Arsonist-Public Enemy

THE announcement that 13 incendiary fires were set Tuesday in the Mt. Scott area revives the annual problem faced by forest protective agencies in Douglas county. The forest incen-diarist is a hold-over from a former period and one who has failed to keep pace with the fast-moving changes of recent years. Today he is a menace not only to the safety of the community and to economic welfare, but currently is an enemy to his own country if he is an American. Forest fires first of all en-

But it also is true that where once many of these great parks were to be timber had been destroyed by RATION CARDS. perrennial fires. When the mature timber was gone there was op teeth. nothing to take its place.

The United States forest service brought a new theory into action. It operates on the theory that timber is a crop and as such differs from ordinary farm crops only from the standpoint of continuous growth and period of production.

Today, the forest service is opcrating on a plan of selective logging and sustained yield. Under selective logging practices ripe merchantable timber only is cut from any designated area I nder sutained yield practice, a whole block of timber, where the majority of trees are ripe, is opened to logging and these Flocks are so divided that by the time the last is cut, the first will be ready again for the axe. Both of these policies provide for pre-servation of the reproduction timber, thus assuring a perpetual yield.

The profligate destruction of timber by the lumber industry. and wanton destruction by incendiarists in past years has exhaustec the timber resources of the United States to a dangerously low point. Southern Oregon has the only !

large body of virgin standing timber left in this nation. New mills are springing up every day issued Dally Except Sunday by the and the lumbering industry is moving into southern Oregon a speed never before equalled in any section of the country. The next few years will see the saw-mill cut of the United States centered in southern Oregon and very largely in Douglas county.

One of the reasons mushrooming growth lumber industry in this area is the demand for lumber for national defense purposes. Lumber have been located are looking to Douglas county and southern Oregon for their future source of supply. Hundreds of carloads of piling are going every month to fill federal contracts. The timber industry is moving with Paul Bunyan strides into Douglas

But there is one individual who is a menace to this progress the incendiarist. He is the fellow who still sees no harm in the destruction of this above the ground gold mine. He is the fellow who wants a place to hunt, a place to run stock, or maybe a job fighting fire. Irresponsible he gives no heed to the safety of his neighbor. He cares nothing for the increased burden of taxes He has no thought for the great industry which he threatens. Today, he is an enemy of his country, sapping away the materials for defense. ### With Japan If Needed

SEATTLE, Aug. 7 .- (AP)-'Japan must not be allowed to consolidate its territorial gains," Gov. Charles A. Sprague of Oregon told the American Bankers association last night. "If economic weapons prove inadequate," he said, "then military and naval action is clearly warranted. The nature and the timing of these military pres-sures must be left to our own leaders, with due regard to our obligations elsewhere. But Ja pan must understand there will be a day of accounting."

He said he had no criticism of the government's policy in the Pacific, describing it as inform-ed, definite and vigorous.

"All that is now required," he said, "is the resolution to implement that policy with force. In view of Japan's aggression I see virtually no escape from showdown at arms."
