Removal of 170 Regular Army Officers Slated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(AP)—A secret board of five generals today recommended the removal of 170 regular army officers from active duty.

The war department announced that under a recent law the officers on the list who have held their commissions for less than seven years will be honorably discharged, while the men with longer service will be retired, their pay to be determined by rank and their years in the army.

The secret board's decision is subject to the approval of Secretary Stimson. The department said that 66 out of 133 notified of the recommendations already had asked for retirement.

Such action is part of the army's plan to remove men considered unfit for further active duty.
