Major General George A. White

THE news of the sudden and untimely passing of Major General George A. White came yesterday as a shocking blow. Somehow it is impossible for those of us who knew General White to think of him being taken out of action by anything less than a hail of bullets in the heat of battle.

George A. White was a distinguished citizen of the state of Oregon. He was a writer of international fame, a journalist, a soldier and a patriot. He never did anything in half measure or in a manner less than his best.

Lately as the commander of the famous 41st Division of the United States Army, General White was loved and highly respected by his men. The writer of these lines not long ago was talking with a soldier who was on a train returning to Fort Lewis after having been home on leave. The boy was a private and a selectee—not very long in service, less than a year. He spoke of his division, the 41st, with great pride.

In other words General White was more than a commanding officer—he was a leader. Oregon and the United States will surely miss General White. The army has lost a fine officer and hundreds, doubtless thousands, of people over the face of the entire globe for General White was very widely known—have lost a fine and loyal friend.

be believed) he's talking of "economic rehabilitation" and "restoration of independence" for all European nations.

ONE is reminded inevitably of the old jingle to the general effect that the devil when well is anything but a saint, but when SICK a "saint" would be."

"RELIABLE quarters" in Europe tell the Associated Press today that Germany is prepared to transform the armistice with France into a permanent peace settlement in return for sweeping concessions in northern Africa.

Presumably these sweeping concessions would include Mediterranean bases, a route across France and through Spain into Africa, use of the French fleet against the British and possibly also use of the French army in northern Africa.

It isn't hard to guess that in return for such concessions France will be promised something rather nice.

ANOTHER thought here: If France goes German, what about the jutting jawed Mr. Mussolini? He has been aiming to carve up France's Mediterranean empire to his own liking. The suspicion must be entering his mind that all this candy that is to be given to France will be TAKEN FROM HIM.

ALL this is pure guesswork. It bears not the faintest shadow of authenticity. It is arrived at wholly by the process of putting two and two together. But while we are waiting to see what happens in Libya (it is too early to draw definite conclusions yet) it is at least interesting.

Yule Furloughs Set for Half of U. S. Land Forces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The army said "merry Christmas" a month in advance today with the tidings that between 700,000 and 800,000 soldiers would get yuletide furloughs.

By the war department's estimate, approximately half of the land forces will be granted leaves to go home for the holidays and this raised the prospect of the biggest Christmas transportation rush in more than two decades.

As far as possible, soldiers are to be released on two dates, December 12 and December 20, depending on whether they receive furloughs of one month or two weeks. They are due back in the ranks on January 12 and January 3, respectively.

Spend Day Here—Mr. and Mrs. Alec Worthington, of Canyonville, were here on business Monday.

Montana Blizzard Halts Traffic, Takes One Life

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 25.—(AP)—Telephone and telegraph company line crews battled violent winds and heavy snowdrifts on highways in northwestern Montana today to restore communications to at least eight towns.

One death was attributed to the wind storm. It struck last night and necessitated use of rotary snowplows to free nearly 400 automobiles stalled in drifts of old snow on highway U. S. 87 between Great Falls and Belt, in central Montana.

A prominent Hobson rancher, Frank Haack, 59, died of a heart attack while digging his car from a snowbank near his rural home. Winds averaging close to 50 miles per hour, with gusts recorded as high as 80 m. p. h., damaged communications wires connecting several communities in the Flathead valley, and left Hamilton without electric power for several hours.
