Now Is the Time to Start

ALTHOUGH there is yet some uncertainty both as to the location and whether or not there will be an army cantonment in the Willamette valley, it seems the Medford cantonment is virtually assured.

We are living in a time when big things happen with amazing rapidity. This is a pleasant quiet valley that we live in.

Apparently our most important role will be that of supply source, particularly of perishable food stuffs, for the thousands of army men who will be located in southern Oregon.

So if our producers are to participate in furnishing food requirements for the cantonment they must be organized on a basis to accumulate and sell through one central agency.

Black Beauty Vindicated

PROBABLY none of them had read "Black Beauty." That's a story widely read during the horse-and-buggy era in which Anna Sewall taught kindness to animals, particularly horses.

When passing motorists came on a horse, prostrate in the shafts of a buggy in the middle of the highway, and found that it had been mercilessly driven all day without food or water along the brutal concrete highway, they furiously pummeled the heartless drivers.

It's good to see that a generation or two of driving motor vehicles has not dulled men's minds completely to the sight of brute misery.

Editorials on News

informed that this was one reason that Japan chose Indo-China instead of a direct attack on Russia to aid her axis partners.

BERLIN (for the umpty-umph time) announces today: "The bloody struggle with soviet Russia has now reached a stage where decisions of the UTMOST IMPORTANCE are expected."

THE "reliable source" in London already quoted adds: "Russia soon will be aided by POLISH troops fighting the Germans under a Polish-Russian pact nearing completion."

Poles fighting for Russia. If that isn't a scrambling of national hatreds, nothing could be.

CONGRESS' response to the new emergency is indicated by this Washington dispatch: "The senate military committee approved by a NINE to ONE vote today a resolution amending the selective service act to retain selectees, national guardsmen and reserves in the army beyond the present limit of one year."

CAN you remember back to the late fall of 1939, when it was being said on all sides that "this is a phony war?"

It ISN'T a phony.

OUT OUR WAY

Substitutes For Silk Are Urgent

NEW YORK, July 28.—(AP)—The National Association of Hosiery Manufacturers estimated today that President Roosevelt's order freezing Japanese assets in this country came at a time when silk supplies were sufficient to meet approximately seven months' normal demand.

The estimate counted stocks in retail, wholesale and manufacturers' storerooms—good for three months; raw silk supplies—another two months, and silk "gray goods"—two months more.

William Leader, president of an AFL hosiery workers union local said: "It's only a question of getting enough of the synthetic materials, and it's up to the government to see that this is done."

Preliminary Work on Power Plant Under Way

PORTLAND, July 28.—(AP)—The U. S. army engineers, of-fice announced today that field investigations on the proposed Debenger gap power plant in the Rogue river area 17 miles from Medford would not be completed until next spring.

Knox Calls For Power to Resist

FORT SHERIDAN, Ill., July 29.—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox called last night "for a decision now—a decision that, come what may, we shall resist to the uttermost and every assault that is made upon us, and we will make due preparations to meet any and every threat of force that is pointed in our direction."

He told the Legion of Valor, an organization of army and navy men decorated for bravery, that the longer the nation delayed the more difficult the task when it faced reality.

McNary Says Prune Surplus to be Sold

WASHINGTON, July 28.—(AP)—Senator McNary's (R-Ore.) office notified Oregon prune growers that their efforts to get government aid in disposing of their surplus crop probably would be successful as the surplus marketing administration was working on the problem.

McNary and members of the California delegation urged the administration to aid prune growers as it has apricot growers.

Income From U. S. Forests Is Given

PORTLAND, Ore., July 29.—(AP)—Two-fifths of the total forest service receipts in the last fiscal year came from the north Pacific region of the U. S. forest service, F. H. Brundage, regional forester, said.

"The net receipts for the north Pacific national forests were $1,659,454," said Brundage. "The value of timber cut in sales plus the value of timber cut in land exchange makes a total of $2,116,893. Timber sales brought in $1,424,896 for a little over 567 million feet cut."

The Olympic National forest headed the list with $482,275 for timber cut; the Malheur $168,330; the Snoqualmie $138,829 and the Deschutes $124,210.

Receipts from grazing were $122,697 and for special use, including water power, $46,590. Nationally, forest service timber cut reached a new high of 1,552,270,000 board feet, worth $5,803,313 to the service.

LETTERS to the Editor

DECRIES FOREIGN "ISMS" IN TRENDS OF PRESENT

To Editor News-Review: Am wondering why in this country a married woman should call herself "Miss." For instance the secretary of labor is called "Miss Perkins." In reality she is a married woman whose daughter was recently married.

I understand that in Russia marriages are so easily and quickly consummated and may be speedily dissolved that it might complicate legal matters to change a name so often. But as I come to think of it there is no personal legal ownership in communist Russia.

Are we laying ourselves open to a collectivism where there is no private ownership of any kind of property? Do we want to be slaves or vassals to a "state capitalist" government? These are questions that confront us NOW.

Again I quote: "We must stick to the doctrine of individualism if our way of life is to survive—war or no war."

Then what is individualism? Simply this: Your right of freedom of expression, of thought, to accumulate private property and money without any infringement or abridgment. The individual, not the state, is the unit of our American way of life.

Paul Garrett stresses the point that history shows that every contribution to better living and thinking has come through the sacrifices, efforts and ingenuity of the individual.

It was not through collectivism or any collective thought or work that we have electricity. It was not a collective group working under a pressure government with all individual initiative subjected to that government that gave us the automobile, the broadcast and radio invention. It is the individual with freedom of thought and initiative who gave us the airplane, the ships that plow the ocean and swim like fish under the waters.

Do we want like the galley slaves of Rome to be put to our work regardless of our likings by an autocratic state capitalist government. When the government owns all the land, the factories, public utilities, it owns us and we must do its bidding in every particular, work where it says, live where it bids, accept our allowance for support of our families as they will. Do we want this? If we give all authority into the hands of one person and the pressure group surrounding him, who can prevent it?

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

The main message of the Book of Daniel was always one of encouragement in the midst of a great crisis. In spite of your sufferings said the author, do not despair, God's help is sure and certain. He is in control of history. He rules according to the principles of justice. He will surely deliver His people. Loyalty to God and the Jewish religion is the primary duty of the faithful. Die if need be, said Daniel, for death makes no difference. All faithful men and women will be raised from the dead to enjoy the new age of glory and of triumph. The six stories which make up the first half of the book all lend themselves to this main purpose. They all show how men of earliest days suffered for their religion but were delivered. Nebuchadnezzar arrogantly declared that by his own power he had built Babylon. God could not, did not tolerate such arrogance. He, Nebuchadnezzar, grew hair like eagle's feathers, his fingernails like birds' claws, and he ate grass like oxen. In the end he was forced to acknowledge that God was the only reality behind all things. Daniel in the lions' den is the most familiar of the six stories and he was true to his God and his religion, and his God delivered him in his trial. Amen.

The inspector had asked if he had authority to destroy diseased bees living in trees. The attorney general said he couldn't, but he added that anyone who objects to diseased bees which live in trees could go to court and get an injunction for the abatement of a nuisance.

East Oregon Growers Urged to Hold Prices Up

MILTON-FREEWATER, July 28.—(AP)—Prune growers and shippers requested today that their members refuse to make sales which would tend to weaken the market.

They said a block of 45 cars of Freewater prunes sold in Chicago at 65 cents, netting growers less than $20 a ton. The local control committee, headed by Wilbur Stadlerman, has asked for government purchases at prices netting growers $25 a ton.

Growers are considering processing prunes—barrelling them in brine, canning without sugar, drying and pulping—for export under the lend-lease act or to hold for future consumption.

Governmental purchases would take approximately 350 cars of local prunes, removing what might become an unmarketable surplus, and leave 100 cars for commercial distribution, the average crop for this district but somewhat under 1941 shipments.

Portland Ward Store Long Closed is Reopened

PORTLAND, Ore., July 28.—(AP)—Montgomery Ward & Company's Portland store, closed by a strike since May 3, reopened Monday with 300 employees at work in mail order and retail departments.

E. L. Barth, manager of the retail division, said they were preparing stocks for possible opening to the public Friday.

The strike ended officially late Saturday as retail clerks' and warehousemen's union officials signed final contracts. It began last Dec. 7 but the store operated behind picket lines until May.

Post War Public Works Planned

WASHINGTON, July 29.—(AP)—Works Administrator John M. Carmody announced today the appointment of 32 state directors of the public work reserve, an agency established to prepare projects to absorb the economic shock when the war ends.

The federal works agency said preliminary studies indicated the reservoir of public work to be undertaken in the post-emergency period might reach 25 to 30 billion dollars in a six-year program.

It was said the inventory was being prepared without regard to the method of financing but only on the basis of the immediate and future needs of states and municipalities. The agency said the state directors would be responsible for a cooperative effort between local, county, state and federal officials to build up a "national shelf of public work projects."
