

Women's Rally Set Here to Plan Canvass on Jobs

Final plans outlining the role Douglas county is to play in the first statewide mobilization of "womanpower" in the United States will be drawn January 30, at a mass rally of representative county women.

Mrs. Sadie Orr Dunbar, state director of the Oregon board for mobilization of women and honorary president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, is scheduled to meet with Mrs. V. J. Micelli earlier in the day in order to complete preliminary arrangements.

A strong, smoothly-functioning organization already has been developed in cooperation with federal and state employment service agencies under the state leadership of Mrs. Dunbar, and the local supervision of Mrs. Micelli, recently appointed to the state sponsoring committee by Governor Sprague, and also named county chairman of the board for mobilization of women.

Although the house-to-house campaign to register the present or past work experience, training or vocational preferences of all adult Oregon women will not begin until February 16, the gargantuan problems demand detailed attention in advance, according to Mrs. Micelli. Every active women's organization in the city and county is expected to play an important part when the door-to-door canvassing begins the registration of all women above high school level.

The announced purpose of the inventory is to create a vast new reservoir of skilled, semi-skilled and "trained" womanpower, available as substitutes for men if—and when—an acute labor shortage develops as the result of workers being drawn into military service and heavy defense industries.

Commenting on the program Mrs. Micelli drew a distinction between the pending inventory of women's vocational skills and the various civilian defense organizations.

"The registry of women's vocational skills will be placed at the disposal of the employment service," she explained, "and if women are called for emergency work they will be fully paid in accordance with union standards. Civilian defense workers volunteer their services."

The abilities of the women registered will fall into four main classifications: Women with skills more important than the work they are now doing; women who have secondary skills that may be developed when needed; women with potential skills who are willing to be trained in vocational work; and women who may fit into places vacated by men called into heavy defense industries or military services.

Mrs. Micelli said that some 4,000 trained interviewers will begin the house-to-house canvassing February 16, and that the inventory data for the entire state should be collected by the end of the month.

"If the inventory is successful, it may be used as the pattern for other states from Boston to the Golden Gate," Mrs. Micelli said. Just when women will be called into emergency jobs in the state's offices, factories and fields—if at all—depends largely upon changes in the accelerated American defense program, and the expansion of the military forces.

The Mesdames Dunbar and Micelli urged that all women's organizations, clubs, auxiliaries and other groups be represented at the mass meeting January 30. Further information about any phase of the women's mobilization project may be obtained from F. W. Chase office manager of the employment service, Mrs. Micelli said.

Army to Have 2 Divisions Exclusively of Negroes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP)—Formation of a sixth armored division and of the first entire division of infantry composed of negro troops was announced yesterday by Secretary Stimson as a part of the army's current expansion to 3,600,000 men.

The war secretary reported at the same time that second air force pursuit squadron composed of negro fliers also had been ordered created.

The negro division will be the 93rd infantry and will be stationed at Fort Huachuca, Arizona.

The army already includes various smaller negro units in virtually all major arms, and Stimson noted that negroes are included also in the various officer candidate schools where enlisted men who have shown outstanding leadership are trained as second lieutenants.

Cigaret Tax Law Suit Arguments Offered at Salem

SALEM, Jan. 22—(AP)—Arguments in the State Retail Grocers association's suit to force Secretary of State Snell to place the two-cent cigarette tax law on the ballot next November are being heard by the state supreme court today.

The association contends that the legislature has no authority to restrict the referendum by passing a law requiring filing of expense statements, that the association's expense statement complied with the law, and that it has not been proved that the association willfully disregarded the law.

The 1941 legislature passed the cigarette tax law, but the association delayed enforcement of it by completing referendum petitions. Snell then ordered the tax commission to collect the tax, Snell's action being based on an attorney general's opinion that the expense statement was not adequate.

The state tax commission began collecting the tax two weeks ago, and the association then filed the suit to force Snell to put the measure on the ballot.

Alfred E. Clark, Portland attorney, will argue in behalf of the association, while Assistant Attorney General Rex Kimmel will represent Snell.

If the court holds in favor of the association, collection of the tax would stop immediately, and the voters would decide next November whether they want the tax.

The tax commission said today that if dealers have cigarettes on hand when and if the court orders the measure to the ballot, the tax would not be collected on those cigarettes.

The commission also held that responsibility for collection of the tax rests with the first dealer who receives the cigarettes after they enter the state, whether the dealer is a wholesaler or retailer.

New Allied Ships Outstrip Losses

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23—(AP)—Chairman Land of the maritime commission has told congress that construction of allied shipping is now forging ahead of losses by sinkings at sea and that the United States has "the world licked right now" on standard cargo ships and tankers.

Reporting on the progress of the program for a vast merchant marine before a house appropriations subcommittee in testimony made public today, Land asserted:

"The last time I looked at the curves, the sinkings and the new production were just about balanced for the first time during the war, and now new construction is getting ahead."

That was on December 9. He reported that United States merchant marine tonnage was about 7,000,000 and that a total of 12,000,000 more tons was in prospect for 1942 and 1943. On the other hand, he said that Great Britain started with about 21,000,000

Aircraft Production Kept Under Close Guard

This new photo, just approved by the war department, shows part of the "Lightning" P-38 assembly lines at the Lockheed Aircraft corporation, Burbank, Calif. Protection of plants like this all over the country calls for more eyes and ears than the FBI, the army and navy have to spare. Hence, industry recruits thousands of civilian guards.

Hear Kin's Spectacular Naval Feat

Your Federal Income Tax

No. 17 Earned Income Credit

The law allows in computing the normal tax of an individual an earned income credit of 10 per cent of the earned net income, but not in excess of 10 per cent of the net income. "Earned income" is defined in the law as wages, salaries, professional fees, and other amounts received in compensation for personal services actually rendered. Where a taxpayer is engaged in a trade or business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, a reasonable allowance as compensation for personal services actually rendered by the taxpayer, not in excess of 20 per cent of his share of the net profits of such trade or business, is considered as earned income. "Earned net income" means the excess of the amount of the earned income over the sum of the "earned income" deductions, which are the ordinary and necessary expenses properly chargeable against earned income. The entire amount of the taxpayer's net income up to and including $3,000, regardless of the source, is considered earned net income to be considered to be more than $14,000.

tons, lost about 9,000,000 tons and at the same time had additions of about 5,000,000 tons.

But axis powers have lost about 5,000,000 tons, he estimated, and all world shipping losses amount to about 27 per cent of the 52,000,000 tons available at the outset of the war.

After saying that United States and Great Britain had made replacements of about 1,500,000 tons each annually, and asserted:

"On replacements, the axis powers are not having much luck. As to exact figures I know nothing about it."

The rear admiral gave the committee an optimistic progress report on the merchant marine program involving 1,422 ships, of which 999 have been contracted for and 423 will be ordered before July 1.

Except for such bottlenecks as strikes and machinery and generating power, and said that "very good to excellent" progress had been made.

C. E. Neuser, head of the police national defense detail, questioned the man today. John C. Kjos, boatswain in charge of the coast guard's waterfront patrol, said the man was "hiding" in the shadows when found.
