Boosting Civilian Morale

UNITED States is preparing to go all out for boosting civilian morale with an elaborate network of information and discussion groups that will blanket the country's educational system from first grade to college seniors.

It is called the School and College Civilian Morale Service and its first objective is to establish "freedom forums" in every community and classroom for a "free discussion" at regular intervals of all the problems now plaguing the nation and the world.

Pamphlets on methods of participation are now going out from the U. S. Office of Education to more than 1,700 college presidents; 18,000 school superintendents; 25,000 high school principals; 9,000 librarians; and many civic organizations.

"This latest development in trying to prepare the United States to face the world situation and national upheaval was born with the President. It is designed to help students and adults in understanding the many complicated problems of these critical times."

Specifically, the plan is to get up in every public and private educational institution a civilian morale service. In elementary and high schools, the primary projects will be a greater emphasis in social studies on present day problems; to provide meeting places for adult "freedom forums"; to promote attendance at these forums; to prepare charts, graphs, and other visual aids for discussions and lectures.

It looks like the United States is in for a siege of speechmaking and discussion, the like of which hasn't been heard since the "4-Minute Men" took the field in the World War.

Onionlegging's the Latest

ALTHOUGH Great Britain has many rich, fat acres on which all kinds of vegetables can be raised, British farmers have never gone in much for the cultivation of the ominous onion, so necessary for seasoning.

In happier and more peaceful years industrious Frenchmen came over with great strings of onions and found a ready and profitable market. The war has stopped all that, and Britain is running short of onions. They are a rarity in many towns. They command fancy, even fabulous prices.

They fall into the same class that whisky did in the palmy days of American prohibition. The latter brought about bootlegging. Scarcity of onions has brought about a "black market" in London.

Just as American police raided bootleggers' haunts, so London police have gone after the illegal dealers in vegetables. Britain is going to try to stop onionlegging.

grow continually LONGER.

ALONG this line, Ankara (sent for weeks) is heard from today.

From Turkey's capital come reports that Britain is heavily increasing her military forces in Iran, Iraq, etc. (American supplies have been reported to be pouring into Egypt and into Iraq by way of the Persian gulf.)

Ankara reports also fresh word of German military preparations in Bulgaria which is SEPARATED BY TURKEY from these British preparations in the Middle East.

AT this point, take a look at your map. It will show you that use of Turkey as an invasion route would shorten German lines of communication greatly. The spot Turkey is sitting on is getting hotter day by day.

PRESIDENT Roosevelt today authorizes a billion dollar credit to Russia under the lend-lease act. He directs deliveries to commence immediately and to be fulfilled in the largest possible amounts until the "huge stores" of munitions represented by the credit are in soviet hands.

THEY are not stores of munitions. They are just HOPES for stores. The munitions have to be MADE yet. And ships have to be made to transport them. Production and still more production is America's No. 1 job.

EVERY day's delay of production decreases the possibility that by arming and supplying them adequately we may enable the British and the Russians to defeat Hitler.

Americanism Talk Billed on KRNR November 11th

The twelfth of a series of "Speak Up For Democracy" Americanism programs will be broadcast over Station KRNR at 5:30-6 p. m. Tuesday, November 11, under the sponsorship of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, featuring a special Armistice Day message by R. L. Preston, member of Patrick Kelly post, no. 2468.

In cooperation with the National Department of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U. S., Post no. 2468 is participating in this monthly series of "Speak Up For Democracy" programs which will be heard over nearly 450 radio stations on November 11.

According to V. F. W. leaders, the basic purpose of this Americanism radio project seeks to strengthen the faith of the American people in the fundamental principles of democracy. It was launched on December 11, 1940, as an educational program to combat Nazi and fascist propaganda in the United States.

With the active support of more than half the total number of radio stations in the country, the V. F. W. "Speak Up For Democracy" program on November 11 constitutes the greatest "network broadcast" in the history of the radio industry.

"The active support of nearly 450 radio stations, plus the generous response of the radio listening public, proves we are making a constructive effort in this drive to acquaint the people with those ideals we are being called upon to defend in the present world crisis," declared Post Commander Gaye Mowery. "Each of us can keep faith with the spirit of the Unknown Soldier if we are willing to speak up for democracy against those who would pave the way for Hitlerism in America through the promotion of divisiveness and Nazi propaganda."

Return of Truck Questionnaires Urged by Snell

Immediate return of all truck and bus defense inventory questionnaire cards was called for today in a statement issued by Earl Snell, secretary of state and member of the national highway traffic advisory committee to the war department.

Questionnaire cards still in the hands of truck or bus owners must be returned at once in order to permit federal agencies to complete assembly of data needed to formulate plans for the mobilization of the nation's transportation facilities in the event of a national emergency, Snell declared.

Owners who have had difficulty obtaining certain items of information sought on the questionnaire card were urged to send the cards in anyway with what information they had been able to find. Motor numbers, serial numbers, horse-power rating and body capacity information can be supplied by checking official registration records, it was said, so owners unable to supply this data were advised to return the cards anyway.

"No truck or bus owner will be asked to release his vehicle to the government without receiving adequate compensation," Snell declared. "Each owner is asked whether or not he will voluntarily hire or lease his vehicle to the government. Vehicles

Homecoming To Pep U. of O. For Annual Grid Tilt

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Nov. 10.—(Special.)—Harris Elisworth of Roseburg, Douglas county alumni director, has been appointed by the alumni association of the University of Oregon to assist with arrangements for homecoming on the Oregon campus, scheduled for November 27 to 29.

The slogan of this year's homecoming will be "Blitz the Beavers," with decorations and house signs carrying out the theme. It was announced by Russ Hudson, general chairman.

The annual noise parade has been abolished for safety reasons this year and will be replaced by rally and mix on Friday night. Homecoming signs will be in place by Friday and will be judged that evening.

Saturday will be completely filled with activities starting with the annual alumni meeting and luncheon. The order of the "O" will also hold its yearly luncheon and march to Hayward field in a body for the game.

Feature attraction of the week-end will be the big game on Saturday afternoon. With both Oregon and Oregon State well up in coast conference standing, it promises to be a thrill-packed contest.

Following the game, many alumni will visit their living groups for dinner. Later in the evening the annual homecoming dance will be held at McArthur court.

Old traditions will be revived and enforced both preceding and during the week-end. Those who walk on the grass, smoke on the campus, cross the seal in front of Villard, or offend traditions in any other manner will be meted punishment by the men from the order of the "O".

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

"Onward Christian soldiers." This militant hymn is popular in army service so the chaplains tell us. It is used in churches when our soldier boys meet for divine service. Apart from those occasions this great hymn of the church is not often used. This is not to be wondered at for the spirit of militant Christianity which it expresses and which gave it birth is conspicuously absent from the modern church; at least among many branches of this day. It is almost tragic the lethargy into which the church has fallen and the protest which many hasten to make against being aroused from their slumber. It has almost become a mark of poor breeding to be enthusiastic about anything in our church life, and to be militant about the tenets on its programme is unthinkable. The church needs a new sense of its divine calling, a new sense of its unique mission of saving grace, a new conviction that it is engaged in an eternal warfare. The complacent, conservative, ceremonies religionists must give way to the militant, progressive, modern individualist who will lead the church to new victories and a wonderful tomorrow. Amen.
