Even War Is Not World's End

In a fast triple play, allow us to pass on to you a series of most interesting quotations assembled by President Marsh of Boston University, reproduced by James Truslow Adams in "Barren's," and now here set down once again. They're worth it.

Wilberforce, 1801—"I dare not marry—the future is so unsettled."

Pitt, 1806—"There is scarcely anything around us but ruin and despair."

Lord Shaftesbury, 1848—"Nothing can save the British Empire from shipwreck."

Disraeli, 1849—"In industry, commerce, and agriculture there is no hope."

Wellington, 1852—"I thank God I shall be spared from seeing the consummation of the ruin that is gathering about us."

Yet the world did not end because over a period of half a century these gentlemen saw only ruin and hopelessness. It is not going to end now, in spite of nearly universal war, in spite of death, debt and destruction.

Man is a durable institution. His powers of survival have been sorely tested before, and he has always emerged from the most gruesome ordeals, loving and living as before. So he will do again.

In a time when everything seems changing, are there no things which do not change? Of course there are. The love of men and women, the steady, consoling warmth of friendship, the driving power of ambition. The desire for the beautiful, the deed of kindness, the unselfish urge, the desire for knowledge. The aspiration to see and to serve God.

He would be a foolish optimist indeed who can look complacently on the world today that should have been so beautiful, and which men have made so ugly. But he would be not only cowardly but shortsighted who would look up on it and say, "We can never do any better."

The world to come will be what we make it, and what we give our children an opportunity to make it. Our immediate task today happens to be the attainment of victory in a war which has come to us despite long and intense efforts to avoid it.

That is only the chapter in which we are now reading. The coming chapter need not be like the blotted and smudged pages of the past. It can be clean and fine, in the midst of today's troubles we must remember that, for it is only if we forget it that we prejudice its eventual realization.

Savings Bonds and Savings

THE thought behind defense bonds was broader than merely to provide money for conducting the war. It was also that by channeling some of people's excess income away from the consumer markets and into savings to be spent not now but later, competition for reduced stocks of goods would be lessened, and a tendency toward inflation minimized.

Now it develops that many of the bonds are being bought with money already saved in bank accounts or with other forms of savings. Of course that means a mere transfer from one form of savings to another, and defeats part of the purpose of the plan. One who buys war bonds out of savings, and goes on spending all of an augmented income on consumer goods is not really contributing as much to the national welfare as one who leaves his former savings where they were, and buys bonds out of new savings brought about by spending less of his weekly or monthly income.

Make your war savings a part of your regular budget and shape the budget accordingly.

S. Umpqua Falls Camp Group Wins Worker Awards

CAMP SOUTH UMPQUA FALLS, Jan. 23.—Nearly 40 "trained worker" certificates were awarded to members of company 5478 at an all-camp meeting January 21. The certificates were presented by Project Superintendent John R. Montgomery after a talk explaining their purpose and value. Unusual interest has been shown by the technical service foremen as well as the men on the crews in order to get this number of men qualified during the six weeks they have been in this camp. Many are now seeking advanced certificates for the special jobs on which they are working.

Boxing Bouts Staged.
An exciting boxing card and entertainment program was presented by the men of company 5478 Tuesday evening, January 13. The bouts were arranged by Dr. Robert S. Kinoshita, boxing coach, as tryouts for the zone and district tournaments to be held soon.

Middle and lightweight contests were featured in nine bouts of three rounds each while Romero and Richard, in the flyweight class, put on a no-decision show. In addition to boxing, the program included musical and entertainment numbers, a pie eating contest and a talk by Company Commander Charles E. McKenzie. Light refreshments were served at the close of the evening's activities.

An empty barracks building has been remodeled to make it more suitable for company meetings and recreation. A boxing ring has been installed and it will be equipped for picture shows. A movie schedule has been arranged to begin soon.

Wide Patrol Area Restricts Navy's Blows at Japan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Those who have wondered why the American navy has not taken a broad offensive action against Japan in the Pacific found an answer in the official "report to the nation" by the government's newly created office of facts and figures.

The navy's task, the report declared, is "two-fold: it has the greatest battle of its life on its hands, and it also has a tremendous defensive patrolling job to carry out."

"The navy, like the rest of us, is at war with Germany in the Atlantic with Italy in the Mediterranean. At the same time, it must police with Britain the sea lanes from Iceland to the bulge of South America and, with the British, Dutch and Australian navies, the vast Pacific as far as Singapore."

"Fighting ships which might otherwise be used to attack the Japanese navy must serve as two great mobile arcs of steel guarding all our continental coastline. They must see that German ships do not menace the routes to and from the eastern ports of South and central America. They must keep Japanese ships clear of the western hemisphere from the straits of Magellan to the northern Bering sea. This is a naval problem without parallel in history."

The report went on to say, however, that long before Pearl Harbor the navy's ability to "give and take severe blows had been shown in the waters between America and Europe, in the months when it was obeying the president's command to shoot first."

And it declared, both the navy and the marine corps entered the war with an "unprecedented peace-time strength."

"Their complements of fighting forces are being increased with a speed that can be matched by no other nation on earth at this time."

Would Put Pension Plan in U. S. Constitution

Petitions now are in circulation and being liberally signed to put into effect the Townsend pension plan as an amendment to the constitution of the United States. A. E. Rutter, president of Roseburg Townsend club No. 1, reported today. Circulation of the petitions in Roseburg and vicinity is being conducted by the local club.

The petitions propose not less than a two per cent tax on gross incomes of $3,000 or more per year, with proceeds to be divided equally among persons 60 years of age or more who retire from gainful employment. The amendment would give authority to lower the age limit and to increase the rate of tax under certain conditions. It also would provide for pension payments to persons permanently disabled, regardless of age.

Excise Tax Yield Falls Short Of Treasury Hopes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Disappointing collections on the new federal excise enacted a few months ago, have shadowed difficulties for congress and the treasury today in their search for $7,000,000,000 more taxes asked by President Roosevelt.

Officials said that the new excises are bringing far less revenue than expected.

Unless the showing improves, congress will have to raise its sights in drawing this year's tax bill, to make up the amount that collections fell short of the estimated revenue.

Taxes which went into effect last Oct. 1 include those on local telephone bills, jewelry, fur, toilet preparations, musical instruments and electrical appliances.

Two of the new taxes have held up to expectations. The licenses for bowling alleys and pool tables, expected to yield $1,300,000, already have turned in $1,203,316 in three months. The licenses on slot machines and pinball machines have yielded $4,708,696 and were slated to bring in only $4,000,000. These two taxes differ from the others since they are collected only once a year, while the others are to be collected each month on the basis of sales.

On 14 other taxes, collections in October, November and December amounted to $27,150,000, against an estimate of $27,400,000 in a full year.

Part of this discrepancy was explained as due to the fact that these taxes are paid a month late and since October was the first month the collections represent really a 2 months rather than a 3 months record.

RHS Basketeers Defeat Medford Quintet, 29 to 27

The Roseburg senior high school Indians, showing steady improvement since the opening of the season, took Medford into camp last night 29 to 27 in a rough basketball game played on the Medford court. It was the first meeting of these two teams this season. Roseburg led all of the way and was well out in front in the last quarter, but Medford staged a desperate, last-minute rally which the Indians were barely able to check in time to hold a margin of victory.

Medford's roughness was largely responsible for their defeat, as they gave the Indians 22 shots from the free-throw line, the Indians making 13 conversions. Medford lost two players on fouls, which, however, was to their advantage, as the substitutes showed good scoring strength. Roseburg lost Hughes on personals in the last quarter, but Stephens, who replaced him, made a good showing and joined the scorers.

Indians Get Long Lead
Ness opened the scoring for Roseburg with a quick shot from the first tip-off. Encouraged by the taste of first blood, the Indians opened up a fast attack and were out in front 10 to 1 at the close of the quarter. Medford came back strong in the second quarter to add nine points while the Indians rolled in seven, to leave Roseburg ahead 17 to 10 at half time. Roseburg again was outscored six to five in the third period, but still led, 22 to 16. The last quarter was very fast and rough as the Indians stubbornly defended their narrowing margin against the desperate drive of the Pear Pickers, who, however, fell two points short of a tie score.

The Indians continued on south today to play tonight at Ashland.

Cougar Quint Gets Revenge on Idaho

(By the Associated Press)

Washington State college stepped into a three-way tie for second place in the northern division of the Pacific coast conference last night with a 45-to-39 basketball victory over Idaho.

Washington State, western collegiate championship team last year, had to come from behind to avenge a week-old defeat by Idaho. Idaho, which won by two points last week, led 19-15 at the half last night but weakened in the final period as W. S. C.'s Gilbert and Gebert warmed up to the basket. Gilbert collected 15 points personally, and Gebert accounted for 10. Neither, however, was a match for the Idaho high-scorer, Turner, who continued to furnish most of his team's offense by scoring 17 counters.

Nine of his points were on free throws as W. S. C. centered its defense against him. All but three of the 15 W. S. C. fouls were committed against Turner.

Last night's victory brought W. S. C.'s record to three wins and three losses, a 500 average that looked a little better on paper than the two wins and two losses now on the Oregon and Oregon State records. Washington, home from its first field trip of the season, continued to lead the division with four victories and two losses.

Idaho and W. S. C. play the third game of their four-tras series at Pullman tonight; while Oregon and Oregon State tangle in the first of their annual four battles. Washington remains idle until next Friday, when it enters the Oregon at Seattle.
