Ousted Consuls To Quit U. S. Tonight

NEW YORK, July 15.—(AP)—The pride of the American merchant marine leaves tonight on a maiden trans-Atlantic voyage as strange as any in history.

Farewell parties are banned on the vessel that will sail for Lisbon with nearly 500 passengers straight into war-dangerous waters.

Aboard will be German and Italian consular officials and other agents of axis governments and their families who are quitting the United States by order of the state department.

The ship is the 27,000-ton former liner America—largest merchant vessel ever built in this country—which has been converted into a navy transport and renamed the West Point.

Sailing will be delayed pending the arrival of 16 German consular representatives flying here from San Francisco.

The latter group, including Dr. Hans Borchers, consul general at New York, and Captain Fritz Wiedemann, who held the same post in San Francisco, planned originally to sail for Japan, but missed their boat while awaiting a British guarantee of safe conduct that came too late.
