Toying With Inflation

CONGRESS is getting ready to make a bluff at tackling the problem of avoiding inflation. "Bluff" is used with full knowledge of the purport of the word. It is justified by what has already happened in Washington and what is probably going to happen, unless the American people make themselves more vocal.

Congress certainly recognizes the dangers of inflation, but seemingly lacks the courage to meet the problem in the only way it can be met. Next year is election year when all the representatives and one-third of the senators come up for re-election.

Let's explain. To prevent inflation, it is necessary to place a ceiling on prices of farm products and manufactured goods, on rents and on wages. Omit one of these, and the result is failure. The vicious circle begins.

If farm products are allowed to soar in price, the cost of living automatically goes up. City workers find their dollar buys less, so they ask and through their unions usually get higher wages. Manufacturers of shoes, clothing, hats, furniture and everything else boost the selling prices of their goods because of the higher wages they have to pay.

What is here depicted is not guess work. It happened in Germany in the 1920's. It ruined the middle class, closed factories, threw workmen out of jobs, and largely paved the way for the rise of Adolf Hitler.

The bill the House banking committee has conceived is not even a weak stab at preventing inflation. It does not deal with the question of wages. When it comes to farm products, it not only permits 110 per cent of so-called parity prices, but in many cases allows 20 per cent above that figure. It should be called a bill to hasten inflation.

The time is now 10 minutes to 12 for pressure by a mightier group than either the farm or labor lobbies—the great mass of American people. For once inflation starts, it will hit the farmer and the workman as viciously as any group.

Arming Against Cancer

AMONG the foes that threaten us from within and one of the most dreaded is cancer. Last year more than 153,000 lives were lost as a result of this disease, and a conservative estimate is that at this moment more than 500,000 people in the United States and Canada have cancer. There is no excuse, however, for hopelessly resigning ourselves to the onslaughts of this disease, for there are trained forces armed with effective weapons which can conquer it if they are employed in time. Just this week the American College of Surgeons is announcing, from its clinical congress in Boston, an approved list of 376 cancer clinics. These clinics represent 254 per cent of the approved general hospitals in the United States and Canada having 100 or more beds. This means that since 1932, when the first list of 100 cancer clinics was announced by the college, organization facilities for fighting cancer have been steadily increased until they will soon be conveniently accessible to practically every patient.

Job for Everyone

TODAY is "Sign Up For Defense Day" in Civilian Defense week. It emphasizes the fact that there is a job for everyone in the civilian defense program. Everyone is urged to find out today just what his community is doing in organizing for civilian defense and to determine what he can do to help. There may be jobs available right now in a civilian protection unit, in meeting local emergencies caused by the defense program or in helping build a strong, healthy community.

time, these lines inevitably come into our minds: "Of all sad words of tongue or pen 'The saddest are these: It might have been."

THIS is no time for moralizing, but at least we might keep this thought before us: SOME DAY there will be an other armistice. Some day another peace. We'll have to be in on the making of it.

Let's pledge our best efforts to ward a FAIR peace.

BUT let's not waste our time thinking there will be no more wars. Before that can happen, human nature will have to evolve from what it is into something different and better.

CHURCHILL, speaking with the bluntness he knows so well how to use on occasion, says: "Britain will declare war on Japan within an hour if Japan goes to war with the United States."

He adds: "Britain's naval situation in the Atlantic has improved so much that we now feel ourselves strong enough to provide a powerful naval force of heavy ships with its necessary and ancillary vessels for service if need be in the INDIAN and PACIFIC oceans."

THAT is something for Mr. Kurusu to think about as he wings his way by Clipper from Manila to the American mainland. It is something for those who are sending him here to think about. That is what it is intended to be.

OUT OUR WAY

Goal of 5,000 Set By Red Cross For Douglas Roll Call

America's national defense efforts require a great expansion of all American Red Cross activities. C. M. McDermott, chairman of the Douglas County Red Cross chapter, declared today in urging "all-out" support of the greatest membership roll call in Red Cross history, to be held from November 11 to 30.

Mr. McDermott said the Douglas county chapter had set a quota of 5,000 members for its share in the national appeal. "We must go over the top in this roll call," he added, "because the continuance of the national Red Cross program depends upon the success of the local chapters in appealing for members."

Funds realized during the roll call period, he pointed out, will be used to enable the American Red Cross and its chapters to carry on its expanded services to the army and navy and to widen its national defense program for the civilian population.

The Red Cross has more than doubled the number of field directors and medical workers in its employ stationed at army and navy posts and hospitals. Red Cross staffs are at 185 stations and hospitals covering 900 points of military and naval service. Approximately 200 field directors and assistants are dealing with the able-bodied personnel of the army and navy, while another 140 workers, assigned to army and navy hospitals, render medical social services and communication service for convalescent patients, as well as plan medically approved recreation.

Mr. McDermott called upon every resident in Douglas county to enroll today as a Red Cross member through the local chapter in order that "our community may contribute its full share to this important humanitarian program which means so much to our homes, our family, our town and our nation."

FAIRMONT, W. Va., (AP)—Mayor Fred T. Navy Enlistments Credited Against Local Draft Quota

Secretary Knox of the navy has announced that local communities are given credit for each naval recruit and that local selective service quotas are reduced accordingly," said R. L. Preston, head of the local draft board, yesterday. "Every young man who joins the navy or naval reserve thus helps to fill our local selective service quota. Young men without selective service age limits who have not been deferred would do well to consider the opportunities the U. S. navy offers in specialized training and advancement while serving their country in its emergency. "The age limits for the regular navy are 17 to 31, and for the naval reserve the limits are 17 to 30. All applicants under 21 must have the written consent of their parents or guardians."

Marie Russell's Death Has Sequel In Prison Term

Five Years Given to Medford Driver, Who Declares Girl Leaped From His Auto

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 13.—(AP)—Eugene Hugh Smith, 29, Medford, yesterday, pleaded guilty to failure to stop at the scene of an accident and was sentenced to five years in prison by Circuit Judge Vandenberg. Smith was traced to Medford by a license number after Marie Russell, 17, was found lying unconscious on the highway north of here October 25. Through his attorney, Smith told the court he had asked highway directions of the Russell girl and had offered to take her home as a return favor. She jumped from the car, according to Smith's statement. Attorney D. E. VanVactor, speaking for Smith to the court, stated that there was nothing in the evidence or in Smith's story to show that he was guilty of any "ungentlemanly conduct" toward Miss Russell. VanVactor expressed the opinion the girl became frightened because Smith was driving at an excessive speed and because he had been drinking. When the girl started to leap from the car, according to Smith's story, he called "no no!" and grasped her skirt, which came off in his hand as she went out of the machine. Smith, the attorney said, became panic-stricken and drove on north on the highway. District Attorney Sisemore pointed out that the place where the girl was found was far beyond her home and beyond the road which turns off the highway leading to her home. He added that Smith was on the Dalles-California highway leading out of town when he stopped to talk to the girl, and that the highway is well marked with signs and a yellow line. "Only one person knows why that girl got in the car, and why she left it as she got sped on the highway," said Sisemore. "That person is the defendant."

Judge Vandenberg, after listening to the attorneys, declared: "There is not a reason in the world for leniency in this case." The five-year sentence is the maximum punishment for the charge.

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS "Lo, I am come, to do Thy will, O God." This is exactly why Jesus came, to do the will of His Father during the whole course of His earthly life. In the lowliness and the poverty of His daily surroundings; in the temptations that beset Him even as they beset us; in the midst of a people that did not understand Him and of the disciples who left Him alone to face His passion and bear the cross for a dying world. His Father's will was His meat and drink. His one object, His yearning, His joy, not a passive way, as we too often understand His prayer, "Thy will be done." But in the strain of an active, continuous obedience and a daily childlike submission. If following this divine Master is our supreme desire, we must follow Him in this attitude of complete surrender to the will of God, by seeking earnestly what He wants us to do, here and now. If this becomes more and more our strongest passion, He will not leave us without that wonderful joy which comes to all who have learned to cherish His will above all other things. Amen.
