Razing Tariff Walls

THE war is slowly erasing the 5,000-mile boundary between the U. S. and Canada.

Never a formidable barrier in the 125 years of peace, the line moved closer to limbo when the Canadian-American joint war production board recommended abolition of tariff bars between the two nations.

Tariff barriers were reduced to statutory minimum under the present reciprocal trade pact, but even that seems pretty silly between partners in a life-and-death World War. That's the reason for the joint board's recommendation.

As things stand now, some of the most critical munitions items must hurdle tariff fences. For instance, machine tools and auto planes imported into the U. S. must pay a 30 per cent ad valorem duty. Lumber faces a $2 clip per thousand feet. Scrap steel—which we magnanimously furnished the Japs for bombs—can't go into tanks and guns in the U.
S. until it pays a duty of 75 cents a ton, if imported.

Legislative action will be needed to level those tariff walls. It's a safe bet that Congress will quickly correct that between-allies situation.

The joint board's declaration is an important indication of the way allied leaders are thinking.
The mental attitudes evolving now will influence the reconstruction when the war is won. The kind of world we'll live in when the fighting's ended is being built now in the minds of the men who'll fashion it then.

We Haven't Begun to Buy

PAUL JONES, in his famous fight with the Scraps, strath-led the enemy commander by announcing from the raked deck of his half-sinking Bon Homme Richard that he had not yet begun to fight.

The Defense Bond drive is in no sinking condition, but it is nevertheless time for the American people to announce that they are ready to begin buying. In December, despite the stimulus of the attack on Hawaii and the Philippines, sales of Defense Bonds and Stamps were just under a half-billion dollars. We are in for a 50-billion-dollar war budget. Half of that, at least, ought to be put up by citizens in the form of bond and stamp purchases. That means a half-billion in a week, not a month.

Forty-Six Millions, Unregretted

UP to the time war came to America, the people of the United States had contributed $46,000,000 for war relief in the countries which preceded them in the war.

Not a dollar is regretted. It has meant wounds stanching, mouths fed, bodies warmed.

Now we have a sterner contribution to make. We shall have our own wounds to bind, our own refugees to care for, our own science to alleviate. It is in addition to our own direct contribution in the field, we can continue to relieve others who have given so much already that they cannot now help themselves, let us do that, too.

Mrs. M. K. Dean, of Days Creek,

Thursday.

Editorials on News

The United States supported General Mitchell in his day and have supported his successors who have continued to plead for expansion of U. S. air defenses.

ON the bad side:
The Japs appear to be drawing steadily nearer to Singapore down the Malay peninsula. The British fight stubbornly but have to withdraw in the face of heavily superior forces.

On the good side:
The Chinese claim practical an-ihilation of the Jap army of 100,000 sent against Changsha.
The Japs admit withdrawing from Changsha, explaining that their attack on it has "served its purpose."

THE Russians appear to have accomplished the difficult feat of landing troops from transports under protection of naval guns at Feodosiya, and at Yevpatoriya, in the Crimea. (Consult your map for details.)

Their purpose is to drive the Germans out of the Crimean peninsula, which is a handy jumping off place for a German drive into the Caucasus (for oil.)

A soviet "informant" (that's a new one) says that Russia expects to drive the Nazi invaders back of the Leningrad-Stolensk-Dnieper river line 200 miles west of Moscow by around February 1—thus "turning the Nazi retreat into a military catastrophe in the bitterest part of the winter."

THOSE whose job it is to worry about American morale are getting afraid we're becoming cocksure over Russian successes and inclined to sit back and let the Russians do our fighting.)

INTERESTING:
Laurence Steinhardt, U. S. ambassador to Russia, has been TRANSFERRED to Turkey. Turkey appears to blow hot or cold, depending on how the battle of Russia is going at the moment.

Steinhardt's job will be to convince the Turks that the Russians are sure to win.

A NEW name takes shape in late dispatches. It is "United Nations," and applies to the nations banded together against the axis.

In World War I it was allies vs. central powers. It now seems to be united nations vs. axis.

Shortage of Scrap Hits Steel Plants

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—(AP)—Efforts to bring out an increased supply of scrap metal—essential to the production of steel for armament purposes—have met another obstacle in cold weather.
Industrial salvage circles said today.

Lack of scrap is creating a serious problem in the war program, according to steel makers, because scrap must be used to manufacture finished steel. Smaller plants, particularly, these sources said, are dependent upon a steady and abundant flow.

In the past few days, when it was hoped collecting would increase, the trade has remained quiet. Salvage circles blame this on the cold, saying it has prevented dealers from scouring the countryside for material.

Effects of the shortage were evidenced this week when Great Lakes Steel corporation, Detroit subsidiary of National Steel corporation, shut down four of its 16 open hearth furnaces for lack of enough scrap to keep them going.

Sharon Steel corporation, with plants in the Youngstown, Ohio, district, has announced it expected to shut down an open hearth furnace late this week for the same reason.

Rummage Sale Saturday—St.
George's Episcopal guild will hold an all-day rummage sale Saturday, January 10, at the parish hall. Mrs. M. E. Middleburg, chairman of the project, has asked all members of the church to leave their donations at the parish hall this evening and early tomorrow morning.

Faith in our fathers living still Faith of our fathers we will Faith

We will be true to thee till death.

aFith of our fathers we will
To win all nations unto thee.
And through the truth that comes from God Mankind shall then be truly free.
Faith of our fathers, holy faith
We will be true to thee till

Labor Canvass of Women in Douglas County is Slated

Supplanting of Men in Jobs Vacated for Army Service

Purpose of Movement

Preliminary plans for the organization of Douglas county for a house-to-house canvass of vocational skills of women above the high school age-level are being drawn in anticipation of a possible labor shortage arising if and when large numbers of men are called into military service and heavy defense industries.
