

Brown Shirts In Germany Losing Their Influence

BERN, Switzerland, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Reliable information arriving from Germany indicated today that Adolf Hitler's Brown shirted storm troopers no longer play an important role in the Nazi party and may soon cease to function altogether.

The organization, called the S. A. (Storm Abteilung) has always borne the brunt of the party's attacks and was said to be slipping since shortly after the beginning of the campaign against Russia.

The first indication came when the organization's newspaper, Die S. A., ceased publication in August with no official explanation. Members who inquired were told simply that the action was taken because of a paper shortage.

Next came an order calling a large percentage of S. A. men to the colors in the regular army instead of assigning them storm troopers' duties as in previous campaigns. They now wear army uniforms and are mixed in the same units with ordinary soldiers.

The most recent move was the secret order forbidding S. A. men to hold meetings. No explanation was given.

A neutral observer, however, who has just come from Berlin, said the real reason was the fact that some of the storm troop meetings had turned into forums for criticizing the conduct of the Russian campaign.

(The S. A., the backbone of Nazi party organization since the party's birth, formed a party militia which aided Hitler's rise to power. Capt. Ernest Roehm, chief of the storm troopers, was executed in the Nazi blood purge June 30, 1934.)
