DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

"The earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof." It is astonishing how often the Bible deals with world-wide themes. Jesus was always speaking in universal terms. Underscore the words with the universal significance in the great commission. All power, in heaven and in earth, all nations, all things. He speaks with perfect naturalness about the earth because it belongs to Him. It is a big world with nearly two billion human beings. Three out of every four of them are of the colored races. But we have made it a very small world. Radios, airplanes and telephones, and other scientific inventions have reduced the size of our world until it is only a neighborhood. It is still God's world, and we must learn how to live with the nations. The world centers in each individual. We view the whole world from the windows of our own individual kingdoms. If the world is deteriorating it may be because our kingdoms are growing careless. If the world is getting better, it may be because things are improving in our own kingdom. We all carry a replica of our world inside our hearts. Most all other problems will settle themselves. When we have set in order our own kingdoms, a small world can never be large enough for anyone who has a real appetite for life. Amen.
