POET'S CORNER

KEEP IT AWAY FROM HOME

By WILBUR WILLIAMS

Picture a field that is golden with wheat

Awaiting the harvest time.

Picture a hillside of pasture green,

Covered with fir or pine.

How would it look with the wheat trampled down?

Full of shell holes and tangled wire.

Strewn with wreckage of men and machines,

Ravaged and crossed by fire.

Picture your little ones crouching in fear

With the roar of the planes above.

Fainting with hunger, afraid of the dark,

Robbed by shells of a mother's love.

Think of the cost, the price we would pay,

The loss of our years of toil.

Better by far we should settle it there

Upon the aggressor's own soil.

Think of our cities, the pride of the land,

Built of wages that's been hard earned.

How would they look as smouldering heaps

Blasted and bombed and burned?

We hope not a man of ours will be called

To lie in a foreign tomb

But if ever a war should fall our lot

Let's keep it away from home.

UNDER TWO FLAGS

U. S. AND G. B.

By LOU KNIGHT, Canyonville

The boys in khaki are moving fast away

The boys in blue are rolling to the sea

Brave men are falling, stout hearts are calling

Old Glory is thrown to the breeze.

Campfires are burning, grim-faced men are working

The endless stream is rolling swiftly by

There's a job to do—we must see it through

Old Glory is waving on high.

We'll help the British to down nazidom

We'll give all out until the job is done

We'll stand by our guns until the war is won, cry

Hats off! The flags are passing by.
