A Baker From Baker bakes a WHITE SATIN CAKE

If you know Baker, then you're almost sure to know Mrs. Viola Littig, who does the cooking at the popular Bakery Lunch and, who, just to make it a full day, bakes tempting cakes and other pastries for smart parties and special dinners. Mrs. Littig is generally acclaimed as one of Baker's outstanding cooks, so she ought to be about right when she says:

"I use 'White Satin' sugar exclusively because it dissolves quickly to make the smoothest icings imaginable, and is the right sugar for every cooking or sweetening purpose, and . . . it's made in Oregon."

Oregon women invariably agree with Mrs. Littig and many other expert witnesses for this quality Oregon product. It's guaranteed to please . . . or your money back.

WHITE SATIN SUGAR

1 lb. can 25¢ 2-lb. can 47¢

SEVEN MINUTE ICING
 1 c. "White Satin" sugar
 2 eggs
 1/4 c. milk
 1/4 c. lemon juice
 1/4 c. salt

Beat sugar, water, baking powder and egg whites in top of double boiler. Beat constantly until fluffy or when egg beater is lifted out the icing stands in points. Remove immediately from boiling water. Add vanilla and salt.
