Marry at Impressive Ceremony in Ashland

DAYS CREEK, Aug. 16.—A wedding of considerable local interest occurred in Ashland Friday evening at eight o'clock, the First Church of Christ in that city being the scene of a most impressive candlelight ceremony when Miss Betty Rhoads, attractive elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Rhoads of Ashland, became the bride of Warren Steele Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of Medford. The Rev. Everett McGee read the ring service in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives of the couple.

Preceding the ceremony two violin solos, "Intermezzo," and "I Love You Truly," were played by Haralce Wilson accompanied by Mrs. Violet Milford.

To the strains of Lohengrin's procession the bridal party took their places before a very beautiful floral setting, a fan shaped background of ferns, ivy and silver lace vine with three cathedral candles in tall candelabra on either side and one in the middle being flanked by lattice work of greenery ending in standards of orchid phlox. Before these were other baskets of phlox which extended to the front of the chancel. The seats reserved for the families of the couple were marked by clusters of orchid phlox with bows of orchid and silver tulle. The candles were lighted by the ushers. At the close of the ceremony Mendelssohn's recessional was played by Mrs. Milford who had also played the processionals.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was very lovely in a gown of white net with a midriff of white quilted satin. The puffed sleeves had white satin cuffs while the bouffant skirt was fashioned with a short train. Her finger tip length veil was one worn by her mother at her wedding twenty years ago. It was held in place by a head band of gardenias. Her shower bouquet was of gardenias and orchid gypsophylla.

The maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Gene Rhoads, wore a gown of yellow net over yellow satin. She carried a bouquet of orchid gladioli. The four bridesmaids wore formal length gowns in pastel shades made along similar lines. Miss Ruth Morgan of Medford, sister of the groom, wore green net over peach satin. Miss Nettie Moore of Roseburg, cousin of the bride, was dressed in rose net over blue, Miss Margaret Smith of Medford was in rose net over white and Miss Ada Davis of Ashland wore green over yellow. Their bouquets were of gladioli in pastel shades and white gypsophylla.

Little Miss Marlene Heard was a charming flower girl. She wore a floor length frock of white net. Her head band was of pink carnations and she carried a silver basket filled with rosebuds and gypsophylla. The ring bearer was Dickie Thornton, who carried the ring on a dark blue velvet pillow. Dale Flowers of Medford attended the bridegroom as best man while the ushers were Jack Whitsett, Clifford Yaryan, Gene Perry and Eldridge Gray.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Rhoads, wore a frock of dusty rose lace with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink and white pentstemons. Mrs. William Morgan of Medford, mother of the groom, was in green silk with a corsage of pink and white sweet peas. Mrs. Milford was in teal while Miss Etna Davis, who was in charge of the arrangements for the ceremony, wore rose net over matching taffeta. Her corsage also being of rose colored flowers.

Following the ceremony a reception for the bridal party, relatives and intimate friends was held at the home of the bride's parents, about fifty being present. The bride's table, covered with a lovely lace cloth over pink was centered by a beautifully decorated six-tiered wedding cake which was topped by a miniature bride and groom standing beneath an arch of rose colored carnations. The bride and groom cut the first pieces of cake while the maid of honor continued the cutting. Miss Etna Davis presided at the punch bowl and the bridesmaids assisted in serving. Flowers formed a most effective decorative note about the rooms of the home.

The floral arrangements at the church as well as the bouquets of the bride and her attendants were under the supervision of Mrs. J. Larkin Grubb.

The bride has a host of friends in this vicinity as she made her home here for a number of years before moving to Ashland three years ago. She was a member of the 1938 graduating class of the local high school and later attended the Southern Oregon College of Education in Ashland. Until recently she has been dental assistant in the offices of Dr. Lloyd Sanders in Medford.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are making their home at 400 Liberty street in Ashland.

games were played. A delicious cake was cut by the guest of honor. Little pink baskets were placed in front of each guest. As favors, each guest received a book. Ice cream cones and cake were served by Mrs. Sory, assisted by Mrs. Theresa Moore, Miss Edith Staggs, and Miss Bernadine Princenton.

Lovely gifts were given to Celesta from Margaret Jones, Shirley Pote, Patti Ruth Feyereisen, Marjorie Lee Moore, Judy Ward, Marilyn Beard, Donald Beard, Janet Hargis, Lucille Miller, Elizabeth Miller, Mary Lou Tedesco, Dolores Tedesco, Janice Kesterson, Ann Mellis, Agnes Feyereisen, Darrell Dean Black, Freddy Hargis, and Barbara Sory.

Theron Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theron J. Harris, celebrated his ninth birthday anniversary at a delightful party this week at his home on Harvard avenue.

Games and contests were enjoyed during the afternoon and later delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Harris, assisted by Mrs. J. P. Donovan and Miss Anita Donovan. Gifts were presented to Theron from Ronald Strickling, Earl Baquet, John Donovan, Darrell and Archie Meyers, John Franklin Hess, Leah White, Noma Lee Bonne, Normalee Donovan, Allen Harris, Perry Carson and Billy Palmer.
