MILLS-BAIRD WEDDING HELD WEDNESDAY AT WAITSBURG, WASHINGTON

WAITSBURG, Wash., Aug. 2.—As the light of tall white candles glowed softly on a background of palms, ferns and baskets of white gladioli, in the Christian church Wednesday evening, Miss Margaret Lucile Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey D. Mills, and Mr. Harry Russell Baird repeated the marriage vows after the Rev. Walter Fiscus, professor at the Northwest Christian college at Eugene, Oregon, assisted by Rev. Clifford Trout. The service was at eight o'clock and began by pre-nuptial music by Miss Maxine Conover, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Maurice Johnson, pianist. Two songs, "At Dawning" by Cadman, with violin obligato and "Because" by Guy D'Hardelot, were sung by Miss Evelyn Mills, accompanied by Mrs. Maurice Johnson and Miss Maxine Conover.
Mrs. Johnson also played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of white slipper-satin or princess lines with a long train. Her veil, double shoulder and fingertip length, was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried an arm bouquet of Rapture roses, sweet peas and swansonia.
As maid of honor, her sister, Miss Evelyn Mills, wore a floor-length frock of pink net over pink satin and carried a colonial bouquet. The bridesmaids were Miss Carol Wilson, of Tacoma, who wore yellow net over yellow satin, and Miss Maxine Mills, a cousin of the bride, wore turquoise net over satin of the same color. The dresses were floor-length, made with full skirts and bodice tops. Each wore a matching ribbon bow in their coiffures and carried colonial bouquets.
A charming flower-girl was little Miss Barbara Ellen Trout in her frock of ruffled pink taffeta.
The bridegroom was attended by Jess Johnson, a college friend, of Cherry Grove, Oregon. The ushers were Walter Mikkelsen, Walla Walla; Lynnton Elwell, Dayton and Morris Ganquet. With the recessional, the wedding guests adjourned to the church basement to greet the couple at a reception. Receiving with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mills were members of the bridal party. Mrs. Mills, mother of the bride, wore a gown of Aqua Blue shadow crepe with a corsage of talisman roses. About the reception room were artistic baskets and bouquets of flowers and candles in candelabras. The refreshment table covered with a lace cloth, was centered with a bowl of white gladioli and white sweet peas and tall white tapers.
Mrs. Harlan Mills poured and Mrs. Bertha Taggard served the ices, which were in the form of pink wedding bells. Mrs. Virgil Whitehead, of Seattle, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Clifford Trout served the second hour.
After the bride cut a piece from the beautifully decorated wedding cake, Mrs. Frank Mills and Mrs. Emerson Wheeler assisted with the serving of it.
Assisting in the serving of guests, were the Misses Doris Burch, Adele Conover, Virginia Rinehart, and Clara Jean Eaton. Mrs. Forrest Conover, Mrs. Ernest Mikkelsen and Mrs. Ted Bachmann were in charge of the dining room. Mrs. Clarence Eaton, Mrs. Gretchen Mikkelsen, and Mrs. Walter Mikkelsen, of Walla Walla, were the hostesses. Miss Beth Harader, of Bremerton, was in charge of the guest book and Mrs. Orville Bergner, of Tacoma, the gifts.
During the serving Mrs. Maurice Johnson and Miss Maxine Conover played.
Out-of-town guests were: Rev. and Mrs. Walter Fiscus and daughter, Doris, of Eugene; Mr. and Mrs. Jess Johnson and Miss Wilma Sargent, of Salem, Oregon; Miss Carol Wilson, Tacoma; Miss Beth Harader, Bremerton; Mrs. Virgil Whitehead and daughter, Barbara, Seattle; Capt. and Mrs. Orville Bergner, Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mikkelsen and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Price, and John Cecil, Walla Walla and Lynnton Elwell, Dayton.
Mr. and Mrs. Baird left after the reception by motor for a honeymoon trip, after which they will live at Myrtle Creek, Oregon, where Mr. Baird has the pastorate of the Christian church. For traveling Mrs. Baird chose a rose-colored redingote ensemble with white accessories.
The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Mills. She graduated this June from Northwest Christian college, at Eugene, Oregon. She is an accomplished pianist.
The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Baird, of Roseburg, Rt. 2, Oregon, a graduate from the theological department of the Northwest Christian college and an ordained minister.
