and millions of individuals are facing the same problem in greater or less degree. And we'll bet many, many of them will find the same thing—that the things they thought were necessary weren't necessary at all, or that something else will do not only as well, but better.

Interesting dispatch from Moscow: The soviet supreme council decreed two to five years imprisonment today for dissemination of false rumors likely to alarm the populace. That, of course, is primarily directed at German fifth columnists operating behind the Russian lines, but it could easily be made to cover news of a Russian trouncing.

FROM THE RUSSIAN side comes today the story that the Germans are using fake tanks made of wood and canvas.

It is vouched for by Junior Lieutenant Subchenko, who was using his binoculars and saw a German tank column moving up to the front. The column stopped. A German officer got out and leaned an elbow against a tank. The wall GAVE under the pressure.

Of the 20 tanks in the column, Subchenko reports, only one was genuine. The others were wood and canvas phony.

It is a swell tale. Full of color. And PROBABLY TRUE. But don't jump wishfully to the conclusion that Hitler is getting short on tanks. Deception is as old as war, and he was probably using these phantom monsters to fool the Russians.

Moscow reports that when night came the phony tanks were DESTROYED along with their unfortunate crews, thus turning the deception back on its perpetrators.

Anyway, it must be conceded that Junior Lieutenant Subchenko, whose sharp eyes detected the fraud, is a smart young man. It's a good thing for Stalin he didn't get caught in a blood purge.

If you are inclined to be confused by these conflicting stories as to who is licking whom, note that Japan at noon Monday was still sitting on the fence.

Japan has a grand spy system, and must know far more about the real facts of this titanic struggle between Hitler and Stalin than we ordinary readers of the papers can hope to know. When Japan bites Stalin suddenly and viciously in the leg, we may take it for granted that Hitler is definitely ahead.

Legion-Sponsored Carnival Dated in Roseburg for Week

The American Legion circus, a West Coast Carnival company show, will open in Roseburg next Tuesday for a week's stand, it was announced today by Ted Levatt, contracting agent, who was in Roseburg today arranging for site and supplies.

The circus, he states, has as its main feature a show which includes a trained troupe of 20 Arabian horses, Shetland ponies, dogs, monkeys, bears and Lucy, the Hollywood litterbug elephant. In addition there are 15 side shows and 15 modern riding devices, including a number of miniature safety rides for small children.

Chappell Brothers, aerialists, who have been at Steeplechase park, Coney Island, N. Y., for the past season, will be featured in a nightly free show, Mr. Levatt reports.

The company includes 300 people, traveling in a 50-truck train which will arrive in Roseburg from West, Calif., Monday.

The local appearance of the circus is to be sponsored by Umpqua post of the American Legion.

New Officers of Lions Conduct First Session

New officers of the Roseburg Lions club took their places last night to conduct the first business session of the new club year.

The officers are Al Flegel, president; Howard Stucky, first vice-president; H. D. Palmer, second vice-president; "Chuck" Thompson, club treasurer; Fred Johnson, club secretary; George Gorman, George Witters, Bob Franks, Tim Reston, directors. The meeting was given over entirely to business matters and announcement of committee appointments.

St. Patrick was not an Irish man and was not born in Ireland, but near the present site of Glasgow, Scotland.

Hope for Missing Nurses in Sub-Boat Blow Retained

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—National headquarters of the American Red Cross, refusing to give up hope for seven nurses and one Red Cross worker feared lost at sea, waited anxiously today for further information from the navy or the state department.

Six of the 10 nurses who sailed June 5 for England aboard a British vessel are missing, Red Cross officials reported their ship, which was not identified, was torpedoed about two weeks ago.

Mrs. Ruth Breckenridge, society woman of Winston-Salem, N. C., a volunteer, and Miss Maxine C. Loomis of Springfield, Mass., the seventh nurse, were aboard the Dutch ship Maasdam, sunk several days after it sailed from an Atlantic port early in June. They have not been heard from.

Reports reaching Red Cross headquarters said the other four nurses on the British ship were rescued five days ago after 10 days drifting at sea.

All of the 17 Red Cross women on the Maasdam originally were reported safe, but officials said yesterday only 15 now are known to have been rescued.

SERIAL STORY LOVE POWER BY OREN ARNOLD

YESTERDAY: Bob Hale flew west to find a location for the X-999 laboratory. Carolyn realized that she is in love with him, knows he loves Leana. She keeps her job, however, awaiting Bob's return. He finds an ideal hiding place, hurries home to supervise the transfer of X-999. Carolyn is charged, tells Leana preparation for moving the underway.

LEANA PLANS VENGEANCE CHAPTER XII

LEANA SORMI, perfectly groomed, as always, because her scientific mind revolted against anything not precise and orderly, swung down the hallway in graceful strides. Carolyn watched her from a distance and had to admit the older woman's bodily beauty and grace. Leana had limbs, hips, torso, shoulders, hair and posture which any girl might envy, and Carolyn told herself, fearfully, that these can go a long way to offset a rather plain face. Especially if they are topped with a brilliant mind.

To avoid any clash, Carolyn's first urge was to hurry into her own office. She knew Leana was coming to see Bob. Next instant, however, she remembered the somewhat frantic way in which Bob had pleaded for help in his strange courtship with Leana, so she waited.

"You look lovely this morning," Carolyn said, by way of greeting. Leana warmed over so slightly. "I always wear white well." There was no more. No smiles. No moment of geniality, no further bit of girl talk. Leana passed on as if detached from the world.

Carolyn sensed anew that she could never be of any help to Bob Hale in his personal heart matter. Everything in her rebelled against trying. LEANA went to Bob's office. Carolyn, anxious to escape the unavoidable eavesdropping, or interfering in any way, found excuse to stay away from her desk.

In characteristic bluntness Leana drove straight to her point. "Bob's not here," she said. "He's turned to actual work," she emphasized the last two words almost bitterly—"perhaps you will be so good to tell me the plan you have made."

The thrust escaped his notice. In truth, Leana was not so much concerned over the future of X-999 as she was of the fact that Bob had returned from the west yesterday afternoon, and had, to Leana's astonishment, taken Carolyn to dinner.

"Right, Leana! I was going to send for you. Or come to your office," Dr. Hale, although superior here, had always tacitly placed Miss Sormi in a position of virtual partnership and equality in their laboratory work. She had come to expect it. "As a matter of fact," he went on, "Carolyn has made most of the arrangements already. She is to—"

"Indeed! The matter was taken right out of my hands." Her asperity caught his attention. He looked up at her in surprise. "But, Leana, she's so busy now? Carolyn is to be complimented. For efficiency. She had already ordered a freight car when I arrived home, had the exact train schedule on my desk. She had anticipated my reasoning that a freight car offers the best and safest transport."

"Carolyn arranged to load the car at the Meyer switch, only half a mile from here. The load containers will be cast and ready by 6 or 7 o'clock tonight. The girl is priceless."

"There'll be so much secretarial work, so I've asked Carolyn to go west with us. Move out there, with her mother. Dependable help is invaluable, Leana, and she has proved herself."

He smiled tolerantly. "We're just not used to having a secretary, you and I. Somebody to do our work."

"The danger is enormous," said she, coldly. "Unavoidably." He nodded agreement. "Which is all the more reason for getting our job done with dispatch. Carolyn has some good ideas about packing, too. Look, she suggests if ordinary coil springs be mounted on all sides of the padded containers, and they in turn padded again outside, there is practically no possibility of shock no matter how rough the trip may be. As you know, ordinary shock about not disturb X-999 anyway. Only neat or a percussion cap might do it. And yet, that first 'fort—'"

He recalled the explosion, which still baffled him. "For getting it to the train, Carolyn agrees that—"

CAROLYN, Carolyn,
