POET'S CORNER

WE WANT WALLACE

When I was young and sweet sixteen,
My figure was divine,
I wore my clothes in size fourteen,
And weighed a hundred nine.
The years went by, then I was wed,
And then the baby came.
I cooked and sewed and made the bed,
And didn't look the same.
I reached the age of twenty-eight,
Before I realized,
My figure was quite over-weight,
I really was surprised.
My clothes were just not fit to wear,
They were so small and tight.
And when I'd bend, there'd be a tear,
I sure did look a sight.
One day I turned the radio
To WALLACE, and he said,
"Keep fit to music, now let's go,
Put arms above the head."
I exercised with all my strength,
I kicked and bent and rolled,
I stretched out to my farthest length,
And did what I was told.
But oh, the next day, was I sore,
I couldn't hardly bend,
Of WALLACE there would be no more,
I just would not attend.
But when I turned the program on,
I saw my looking-glass,
I dreamed that all that fat was gone,
And jumped back into class.
I exercised for weeks and weeks,
And watched my waist-line shrink.
The color came back into my cheeks,
I sure felt "in the pink."
I lived on vegetables and juice,
And fruits and leanest meat,
From sweets and starch I soon cut loose,
I knew just what to eat.
One day I realized my dream,
Like Irene Rich I'd say,
"I weigh no more than at sixteen,"
Oh, what a happy day.
And then I switched my radio,
And found no WALLACE there.
I heard no hearty, "Hey, let's go,"
He wasn't on the air.
"Good-night," I thought, "this cannot be,
They couldn't be so mean.
Whatever would become of me,
Just when I've got so lean?"
I'm not the only one to feel
The loss of WALLACE too,
I've talked to many on this deal,
Who feel just like I do.
I'll write for thousands who would put
That train back on its track,
And all the bills we'll gladly foot,
If you'll bring WALLACE back.
—Barbara V. Orr.

STAR AND MASONS TO PICNIC ON THURSDAY

OAKLAND, Aug. 11.—The Masons and Eastern Star members of Oakland are planning a picnic for members, families and friends of both lodges at Shady Dell camp ground, just north of Oakland on Thursday evening, August 14. The grounds will be open about 4:30 to any who wish to come early. Games will be provided for the children. Coffee will be served by the committee. Those who wish to bring their baskets and come are assured a good time.

New Highway Bill Held Better for Oregon Need

SALEM, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Oregon apparently would be better off under the new defense highway bill than it would have been under the road bill vetoed by President Roosevelt, officials said today.

Under the bill introduced yesterday by Senator Hayden (D.-Ariz.), Oregon would receive $3,219,000 for strategic highways. The state would have received $2,045,000 under the bill which the president killed. State Highway Engineer Baldock said he would have no comment until he studies the bill.

NOSE PICKING May be a Sign of WORMS

Don't blame your child! It looks like just a nasty habit, but it may mean that ugly, crawling roundworms are starting trouble inside the child right now. Other warning signs are: "icky" appetite, fidgeting, uneasy stomach, itching seat. Anybody, anywhere, can "catch" roundworms! If you even suspect your child has them, get Jayne's Vermifuge right away! It's America's leading proprietary worm medicine. Scientifically tested, and used by millions for over a century. Jayne's expels stubborn worms, yet acts gently. If no worms are there, it is just a mild laxative. Demand Jayne's Vermifuge.

Forestry Heads Do Pick-and-Shovel Service at Fire

That the "big shots" of the forest service are not above the task of pitching in with a pick and shovel to fight a forest fire was proven yesterday when Ray Hampton, fire assistant on the Umpqua national forest, and Fred Asam, district ranger in charge of the North Umpqua district, discovered and extinguished a fire without other aid. The two men, who usually direct the operations of the fire fighters, were on an inspection tour yesterday when they discovered a blaze left by lightning strikes during week-end storms. They immediately went to work on the fire and in a short time put it under control, returning to camp quite tired and somewhat blackened by the experience.

Four fires were started by lightning in the North Umpqua district over the week-end. All were in the Quartz mountain area. There were two fires in the Diamond lake district, one near Powder mountain and the other near the Crater lake boundary. The South Umpqua district reported one fire near the headquarters of the South Umpqua river. All fires were kept to less than one-fourth of an acre in size.
