pouring thousands of men and great quantities of equipment into this area.

The red army high command, in its first communique telling of this great new war which Germany sprang yesterday on her non-aggression pact friend of less than two years' standing, said German gains thus far were insignificant and made at great cost to the Germans.

Perhaps 5,000,000 troops were engaged in the struggle.

Finland in Tight Spot

Little Finland, exhausted by the 1939-40 war with Russia, obviously was being propelled into another fight with her powerful neighbor.

Finland, which lost valuable land to Russia in the recent war, called up all available manpower, instituted blackouts, readied her air raid shelters, and prepared to resist any Russian attack.

Dispatches to Finnish newspapers from Berlin said great clouds of smoke were rising from burning villages, oil stores and ammunition dumps along the soviet frontier as the Russian army withdrew to other positions.

The German news agency DNB said scores of Russian planes had been destroyed on the ground by Nazi bombs. Adolf Hitler accused Russia of aggressive intentions against the reich when he opened this new war front. The Russians promptly said this was a characteristic German falsehood, and announced their determination to crush Germany. Molotov recalled that Napoleon, too, had tried to conquer Russia.

Britain Shows Caution

Britain steadfastly cheered today her prime minister's determination to help soviet Russia fight Germany, but shied at placing too much reliance on the soviet as a potent brother in arms.

Reports of Russia's resistance along the lengthy eastern front were watched closely for a hint of the red army's strength or weakness by the press and public, grown wary because of one continental debacle after another.

Prime Minister Churchill's ringing declaration yesterday that "we shall give whatever help we can to Russia and the Russian people" and "any man or state who fights nazism will have our aid" were seconded warmly by London newspapers.

In his radio message to the world Churchill urged that "all our friends and allies" take the same course as Britain in helping the soviet union fight—an urging taken without question by British as directed, among others, at the United States.

What Will Japan Decide?

In Tokyo, Premier Konoye conferred with Emperor Hirohito and, without explanation, a special liaison conference of Japanese cabinet and military leaders was postponed, for a second time, until tomorrow.

Japan is bound by the three-power axis pact to go to the assistance of either Germany or Italy in event of "attack" by a new belligerent in the world's wars. Whether Russia attacked Germany—as Adolf Hitler charged and Molotov denied—was up for decision in Tokyo.

Japan also is bound to remain neutral in a fight involving Russia. This is in a Moscow-Tokyo pact, signed while Hitler still was trying to work Russia into the axis-planned new world order.

Nevertheless far eastern observers keenly watched Japan for signs that she might try to seize eastern Siberia while Russia battles for her life in the west.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 23.—(AP)—Twenty persons were killed, about 60 were injured and some damage was done in an axis air raid on Alexandria early this morning, the Egyptian minister of interior said.

The British announced today that they had taken 8,000 prisoners, including 11 generals, in the capture of Jimma, in southwest Ethiopia.
