New Oregon State Chief Rose From Rank of Private

SALEM, Dec. 8—(AP)—Brigadier General Alvin C. Baker, 62, who assumed command last night of the Oregon State Guard, rose from a private in the Spanish-American war to a general when he retired in June, 1940.

The state guard, which will perform the duties of the national guard, now in federal service, was authorized by the 1941 legislature. It will guard against sabotage, quell civil disorders, as well as perform any other duties which the governor may ask.

Baker enlisted as a private in the Oregon light artillery July 16, 1898, and in 1901 enlisted in the Oregon cavalry. He enlisted in the coast artillery in 1912, and in 1916 was commissioned a second lieutenant.

During the World war, he fought with the 101st trench mortar battery, 26th division, and took part in the Alsne-Marne, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and first army offensives. He won a silver star citation.

Baker was commissioned a first lieutenant of infantry in 1922, and later in the same year was made a captain, assigned to howitzer company, 162d Infantry, national guard. He was promoted to major in 1924, assigned as regimental machine gun officer, 186th Infantry, national guard. In 1925, Baker became a lieutenant colonel, assigned as intelligence officer for the 41st division.

Promoted to colonel in 1934, Baker was given command of the 186th infantry, the command he held until his retirement 18 months ago. He became a brigadier general on retirement.

Baker is a graduate of the army infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga., and of the trench artillery school, Langres, France.

DAILY DEVOTIONS DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

"The lines are fallen unto me in pleasant places." There are your environments and hereditaries, goodly heritages. They go hand in hand, just as faith and works do, and should not and cannot be separated. This is not a debate on environment versus heredity, but rather a reminder of their importance. Some of us can say the words of this scripture in all sincerity. Others of us should have to admit that it has been a fifty-fifty proposition. To many, environment has not played the helpful part in our lives, while many have little they can boast of in the way of goodly heritage. But let us think of the importance of these words in the light of the future. Just what kind of an environment are we making for the generation to come, and what will be the quality of its heritage. Environment and heredity both play an important part in the lives of people. It behooves us to see that both shall be improved for the generation to come. How can we bring it about? The Bible is full of caution. "He that soweth to the flesh, shall of the flesh reap corruption, but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting." And it is always important that what we sow we shall reap, and it is the reaping that brings sorrow or joy. Many are reaping the sowing of former years. We have much to say what our harvest will be, and the harvest of the future generation. Let us see that today we will sow the seed of eternal joy. Amen.

Enlistments May Make Drafting Unnecessary — Necessity for inducting 45 men from Douglas county into the U. S. army for the January call may be eliminated by voluntary enlistments. R. L. Preston, chairman of the local selective service board, reported today. Preston stated that the board today had received a number of offers of voluntary enlistment from young men who hold high draft numbers, but who declared that they are anxious to get into service, now that a state of war actually exists.

The county has been called upon to furnish 45 men who will leave here the night of Jan. 14. At present only 33 men are actually classified in the 1-A division, although 442 are in the tentative 1-A class depending upon the outcome of physical examinations.

Texas AGS Down Cougars, 7 to 0

TACOMA, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The Aggies of Texas A. & M. winner of 29 of their last 31 games, planned to relax at Sun Valley today on their way home after collecting the football pelt of the Washington State Cougar here last Saturday.

A couple of sophomore backs and a center who didn't let three broken fingers interfere with his pass interceptions were the main reasons for the Aggie victory over Washington State.

Little Leo Daniels threw a pass to Cullen Rogers for 38 yards and the game's only touchdown, with less than two minutes remaining of the first half. Jake Webster kicked the point.

Earlier, the Cougars' ace passer, Bill Sewell, had flipped a pass to Fullback Bob Kennedy good for 50 yards and an apparent touchdown, but the Cougars were guilty of two errors on the play and the score was nullified.

Bill Sibley, the Ag center with the three broken digits, halted three Cougar rallies with timely pass interceptions.

Other Saturday Games — By the Associated Press Texas 71, Oregon 7. Rice 6, Southern Methodist 0. Southern California 7, UCLA 7 (tie). Mississippi State 26, San Francisco 13. University of Hawaii 20, Willamette 6.
