WATSON E. BOISE AND SONS AND GRANDSONS ENJOY TWO-DAY TRIP

Watson E. Boise, his sons, Charles and Eugene, and grandsons, David Bell and Charles P. Boise, took a two days outing last week to Diamond and Crater lakes, going by Tiller-Trail.

Charles Boise, of London, England, had never had the opportunity previously of taking this trip and he pronounced it "wonderful."

They returned by the North Umpqua road and had several interesting experiences.

At the heavy rock work along Copeland creek two large boulders had fallen on the road and had not been removed as the CCC crew was away fighting forest fires. It required the combined efforts of six people for the removal of the boulders from the road.

A few miles above Steamboat they encountered a fine deer family, the buck, doe and two fawns standing in the road with the Umpqua on one side and the steep bluff on the other. Waiting for the deer to decide what to do about it, they were much surprised when the deer concluded to climb the almost perpendicular bluff and made it without a slip.

Above Big Camas a fine buck was standing only a couple of rods from the road and remained quietly for a few minutes for inspection, then went behind a tree, but peeked out to see what the intruders intended to do.

THE GREAT TEACHER

Who has looked to earth and sky For his soul's upbringing, Feels a surge of confidence Ultimately springing.

Happy, he, who finds a path Where the wind is blowing— Where the earth is black and clean And satisfied with growing.

Fortunate is anyone Who has learned from living Three essentials of the soil: Waiting . . . growing . . . giving. —Marjorie Hunt Pettit.

"You'll know when it's his bedtime—he starts throwing ash trays."

Hospitality Of Roseburg Pleases Guard Company

Appreciation for courtesies extended men of the Roseburg national guard company during their recent two-day visit here, was expressed in a letter received today by the Roseburg chamber of commerce from Captain Robert L. Irving, acting commanding officer of the first battalion, 162nd infantry.

"I want to express to you and through you to the people of Roseburg, the appreciation of myself and officers and men of Company D for the courtesies and hospitality given us during our brief visit at home," Captain Irving said. "I was very much interested in the attitude of the enlisted men after leaving Roseburg, and can assure you that they enjoyed their visit and appreciate all that was done for their enjoyment. The friendliness of Roseburg even impressed the men traveling with the unit whose homes were elsewhere, and these men appreciated the fact that they were as welcome as the home town boys.

"Will you please convey my thanks, especially to our friend, Mayor Young, for the use of his camp ground and facilities. After living in California, the green grass and shade on Deer creek looked almost like heaven to us."

Captain Irving reports that he expected to be able to return to Roseburg soon for a brief furlough, but that his plans have been changed and he will be unable to leave until about the end of the month.
