

Federal Farm Crop Holdings Close to Record Levels

CHICAGO, Oct. 2 (AP)—Federal holdings of agricultural products, which some economists say should be reduced to combat an inflationary rise in prices, are either at or close to record levels, according to market statistics today.

The government owns vast quantities of wheat and corn and smaller supplies of rye and barley. These were acquired under a plan to remove surplus grains from consumption in an effort to maintain prices.

In the dairy field, the government possesses butter, shell eggs, frozen eggs and cheese. Excepting butter, however, these are in governmental hands only temporarily—they will be shipped abroad under the lend-lease act.

Federal agencies also hold various canned fruits and vegetables. Purchases in this group are distributed primarily for relief purposes, although some are being lend-leased.

Suggestions that the government release a part of these holdings were made earlier this week by the Brookings Institution, an economic research organization with headquarters in Washington.

"The most significant single step that might be taken in arresting the general rise of prices," the institution said, "would be to reduce somewhat the prices of agricultural products. This could readily be done by releasing to the market a portion of the crops now stored in government warehouses."

The government on August 31 had 173,639,000 bushels of wheat—most of it 1940 grain, with some from 1939. This was the most wheat the government had ever owned.

U. of O. To Battle Idaho Tonight in Coast Loop Bill

(By the Associated Press)

Northwest football fandom will be served a full dish of football this weekend with practically every college football team in the region active tonight or tomorrow afternoon and evening.

In Eugene tonight the Oregon Ducks are expected to have little difficulty blasting out a win over the University of Idaho vandals although the Ducks lack the services of Moshofsky and Culwell, who are out with injuries. Idaho's usually razzle-dazzle attack may also be stymied if threatened rain materializes.

Saturday afternoon, two Pacific coast conference games are on the menu with Washington State and University of California mixing at Pullman, and Washington and Oregon State battling at Portland in a game that may well upset Washington's Rose bowl hopes.

Nursing the bruises suffered in the Minnesota game last Saturday, the Huskies may also show a letdown after having pointed so long for the Gopher fracas.

Coach Phelan has given the Washington lineup a considerable shaking up with three new faces appearing on the line and Susick moved in at quarterback, replacing the injured Means. Major change was the ousting of Guard Frankowski by Bill Holmes.

Oregon State will probably rely on passing, a threat not to be overlooked it was proven last week when they completed 16 out of 24 tries against U. S. C.

Coach Hollingbery has reportedly discarded all else in favor of an all-out pass attack against the Californians and drilled his team all week after the weather man promised dry, sunny weather—unlike that which last Friday prevented Sewell from flipping the ball accurately.

Wondering about the 1942 cars?

Here is Buick's superb solution to the problems posed by making our national defense, as it should be, Industrial America's No. 1 job

BUICK BUILDS FOR DEFENSE

Our equipment, Building Pratt & Whitney engines in head aircraft engines for defense use.

It was no time to duck or dodge the facts. So we didn't try.

Now we're announcing those 1942 cars.

Why waste words telling you how good they are! You can't put language in the gas tank and learn either how many or how enjoyable are the miles you'll get per gallon.

Instead we said—these being the materials critical in the defense program, we'll do our planning for 1942 with that foremost in mind.

Not merely for an "acceptable" car—certainly not for any "ersatz" number.

There's a better answer—you drive these cars themselves. Come on, do that! Put your own yardstick on their quality.

We had to have a real and representative Buick. One we could be proud of. One able enough, active enough, durable enough to serve till annual new models are the rule again.

It would be a shame, for you and for us, to have you miss the dreadnaught Buick we've built to stand up successfully to the toughest job in years.

Resolved on a 1942 automobile of such merit as could carry the Buick reputation without fault until other new Buicks, however far off, could come along to refresh it.
