K. of P. Donates Hall Use for Aid Training

The Knights of Pythias lodge announced today that the use of the lodge hall has been offered free of charge to the American Red Cross for use by first aid training classes. The classes formerly met in the armory, but as that building now is occupied by army personnel, there has been no regular meeting place available.

Defense Bond Sales Boosted by Jap Attack

SEATTLE, Dec. 18.—(AP)—"The Japanese were the best salesmen we ever had," asserted William C. Lewis, defense savings deputy administrator, today in announcing that buyers virtually had exhausted the supplies of defense savings bonds and stamps in Seattle.

"The banks and other distributing agencies are out of bonds, and the postoffice has only a few left. Defense savings stamps are almost as scarce," he added.

He said the bureau of printing and engraving is to work Saturdays to replenish the supplies, dwindling everywhere with astonishing rapidity following the Japanese attack on Hawaii. "Thousands of persons here intended giving bonds as Christmas presents," said Lewis. "Now they'll have to give orders for bonds, instead."

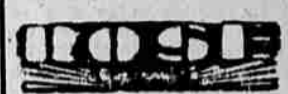

Deserters Held Here to Be Delivered to Army

Frank W. and Robert M. Peach, recently arrested here on a charge of petty larceny, are to be turned over to army authorities as deserters, Sheriff Cliff Thornton reported today. Army officers from Vancouver barracks are expected here tonight to take charge of the prisoners.

The brothers, recently employed at Days Creek, were accused of taking a storage battery and tools from the car of their employer. They told officers, following their arrest, that they had tired of army training and had deserted from Fort Ord, California, but, after war was declared, expressed a desire to get back into service.
