Young Blood for the Army

TWO steps are now being taken which should help greatly in building for the United States the kind of an army which it has been shown is necessary to its safety.

First, arbitrary age limits have been set for active service with troops. There will be no more second lieutenants over 30, first lieutenants over 35, captains over 42, colonels over 55; not even any major generals of division over 62.

Second, the current maneuvers are going to result in a vigorous "plucking." Orders have gone out to all commanders to report the names of all officers not satisfactorily performing their duties.

The maneuvers now going on are strenuous and exacting. Sometimes they have entailed real hardship and taxed the endurance of soldiers and officers to the limit.

Maneuvers under such conditions give a better chance to test officer leadership than anything else short of actual war. Deficiencies are apt to be starkly revealed. That is what maneuvers are for.

This sort of a weeding out always causes some disappointment and hardship, but it must be done. It should be remembered that those thus separated from active field command may be just as loyal, just as devoted, just as faithful as those who remain.

In a field, however, in which men's lives are at stake, nothing less than this can be done. We hope it is done effectively and promptly.

Cafelite—More Wolf Soup

THE old story of the fellow who got tired of seeing the wolf at his door, went out, whacked him, and made wolf soup out of him, is one that has an ever-recurring moral.

Brazil is the latest country to turn a disadvantage into an advantage. For years it has been plagued by a coffee surplus; the smoke of burning coffee has drifted across the state of Sao Paulo each season, coffee burned to be rid of surpluses.

Now a young North American has devised a process of making a new plastic—appropriately called cafelite—out of coffee beans. Brazil is going in to the production of cafelite from its surplus coffee, thus at one time reducing its surplus and marketing one of the world's cheapest plastics. Cafelite will undoubtedly compete with North American plastics of various kinds. If it comes up to its advance notices, it is one more example of the changes that must be expected in the post-war world.

Cardinals Tighten Pennant Tilt By Defeating Dodgers

By JUDSON BAILEY (Associated Press Sports Writer)

The sensation-saturated series between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals, even before it strikes its highest pitch today, has shattered every possibility of deciding the National league race until the final days of the season.

The two teams are evenly matched. Neither is great, but both are dead game and capable of carrying their neck-and-neck fight right down to the finish line two weeks from tomorrow.

Whatever chance there was for an early settlement was wrapped up in the Dodgers, who attained a two-game lead by capturing the opening tussle Thursday, 6-4, in 11 innings. But the feat of the Cardinals in crashing back to a 4-3 triumph yesterday quickly ended this sort of speculation.

The standings now: Brooklyn 89 50 640 St. Louis 87 50 635

By winning today's grand finale the Cardinals could take over first place by two percentage points, even though they only would be tied in won-lost reckoning. Yet no matter which team takes this crucial contest, the day for clinching the pennant is a long way off.

The Cardinals' victory yesterday was accomplished with great gusto by the two oldest codgers on the team, Mancuso, 35, and Crabtree, 37. Mancuso tripled in the second to drive in one run and then scored himself. After two errors by Padgett had helped Brooklyn take the lead with three runs in the fifth, Crabtree duplicated Mancuso's performance with a three-bagger for two runs in the sixth.

The Detroit Tigers blasted the Boston Red Sox shut out the St. Louis Browns, 5 to 0, on Dobson's five-hit hurling, and Humphries allowed only four as the Chicago White Sox whipped the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-0.

Washington downed Cleveland, 7-4. In the other National league engagements the Phillies stopped the Chicago Cubs, 5-3; Riddle pitched and batted the Cincinnati Reds to an 8-4 triumph over the New York Giants, and the Boston Braves divided another doubleheader at Pittsburgh, winning 5-0 after the Pirates took the opener, 6-3.

Sactus Again At League's Top In Tie With Seattle

(By the Associated Press) The Sacramento Senators, tied for top standing with Seattle after a week of dethronement, offered Coast league teams today an example of the usefulness of the old-fashioned home run.

Outfielder Wiecek hit a homer with the bases loaded last night to enable the Senators to catch up with Hollywood in the seventh inning, and Sacramento picked up another run the next inning to beat the Stars, 6-5.

It was the second time in the current series that Wiecek's hard-hitting had turned the tables for Sacramento. His two-run homer in the fourth inning won for the Senators last Tuesday.

By winning last night, Sacramento jumped from third place into a tie with Seattle for first place. Seattle split a doubleheader with San Francisco, winning the first 10 to 3, but dropping the second, 9 to 1.

San Diego remained in second place, losing to Oakland, 9-5. Five Padre pitchers failed to check the Oaks. Portland and Los Angeles were forced to cancel a doubleheader by wet grounds at Portland.

San Francisco, fighting for a first division berth in order to participate in the lucrative playoffs, was overpowered by Seattle, 10-3, in the first game last night, and was routed 9-1 in the second. At Oakland, the San Diego Padres were outslugged by the Oaks, who scored five runs in the first

"You have not, because you do not pray." This very practical religious philosopher gives us in this terse statement the secret of our lack of spiritual vitality. He explains the reason for our helplessness in the face of life's duties and problems, and tells us how to avail ourselves of adequate resources for victorious living. God is forever bestowing material blessings on saints and sinners alike, whether they ask or not. But His ability to bestow spiritual blessings is conditioned by our asking, based upon a sense of need. Only as we feel our need and give expression to it in prayer, can we realize a full supply of His grace. "Ask, and ye shall find, knock and it shall be opened unto you, for everyone that asketh receiveth, and he that seeketh findeth, and to him that knocketh it shall be opened. Jesus also tells us how to pray. We are to pray in secret and thy Father which seeth in secret shall reward thee openly. The greatest practical resolves that have enriched and beautified human life in Christian times have been arrived at in prayer. Prayer is the burden of a sigh, the falling of a tear, the upward glancing of an eye, when none but God is near. Amen.
