Railway Strike Unjustified, Says Dean W. L. Morse

EUGENE, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The call for a railway strike in Chicago is "absolutely unjustified," Dean Wayne L. Morse, who heads the president's emergency fact finding board, stated unofficially today.

"It is my judgment that a strike of railway labor at this time will jeopardize the very high place which railway labor has up to now enjoyed in public esteem, the University of Oregon law dean added.

Dean Morse pointed out that adherence to judicial processes in settling disputes is the only way in which any kind of major dispute may be settled.

"On the basis of the record made by the employees at the 31-day hearing held by the president's emergency board, the call for the railway strike is absolutely unjustified," he said.

"The officials of the union and their lawyers admitted on the record of the hearing that they had had a fair and judicial hearing. If they go through with their threat of strike, they will sacrifice the judicial processes guaranteed to them by the railway labor act—which will be much more costly to the future interest of railway labor than the temporary financial benefits which they seek to gain through a strike.

"It is my judgment that a strike of railroad labor at this time will jeopardize the very fore again through the official announcement at New Delhi that Subhas Chandra Bose, Indian leftist political leader, "has gone over to the enemy" and is believed to be in Berlin or Rome, pledged "to assist by fifth column methods any German invasion of India."

This creates a situation which must cause Britain uneasiness, especially since India has become one of the world's chief arsenals. However, there is no suggestion that the government won't be able to handle any dificulties which may arise. Bose—a fiercely burning brand—has been head of the left wing of the All-Indian congress, Mohandas Gandhi's organization which represents untold millions of followers of the ascetic little Mahatma. Since the war, however, Bose and Gandhi developed a fierce controversy over policy.

Gandhi Playing Fair.

Both the Mahatma and Bose are out for "puran swaraj"—absolute independence—from England. But Gandhi, though after his own fashion he can be as tough as they make 'em, has his own code of fair play and under this he refused to take advantage of Britain's extremity. Bose, on the other hand, took the attitude that England's extremity was India's opportunity, and wanted to exact independence while the going seemed good.

Well, there could be only one outcome to that argument. Bose was soundly beaten, for there is no other man among Hindustan's three hundred fifty millions who has the power that is wielded by the aged and feeble Gandhi. Hosts throughout the land literally worship the Mahatma as a divinity, despite his protests.

So Bose, judging from the government information, has adopted another line of attack. From now on he presumably will work on his people by indirection. As for himself, he may never see his homeland again, for he is said to be suffering from tuberculosis. Fertile Soil for Revolt.

Agitators always can find some fertile Indian soil in which to sow the seed of disaffection, as the desire for independence runs strong and the resentment of English overlordship is bitter in some sections. The Indians, too, are an inflammable race.

Revolutionists and enemy powers traffic much on religious fanaticism, and there is small doubt that this will be a feature of any axis campaign, as it was of the Germans in the world war.

We likely shall hear from our old thrill, the fakir of Ipi, the blackbearded, wild-eyed, dare-devil heroism who is known as the holy terror of the Khyber pass, up on the northwest frontier. He specializes in keeping the savage tribesmen of that mountainous area in revolt.

Then there is the fakir of Alingar—Robin Hood of the northwest frontier. For a generation he has been leading his followers against the British outposts, and some nasty shows these barbarians put on, too. I saw some of it myself during the last war, when I rode with 4,000 British cavalry and foot soldiers while they rounded up over 600 savage Mohmands near the Khyber pass.

These two fakirs are but two of many leaders operating throughout the vastness of India. They represent one of Britain's greatest problems.
