ness to Hitler in this coming battle for the Mediterranean. That will give you an idea of the pressure that is being put on Turkey and the promises that are being made to her at the same time.

THE British seem to be doing pretty well so far with their offensive into Italian Libya. One swift motorized column is reported to have reached almost the outskirts of Tobruk and there are hopeful reports that a considerable German-Italian army has been surrounded.

ANOTHER British motorized column is striking south into the desert, hoping to smash German-Italian forces there. The openly announced purpose of the entire operation is to destroy ALL German and Italian forces in north Africa.

This desert fighting is strictly a war of maneuver, and we are warned frequently from London that the heavy fighting is YET TO COME.

COMPLETE secrecy still surrounds the Kurusu "conversations" in Washington. It may be significant that the Japanese press, so belligerent last week, is relatively silent this week. At any rate, it is an interesting coincidence.

Don't think the Japs aren't watching! This Mediterranean-African situation with the tensest interest. Events of the next few weeks, (or even days) will provide a pretty reliable hint as to whether Hitler has the necessary reserves of men and machines to handle the rapidly expanding war situation without strain or is running a little short.

That is something Japan needs to know before going off the deep end.

DON'T become too enthusiastic over British successes so far. Wait and WATCH. Some extremely important results are going to come out of this African fighting that is just starting.

As yet, we can only guess at them.

Science Locates "Flu" Molecule

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24 (AP)—An incredibly small and deadly bullet-shaped molecule, only four millionths of an inch thick, has been branded as the cause of one of the miseries of mankind, human influenza.

Its isolation and its picture, taken by the new electron microscope, were described here to the American Philosophical society. Magnified 25,000 diameters it shows up as a very tiny grey dot on a photograph, the picture is of a deadly speckling taken from the "flu" infection which killed a person here three years ago. It is moreover the same kind of "flu" type A which spread over the country last winter.

"This molecule, a small bit of protein, is one of the finest disease agents known to science. One of the most startling things to the layman and of profound significance to medicine about this "flu" bullet is that it is not a living thing like microbes.

It is able to reproduce itself, when in living tissue, but that seems to be more of a chemical reaction than a sign of actual life. The discovery has opened a new way to make vaccines against human "flu." A new vaccine has already been made which protects animals against human "flu," and experiments are now starting to learn whether it will protect man.

The report was made by Doctor Leslie A. Chambers and Werner Henle, of the Elberfeld-Roxys Johnson research foundation, University of Pennsylvania.

Young GOP Would Enroll 96-Year-Old Bicyclist

SALEM, Nov. 22 (AP)—William R. Simpson, Salem, who will be 96 years old in February, might become the oldest member of the state organization of Young Republican clubs, which ordinarily is limited to persons between 16 and 35 years of age.

Officials of the Marion county club said they would seek special dispensation to enroll Simpson, who is in "every respect a young party member," club officers said. Simpson rides his bicycle every day.

Fire early Sunday morning caused considerable damage at the office of the Roseburg Chieftain. The blaze, which apparently originated from an overheated tin, was confined to the ceiling, and was extinguished without great damage to the building, but water caused damage to machinery and equipment in the mechanical department of the weekly paper. The loss was covered by insurance.

High School Grid Titles Slated For Decision This Week

By MATT KRAMER Associated Press Staff Writer The Dalles and Newport defended unbeaten records in Oregon high school football play last week and headed for title-making games this week.

The Dalles meets the Medford Peapickers and Newport is negotiating with Amity for a post-season game that would decide the state class B title.

If Medford bowls over The Dalles, the mythical Class A state championship would go by default to undefeated Myrtle Point. A win by the Indians would leave the issue in confusion, since Myrtle Point has stowed its mole-skis away for the year, announcing it would not play in a post-season game for the title.

Medford rested for the game, but The Dalles warmed up by trouncing Pendleton, eastern Oregon's second-strongest team, 40 to 0, the largest score compiled by the Indians this season.

In B play Amity chalked up its ninth and tenth wins of the season by measuring Dayton, 33 to 7, and Arlington, 13 to 12. Arlington, eastern Oregon's leading B team, then met Newport and fell, 39 to 13. It was Newport's ninth victory of the year, and paved the way for an Amity-Newport clash.

Rose Bowl Choice Seems Between O. S. C., Stanford

Entrant in Coveted Classic Expected to be Decided in Games Slated This Week-End

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Pigskin preview: Pacific Coast Conference football is expected to write the most momentous chapter of the 1941 season this week-end.

The Rose bowl team may be decided on the outcome of one game. If Oregon State college defeats University of Oregon, belief prevails generally it will be named to represent the conference in the New Year's day gridiron spectacle at Pasadena. If it falls in this crucial test the word picture will be "chaos."

Defeat for Oregon State and victory the same day for Stanford over California would put the defending championship Stanford team in strategic position to leap back into the Rose bowl. It would hold the most favorable record, five wins and only two defeats. Oregon State, because it is the only eleven that plays both of the somewhat orphaned conference members, Idaho and Montana, now enjoys a standing of six victories and two losses.

Should Oregon State lose and Stanford win, however, the latter's Rose bowl qualifications will be contested by Washington State college. Supporters of W. S. C. will beat the billyhood drums with arguments their team whipped Oregon, Oregon State and Stanford and apparently was the strongest in the conference windup, despite three defeats.

The solution to this possible middle, therefore, probably lies with Oregon State. Will it slide by its old and most bitter rival, Oregon, Saturday? The answer will be written on the turf at Eugene.

Statistics Favor O. S. C. Oregon will enjoy whatever advantage goes with playing on its home field. Tex Oliver's team is as big and tough as Lon Stiner's Oregon Staters. Of the two backfields, Oregon's halfback combination of Mechem and Roblin is the equal if not superior to Oregon State's clever duo, Durand and Dethman. The difference may be between the lines and game for game, Oregon State has the margin here.

Stiner's sturdies have yielded but 26 points in eight games, Oregon 82 in seven so defensively must be given the call. In its last out, Oregon nosed out Washington 19 to 16. Oregon State defeated the same opponent by the same number of points, 9 to 6. In addition, O. S. C. knocked Stanford off its undefeated pedestal after Stanford had won from Oregon, 19-15.

Stanford rested last week, preparing for its big game with California, Saturday at Palo Alto. So did California. Both will come up for the contest at peak condition. Stanford went to the Rose bowl after whipping California last season.

Trojans' Stock Soars Washington plays Southern California at Los Angeles in the only other conference clash. The northern team was a red hot favorite to win this game until the Trojans turned in their inspired 20-18 losing effort against Notre Dame last week. Southern California now will be at least an even choice.

Bowl Bigger Washington State rolled up an eye blinking 89-0 win over Gonzaga last week and there is no doubt but what the score will look impressive when balloting for the team takes place. The Cougars still have undefeated Texas A. & M. on their schedule for a Dec. 6 game at Tacoma. It is as attractive as any Rose bowl engagement that can be framed up at the moment.

The University of California at Los Angeles, defeated 31-13 by Santa Clara last Saturday, has an open date to train for its final game, with Southern California, Dec. 6.

SEATTLE, Nov. 24 (AP)—In the first half Saturday it looked like Oregon's great halfback, Tommy Roblin, was going to be the goat because of three serious misplays, but he made 50,000 people in the Washington stadium forget all about the misdeeds in the second half.

With Roblin shouldering the bulk of the attack, Oregon came from behind, then managed to keep Washington behind and won the traditional annual encounter in a ding-dong battle, 19 to 16.
