

Orders to "Shoot" Believed Given to U. S. Naval Patrol

WASHINGTON, July 10.—(AP)—The top question in the capital today was whether the Atlantic fleet got shooting orders when the United States began its protective occupation of Iceland.

It revived the recurrent question whether shooting already had occurred, and the senate naval committee met to decide whether sufficient grounds existed for an investigation of previously denied reports of clashes between U. S. naval patrols and nazi sea raiders.

The discussion on the latest defense move in the Atlantic also included Wendell L. Willkie's advocacy of American bases in Scotland and northern Ireland, and the disagreement on Capitol Hill over the propriety of Senator Wheeler (D., Mont.) in forecasting the occupation of Iceland in advance—an action criticized by Britain's Prime Minister Churchill.

On the shooting question, the opinion of many legislators was that Secretary of Navy Knox had plainly implied that the Atlantic fleet had orders to open fire if necessary to deal with hostile activity along the United States communication lines at sea.

They held that was the obvious interpretation of the secretary's remarks yesterday, even though he carefully avoided use of the word "shooting."

Willkie Favors Real Aid

Declaring that "there is no use in just giving lip service to Britain," Willkie said after a white house conference yesterday that he favored the establishment of American military bases in northern Ireland and Scotland.

Emphasizing that he was expressing his own views rather than those of President Roosevelt, Willkie said that American occupation of Iceland "is, in my judgment, but the first of similar steps that should be taken."

In response to questions, Willkie declared that it was vital "to keep the sea lanes open." He added that British shipping losses were running far ahead of new construction.

"We can do one of two things," he continued. "We either can give Great Britain effective aid or we can render her only lip service."

"It would be better not to try to give any aid at all than to follow the latter course."

New Prohi Campaign Advocated by Dr. Poling

ATLANTIC CITY, N. Y., July 10.—(AP)—A campaign for the return of prohibition was proposed to the international Christian Endeavor society in biennial convention today.

"The present national emergency makes even more imperative prompt and decisive action," Dr. Daniel A. Poling of Philadelphia, president of the society which claims 2,000,000 members in the United States and Canada, told 6,000 delegates last night. "Alcohol has less than nothing to contribute to the national defense."

Asserting the society faced "a greater task" than it did more than two decades ago before the last world war, Dr. Poling said: "For every saloon of 1911," he said, "there are now at least three similar, or worse, places of liquor sale."

Four Million Trash Fish In East Lake Poisoned

PORTLAND, July 10.—(AP)—Nearly 4,000,000 trash fish were killed in the May poisoning program at East lake, the state game commission reported today. A check revealed only 341 trout and salmon killed. The poison

Delayed Defense

DALLAS—Twenty-three years ago technical high school students and teachers raised money to buy liberty bonds. World war one ended before the money was invested.

Today it amounts to $1,250, including interest from the bank where it has remained.

The money will be used to buy defense bonds.

Divorce Didoes

BASAIN, Wyo.—Said the bewildered man to District Judge P. W. Metz:

"Judge, it's this way—some time ago my wife told me she was getting a divorce. The other day I met a fellow who told me she had received a divorce, but we're still living together and I can't see any difference.

Records disclosed the wife had obtained a divorce several months ago.

Judge Metz advised the man to see a minister or justice of the peace.

Ear Splitter

EASTON, Pa.—One of Walter Cook's work horses acted "sort of funny" the day after lightning struck a barn on Cook's farm.

The usual "g'up" and "whoa" elicited no response.

Closer inspection disclosed the animal had become stone deaf.

Sweet Victory

MILWAUKEE—Miss Margaret Milwaukee, recent University of Wisconsin law school graduate, won her first case in district court when she represented her used was fatal to fish but harmless to man or animals.

The commission also issued a request that anglers report catches to supply data for field crews.

Charles A. Lockwood, assistant game supervisor, said that although 1941 reports were far in excess of those of last year, many fishermen had not used the commission's cards.

Gunpowder was discovered by the Chinese about 600 A. D., but they used it only as a toy.

Kidnaping Conviction Voided, But Pair Held

PORTLAND, Ore., July 9.—(AP)—Freedom was denied yesterday for Frank C. Hiller, 30, and Harold H. Conner, 31, whose kidnaping conviction recently was set aside by Federal Judge Fee.

The judge returned the case to the grand jury for consideration of another charge. He said the pair would be held in jail in the meantime.

They were convicted of abducting a Portland girl and taking her to Vancouver, Wash. Judge Fee ruled that the Lindbergh kidnap law, under which they were charged, should not be applied to such a case.
