POET'S CORNER MEMORIES

Memories are lovely things—Rhapsodies of days gone by, Pulsing heart-beats of the soul, Melodies that never die.

Memories make distance kind, Space as nothing, time as less, Whispering forgotten joys, Like a phantom, soft caress.

Memories are precious things, Are retained when we embark, Forming chains from Here to There, Out across the shapeless dark. —Malinda Oederkirk, 1051 Winchester St., Roseburg, Oregon.

Two Youths Sought in Abduction-Attack Case

STOCKTON, Calif., Oct. 18.—(AP)—Two youths were hunted today after two fourteen-year-old girls had been abducted from a country club party, and one of them assaulted, after their young escorts had been robbed and tied.

One of those sought was 19 years old, the other about 17. Sheriff Martin Ansbro said they, as well as the victims of the assault and robbery, were members of prominent and wealthy Stockton families. The two girls and their two companions said that as they strolled on a fairway near the club, two youths held up the boys, robbed and tied them, and forced the girls into an automobile. Later the girls were put out of the car near College of the Pacific.
