Great Achievements

The axis powers have really accomplished a great deal in the past 21 months.

Not the military conquests. They have accomplished a great deal more than that.

They have completely uncovered to the whole world the naked audacity, the shameless unscrupulousness, of their plan to force into the Nazi mold as much of the world as pleases them.

They have resurrected the soul of the British people; discredited and driven from power a leadership which was indifferent alike to the Nazi menace and to internal failure to adjust the British economic and social world to modern times.

They have shown the colossal folly of the exaggerated nationalism which caused the tiny nations created in central Europe by the first world war to hate and shun one another; they have shown them that their only safety in future lies in collaboration.

They have destroyed the illusion in the United States that so great a people can remain indifferent to what goes on in the rest of the world; they have breathed life and reality into a Pan Americanism, and suddenly switched it from sentimental idealizing to life-and-death practicality.

They have virtually assured greater degrees of independence to component parts of the British empire, including India, when the war shall be over. They have shown that old-fashioned conquer-and-colonize colonial policies of the 19th century are not good enough for the 20th.

They have created among Norwegians, Dutch, French, Czechs, Danes, Belgians, Greeks, and among all the peoples of Europe, nay, of the world, myriad masses of people who know now to their cost the priceless worth of liberty, who will not soon again let the jewel slip from careless fingers.

Seeking to destroy liberty, they have restored to it the strength and the dynamic it has not had for a hundred years.

Seeking to turn the clock back to a medieval despotism, they have opened the way to progress and the development of a real 20th century civilization which shall be neither communist nor fascist, neither socialist nor yet capitalist in the sense that 1870 was capitalist.

They have opened the way to a free world in which the individual has air to breathe, a chance to live and grow.

Waste

WHICH is the more wasteful? The spilling out of French lives by Vichy to defend something in Syria which was not French, from a power that has for many years been the devoted friend and ally of the French people? Or the solemn beginning of the work of a commission to frame a constitution for France?

Both are a waste, the former of precious lives, the other of time, which is not worthless even in conquered France. The advisory commission which is to put in words the ideas for what Marshal Petain now calls "an authoritarian hierarchical social state," will deliberate solemnly, no doubt, framing a constitution for a people without sovereignty, preparing to ask that people to tailor to its own neck the collar designed by the conquering Nazis. It is a depressing and forbidding picture of what happens to peoples which succumb to Nazi domination.

right. About as far as they will go is to keep still about developments that don't sound too good.

IN London today, the soviet military mission loosens up with some interesting detail.

The red army, it explains, has worked out a technique for handling German panzer attacks. The Russians claim to have developed two types of special planes. One, a twin-engine bomber, is armed with CANNON firing armor-piercing shells into tanks. The other is a heavily-gunned fighter that swoops on infantry with a scorching machine gun attack that is described as more effective than bombs against disciplined troops, causing higher casualties.

When the red commander is satisfied that a break has been made in the continuity of the German attack, he sends in infantry led by light tanks to counter-charge the German infantry while his cannon-armed planes are still attacking the Nazi tanks.

THE German method of panzer attack is to send a spearhead of heavy tanks followed by lighter tanks which in their turn are followed by motorized infantry that tumbles out of the trucks to clean up machine gun and artillery positions that have escaped the tank onslaught.

It is these infantrymen that are smacked by the tanked Russian counter-attack, while the German tanks that have broken through are dealt with by the cannon-armed Russian planes.

You may remember that a year ago, when the Germans were boiling into France, the French hung cannon to the fuselages of their planes and for a few brief hours knocked out a lot of German tanks by firing at them from above.

With their immense superiority in the air, however, the Germans soon cleaned up the small number of planes the French were thus able to equip.

THIS new technique story, of course, comes from Russian sources whose reliability can't be guaranteed. But if true it indicates that the Russian army has not only bravery and determination (as every student of history knows) but considerable ingenuity as well.

OUT OUR WAY

Boy Scout Camp On Wolf Creek to Start Sunday

All plans have been completed for the Wolf Creek Boy Scout camp, which opens Sunday, it was announced today. Robert Dill, field executive from the Eugene headquarters, and his assistant, Ralph Johnson, of Portland, will arrive here Sunday morning to direct the camp. The first meal will be served to the boys at 5:30 p. m. Sunday.

E. A. Britton and his assistants have been working the past week to prepare the camp for occupancy, and report all facilities in excellent condition. A new pump has been installed in the mess hall.

Mrs. Bertha Taylor again will be camp cook.

A camp truck will be furnished by the Hansen Motor company for the first week, and the Lockwood Motor company will supply the truck for the second week. The vehicles will be used to assure speedy transport of fruits, vegetables, dairy and poultry products to the camp. The trucks also will carry letters and packages which may be left by parents and friends of the boys at the chamber of commerce office in Roseburg for free delivery. Parents and friends are invited to visit the camp at any time.

Defense Quiz

Q. Can Defense Savings Bonds be redeemed?

A. Yes; they can be redeemed for cash at face value or exchanged for Defense Savings Bonds. For example, 75 of the 25-cent Stamps—total cash value $18.75—may be exchanged for a Defense Savings Bond which in 10 years will be worth $25.

Q. Why should Americans buy Defense Bonds and Stamps now?

A. Among the reasons are: (1) It is the quickest way in which every citizen can both serve his country and conserve his earnings, and (2) the purchase of these Bonds and Stamps helps not only to finance national defense but also to prevent high prices and increased cost of living.

NOTE—To buy Defense Bonds and Stamps, go to the nearest post office or bank, or write to the Treasurer of the United States, Washington, D. C., for an order form.

SERIAL STORY

LOVE POWER

BY OREN ARNOLD

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

When Jesus was confronted with malicious tales it was His habit to answer nothing. He would have no part in gossip on talebearing; it was as though he heard them not. When the Pharisees brought the unhappy woman taken in adultery into His presence and spread abroad the list of her sins, He appeared not to listen to their ugly words. He bent His head lower to the level of hers who was prostrate at His feet, and in loving silence refused to find fault. When false accusations were heaped upon Him, always He answered not a word. The surest way to silence harmful gossip is to refuse to listen to it, or to repeat it. This is to follow the habit of the Master. St. Paul says that the tongue is a fire and that it may be set on fire of hell. So great is the harm of evil speaking that lives can be ruined beyond redemption by it. Only when our tongues are set on fire of heaven may we bless instead of curse our fellow men. "Boys flying kites haul out their white winged birds, you can't do that way when you're flying words. Careful with fire is good advice we know. Careful with words is times doubly so. Thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead, but God Himself can't kill them once they're said." Amen.

YESTERDAY: When Carolyn reaches Blair, Bob has already landed safely. He screeching for her. Together they stare the 3,000 deep in the mountain. Carolyn is having in her work, but knows that Leana has not given up. She will strike again. But Carolyn has to stay on the job. To run away would leave Bob helpless, alone.

LEANA AWAITS CHANCE

CHAPTER XX DURING the six weeks that followed Carolyn's sensational arrival in Arizona, life settled into an oddly contrasting and beautiful routine. It was as if the frenzied troubles had all passed away with that midnight rainstorm, leaving the skies both figuratively and literally blue. Carolyn had telephoned her mother, and Mrs. Tyler, happily excited in her own right now, had packed their trunks and personal effects to follow west. It was a big change in her life. It subtracted years from her countenance. They decided to take her mother into partial confidence, explaining that the "chemical substance" was hidden in the abandoned Copper King Mine shaft only because it was valuable and "dangerous to persons who wouldn't handle it properly." They did not tell her just how terrifically great it was in explosive power, lest she be uneasy.

HEPPNER, Ore., July 19.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Morris drowned in the John Day river Thursday night where they sought relief from the heat. Morris, a soil conservation service employee, formerly was stationed here.

Electric Storm Forces Down Sutherland Flier

SUTHERLIN, July 19.—Edgar Slack, local flier, while returning home Wednesday night by plane from a trip made earlier in the day to Redmond and Bend, was forced down by an electric storm. He had nearly reached Eugene when he encountered a storm through which the plane could not pass. He was unable to fly around the storm area, due to its extent and was forced to turn back to Oakridge, where he made an emergency landing in a pasture.

Wallace Cloake Slated For Flier Graduation

Wallace Henry Cloake, son of Mrs. E. G. Cloake, route No. 2, Roseburg, completed his elimination flight training at the naval reserve aviation base, Seattle, Wash., and was appointed an aviation cadet on October 1, 1940. Cadet Cloake entered advanced flight training school at the naval air station, Jacksonville, Fla., January 27, 1941, and expects to graduate about July 18, 1941. On graduation, at which time he will be designated a naval aviator and assigned to active duty with the aircraft squadrons of the marine corps, he will be commissioned second lieutenant in the marine corps reserve. A fifteen days' leave will be granted Cloake upon graduation.

Lumber Needs May Ease Log Haul Restrictions

PORTLAND, July 19.—(AP)—Midnight-to-dawn hauling of logs may be the answer to an impending lumber shortage, the state highway commission said yesterday.
