American Legion Auxiliary Activities

By MRS. CLAUDE BAKER
Tuesday night at 8 at the armory the Legion auxiliary will hold a most important meeting, according to the president, Mrs. Bess Riegel. This is in the nature of a pre-Christmas occasion with plans for the Christmas holidays to be made. A full attendance is urged, Mrs. Riegel states.

Wednesday night another lovely social function was held at the veterans facility with Mrs. Walter Olmscheid, chairman. A door prize and many boxes of candy were given during the evening. Myrtle reports a large crowd present.

Christmas without toys? Not if "Scotty" Woods and L. I. Mike-worth know about it. Scotty is making original furniture for distribution to the child welfare center for the Christmas gifts. Its so enticingly elegant one would like to walk home with some for his own small daughter.

Then Mr. Mikeworth is mending whatever is brought in; paint is furnished by other Legionnaires and already there has been brought to the fire hall many big wheeled toys. If there are those who care to make other hearts lighter this Christmas, will you call Mrs. Riegel or Mrs. Joe Johnson, child welfare chairman, who will see that articles are picked up. If you can leave them at the fire hall for the Legion they will be picked up by Legionnaires from there. Last year the Legion and auxiliary mended really tons of toys. Junior Women's club dressed dolls and beside the hundreds of Legion children of veterans the Salvation Army was given a large truck load of toys mended, painted and ready for distribution.

The first Christmas radio program for this year will be given Tuesday at 5. These programs are proving so popular that folks have written in from far distances commenting favorably on their originality. Did you hear how Ellen Post, war nurse, met her gallant Ted? They will have to appear again, she and Mrs. Hugh Ritchie, to appease the curiosity.

Wednesday night at Oakland Odd Fellows hall will be held the first meeting of the newly organized Legion auxiliary unit of Oakland and Sutherland. Every eligible woman and girl is urged to be there. Mrs. Bernice Beard of Marshfield, district president, will present a charter to the group at that time. This unit will necessarily deplete the number of

Seal Sale Given Endorsement By Governor Sprague

Governor Sprague added his voice this week in support of the 35th annual Christmas seal sale, which opened Monday and is being conducted over the state by the Oregon Tuberculosis association and affiliated county public health associations.

In pointing out the progress which has been made in control of the disease Governor Sprague commented: "Fifty years ago tuberculosis was considered incurable. Most everyone thought it was inherited because it often wiped out whole families. Even after the germ of tuberculosis was discovered and it definitely was known that the disease could be spread only by infection from germs, people were not convinced that if one member of the family had tuberculosis, the other members could be protected and need not be infected."

"Of recent years this information has been disseminated by newspapers, radio, motion pictures, posters and literature. It has been brought to the attention of students in our schools. It is now common knowledge that the disease can be prevented and cured.

"Yet the chances of becoming a victim of tuberculosis are still great, when approximately 400 citizens of our state leave their homes every year to seek care in our three tuberculosis hospitals. And there are about 2000 others ill of the disease. Probably half are unaware that they have it."

Emphasizing the value of early diagnosis, which is one of the things stressed in the educational program of the Oregon Tuberculosis association and its affiliated groups, the governor said:

"A study of patients of our tuberculosis hospitals shows that those who are discovered in the early stages of tuberculosis and who promptly receive care, have a good chance of complete recovery within a reasonable time. Most of the patients who do not recover are those admitted in the far advanced stage."

Oregon is attempting to raise $90,000 through seal sales this year, according to Lewis H. Mills, Oregon Tuberculosis association president. Ninety-five per cent of this sum will remain in Oregon to be used by the Oregon Tuberculosis association and the county public health groups. Five per cent will be sent to the National Tuberculosis association.
