

R. H. S. Indians Massacred, 33-7, By Cottage Grove

The unpredictable Roseburg high school Indians were beaten 33 to 7 in a football game at Cottage Grove last night, being completely routed by the Lions after the first few minutes of play during which the Indians made their one and only touchdown.

The Indians, who a week before had outplayed and out-fought the league-leading Springfield Millers, were completely disorganized last night and were unable to even seriously interfere with the strong running attack of the Cottage Grove team.

Loss of Tony Anderson, veteran end, who was injured early in the game, was partially responsible for the collapse of the Roseburg team, while subsequent minor injuries to Wells, star full-back and Calkins, halfback, contributed to the final disorganization.

The Indians made a brilliant start when Wimberly returned the kickoff 25 yards to the Roseburg 35-yard line, from which point Young dropped a pass into the arms of Anderson, who raced across the Cottage Grove goal line. Young drop-kicked the extra point after a high pass from center was fumbled on an attempted kick from placement.

The Lions came back late in the first period with a powerful running attack, paced by Lusk, husky fullback, to tie the score at 7-7 as the quarter ended.

Indians Go to Pieces

The Indians were completely outclassed in the next two periods as Cottage Grove ran rampant with tricky reverses mixed with drives at the center of the line. Lusk and Minor, left half, were the ground gainers behind excellent blocking by Dugan and Bader, right half and quarter back. The Lions scored two touchdowns in each of the second and third periods.

During the fourth quarter the Indian defense stiffened and succeeded in staving off further scoring threats, but failed to materialize an effective offense.

The game was interrupted during the last period by the blackout and was cut short by two minutes due to failure of the field lighting system.

Roseburg's next game will be played here Nov. 11, Armistice day, against the Grants Pass Cavemen, an annual meeting. The game will be played during the afternoon of the holiday instead of at night.

Injuries suffered by members of the Roseburg team last night were not serious and all are expected to be available for the Armistice day game.

RAF Blasts German, French, Italian Areas

Norway to the French coast. The recently formed Canadian squadron flying United States-built planes disabled at least six ships, it was said.

"A number of others were attacked but it was not possible to observe the results," an air ministry communique added.

One plane was acknowledged missing from the raid on shipping and six from the night raids on Germany and the German-occupied French coast.

The RAF struck anew at Naples, on the shore of the Italian boot, and the Sicilian ports of Licata and Palermo, but the British report on these raids, apparently by the middle eastern RAF command, had not been received.

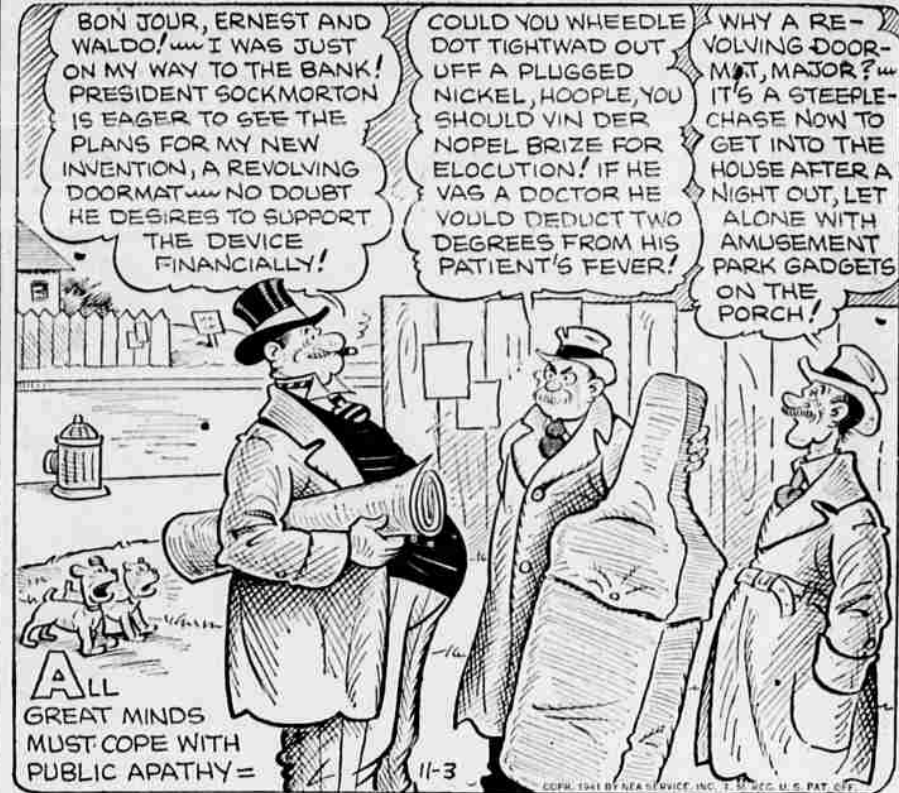

The Italian high command, however, did report them. Today is the anniversary of one of the RAF's first big raids on Naples. A railway station, oil tanks and refineries were bombed there a year ago.

(The Germans said the RAF had attacked several places in western and northwestern Germany, but declared nine of the raiders were destroyed.)

German channel guns shelled the vicinity of Dover on the English coast this afternoon. Two salvos of two shells each were fired within 20 minutes.

The shells crashed with shaking explosions which some people at first thought were heavy peals of thunder. Dover's shellfire warning was sounded after the second salvo.

Rain poured in torrents while the guns were in action, allowing visibility of only a few miles.

Axis U-Boats Busier

A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty, declared today that axis U-boat and mining activities had increased since the German attack on Russia last June 22.

Alexander said money was needed for a great variety of war purposes but that "none is more urgent and none will be more fruitful than the expenditure now required for continued expansion of our navy in all categories to meet a four-fold enemy attack from the air and from mine, from torpedo and from surface raider."

Crimes with the U. S. S. R. mainland.

A British radio broadcast, however, said the Russians were about 25 miles south of the Perekop isthmus.

Moscow Foresees New Blow

The Russians also forecast a mighty new German offensive against Moscow, declaring that the nazis had brought up masses of reserves and were ready to attack soon.

A London radio broadcast said a huge-scale battle was raging 65 miles northwest of Moscow, with control of the town of Volokolamsk at stake.

Front-line dispatches to Red Star, the soviet army newspaper, further conceded great new danger to the munitions-making center of Tula, 100 miles south of Moscow, where the Germans were reported to have battered their way into the suburbs.

Freezing weather hardened mud in which German armored units had wallowed for many days, permitting nazis panzers to swing into action.

Elsewhere on the central front, a soviet spokesman said the German advance had been halted.

"On some sectors of the Moscow front," the spokesman said, "the red army has switched to a counter-attack."

In the north, Hitler's high command asserted that German troops had broken through a strongly fortified Russian defense zone west of Volkovo, 70 miles southeast of Leningrad, and in fierce hand-to-hand fighting had captured 533 pillboxes.

Operations Head Sole Casualty of Blackout

The generals and "brass hats" of a military force proverbially are the last to appear on a casualty list, but in last night's blackout test here the only "casualty" was the chief operations officer, Harry Pinniger.

While the coal situation remained unsettled, an agreement was reached between workers and employers at the Robins Drydock, Brooklyn, N. Y., where a strike has delayed work for nearly a week on British and American ship repairs.

The union membership, the CIO Marine Workers local, ratified terms of settlement and the union president said the men would be back at work Monday.

The agreement, the company said, raised the wage of laborers to 72 1/2 cents hourly and made other upward wage revisions.

In striking, the union accused the firm of lack of good faith in negotiating a contract.

Work went ahead at the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, Inc., which was seized, under a guard of soldiers. The company holds contracts for $5,000,000 worth of urgently needed aviation equipment.

President Roosevelt ordered the plant seized on the ground the firm had not carried out the mediation board's recommendations that previous CIO strikers be rehired.

On the western air front cross-channel warfare flared again overnight.

DNB, German news agency, said nazi combat planes had sunk 29,000 tons of shipping from a strongly-protected convoy off the English east coast.

strike which AFL spokesmen said would halt the waterborne movement of coal and coke to the Pittsburgh area.

The Federation's Masters, Mates and Pilots organization struck at midnight to enforce demands for undisclosed wage increases. While only 50 boatmen were immediately involved, it was pointed out that a coal-carrying barge hauls 1,000 tons of fuel as compared with 50 tons carried by a railroad car.

The plants affected would be those of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company, subsidiary of big U. S. Steel.

The parent firm now is awaiting a national defense mediation board decision, expected next week, on the controversial question of a union shop in the captive (steel company-operated) coal mines.

The CIO-United Mine Workers union demands that all 53,000 mine workers become members of the union.

Wage Increase Won.

bled and stations manned. The enthusiasm with which the population cooperated in the blackout was demonstrated by the number of calls received by radio station KRNR to report the airways obstruction light atop the vertical antennae on the Umpqua hotel still burning.

The light, however, was not switched off, as all airway beacons and obstruction lights were left on in compliance with orders previously received.

Halloween pranksters did not attempt to take advantage of the blackout, but swarmed into action immediately following the defense test.

Units Display Efficiency

E. R. Walton, executive officer of the defense council, reported that the first test of the defense units indicated an excellent state of preparedness. Not only was there a large response by the personnel of each unit, but each group indicated a thorough knowledge of the duties to which it had been assigned and demonstrated initiative in meeting emergency situations, Mr. Walton said.

Immediately following the blackout, the units were furnished with two problems. In one problem the units were informed that demolition bombs had fallen at Douglas and Main streets and in the other that fires had started at Main and Mosher streets and that there was danger of unexploded demolition bombs.

Rescue, fire and police units immediately responded, with transportation being furnished by the motor corps and demonstrated excellent efficiency in blocking off the respective areas, the executive officer said.

Radio listeners enjoyed a description of the test as described by Marshall Pengra, KRNR manager, from an observation post on the roof of the Umpqua hotel. The description of the Roseburg blackout was followed by a similar program from Portland.

days before a complete check could be obtained of the entire personnel, because ships in combat zones use their radios only for the most urgent communications.

Less Durable Than Kearny

The Reuben James, built 21 years ago, was of far less advanced design than the U. S. destroyer Kearny which made port successfully after surviving a torpedo hit October 17 in the same general area of the north Atlantic. The Kearny is clad with the latest armor and its hull is divided into watertight compartments, but even so 11 men were killed and 10 were wounded by the smashing under-water attack. Two motor whaleboats, at least six life rafts and ample life preservers were carried aboard the Reuben James, lending some hope to the anxious families of men known to have been aboard her.

Sixty navy wives clustered around newspaper and telegraph offices at Portland, Me., awaiting additional information.

At the same time, the navy made public the names of the seven officers who were aboard the destroyer. Lieutenant Commander Heywood L. Edwards, 35, of San Saba, Texas, was in command. The others were Lieutenant Benjamin Ghetzler, 34, Annapolis, Md., Lieutenant Dewey G. Johnston, 31, El Cajon, Calif.; John J. Daub, Saltburg, Pa., and James M. Belden, 30, Syracuse, N. Y.; and Ensigns Craig Spowers, 24, East Orange, N. J., and Howard V. Wade, 22, Glen Ridge, N. J.

U. S. IN FINISH FIGHT, KNOX TELLS GRADUATES

QUANTICO, Va., Nov. 1—(AP)—Secretary of the Navy Knox said today the sinking of American ships was "worse than piracy" and told a marine corps audience, "we are in this fight to the finish."

He added, "we will make no peace at the end except one of right and justice."

Knox, addressing a marine graduating class, declared that "if what men are fighting Hitler for is not right, then there is no point in living at all."

The conditions, he said, "incite in every self-respecting man a desire to have a part in the fight." He told the young officers that this nation would have liberty as long as it was willing to fight for it.

"You are lucky to get a chance to play a man's part," he told the class. "For every one of you there is a hundred who want your place."
