Birthday of Boy Scouts

THIRTY-TWO years of the "Game of Scouting," a leisure time activity supplementing the home, the church and the school, has given the United States a powerful force of 1,570,000 Boy Scouts, Cubs and adult leaders equipped to render wartime service to the nation and to thousands of communities.

Celebration of their anniversary began yesterday and will continue to February 12.

Through their day-by-day activities in first-aid, life saving, tracking, signaling, cooking, nature study, seamanship, campcraft, woodcraft, chivalry and all of the handicrafts, America's Boy Scouts have always been prepared to do their duties as citizens of their country.

More than ten million Americans have had some Scout training and in every place where training is most important, the Scout program for boyhood and young manhood is proving itself invaluable.

Their outstanding activities in recent months include the distribution of defense program posters, collection of aluminum and waste paper, and aiding in test blackouts. Their anniversary week will be marked by the collection of rubber and scrap metals, and in picking up books in the Victory Book campaign.

An important development has been the formation of Emergency Service Corps—groups of older Scouts qualified by special training and physical abilities to perform more strenuous emergency duties, such as rescue work and first aid.

Of the Boy Scouts' Emergency Training program President Roosevelt said, "At no time in its history has our country had greater need for this kind of serious work and preparation."

An appreciative nation proudly salutes the Boy Scouts, the best in boyhood today, the best in citizenship tomorrow.

Six Words

AN unnamed young soldier out in Hawaii has a message for you.

He didn't know he had a message.

But he had. A correspondent touring the new defenses of Hawaii found him in a secluded dugout, where he was sleeping on the hard ground. Asked if that wasn't pretty tough, the young soldier grinned, spat, and delivered his message:

"Was. Not now. Used to it."

The sooner we civilians get into that frame of mind about how tough it is to undergo the thousand little inconveniences that go with war, as well as the real sacrifices, the better. The end of the war will be in sight when 130,000,000 people are saying about how tough it is to make their own sacrifices:

"Was. Not now. Used to it."

side. People stand around it. Their faces are tragic. No, there are no fatal injuries. No one, as a matter of fact, has been scratched.

A tire has merely blown out.
It can't be replaced.
Hence the tragic faces.

SALINAS.

Wide, flat fields. Stretching, seemingly endless, to the bordering hills, now a tender green with the young grass of early spring.

Rows of young plants, spaced as carefully as the lines on a sheet of writing paper. In the distance, short, swarthy men, built close to the ground, bend over the rows.

A disturbing thought:

Maybe they are Japs, putting arsenic on the spinach.

NO. They are Mexicans. And Mexico is an ally of ours—one of the brotherhood of good neighbors.

One breathes again.

And DOESN'T forswear spinach.

OFF to the right of Salinas, toward Monterey, is Fort Ord. Well on to the south, where the ridge of the Tehachapi sweeps gently up toward Paso Robles, is Camp Roberts, a mushroom growth on the rolling hills that were made for cattle to graze on.

The air above the flat valley is full of training planes. Steel-helmeted young men, khaki-clad and carrying rifles, guard all the bridges.

A sign points to Camp Hunter Liggett. A few miles farther on is Camp San Luis Obispo.

The roads are full of army trucks.

MOST greatly changed of all this countryside is the village of San Miguel, which for a century and a half slept in the sun around the walls of the mission of the same name.

Now it is a garish fringe on the edge of Camp Roberts.

PISMO Beach, and its curving bay. Out beyond, the open Pacific. Breakers crashing on the sand. Beside the highway the same pleasant little restaurant where for years Pismo clams have been fried to a succulent excellence hard to improve upon.

Army trucks parked beside the road. Among the trucks a track-laying tractor bearing a heavy gun.

IT is spring along El Camino Real. The flowers, as they have done for countless centuries, are beginning to bloom. The air is soft. The voices of the meadowlarks, as always, are liquid.

But there are harsh notes in the symphony.

The Pacific is no longer pacific.

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

A Prayer for Enlightenment

O Thou God of light, the only true God, whom to know is life eternal. Shine upon us in the brightness of Thy glory in the face of Jesus Christ. Enlighten our understanding evermore with life's true light.

We confess unto Thee, O Lord, the darkness of our fallen natures, ignorance, error, and falsehoods cloud our minds. Anger, malice, envy, greed, pride and all selfish passions sway our hearts, and our weak will yields to their appeal, so that sin rules our lives, bringing us into bondage. We have erred and strayed from Thy ways like lost sheep, thus following the devices of our own hearts. We have not heeded the divine voice, and we have often quenched the light of conscience Thou hast set within us for our good. Have mercy upon us, O Lord, for we acknowledge unto Thee our innumerable faults. Forgive and free us through the atoning merits of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, that we henceforth may walk in newness of life and be found pleasing unto Thee, the God and Father of our spirits, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Free us from bondage to slavish customs of the world that dwarf the soul, deliver us from the fear of man, from all superstitions and hypocracies that we may live in the glorious liberty of the children of light and of the day. For we ask it in Jesus' name, and for His sake. Amen.

Medford Quintet Defeats Roseburg High by 30 to 26

Victory in Closely-Fought Game Puts Pearpickers at Top of Zone Conference

The Medford Pearpickers took over leadership of the southern Oregon high school basketball conference here last night by beating the Roseburg Indians 30 to 26 in a rough and tumble contest. The Indians made it a game all of the way and were behind only two points in the last ten seconds of play, when Wall, husky Medford center, broke loose from a melee under the Medford basket for a solo flight down the floor, where he sunk the goal which dashed all Roseburg chances.

Medford took the lead, 6 to 5, at the close of the first quarter after the score had been tied twice and the lead shifted twice. A second quarter spurt, however, put the Pearpickers out in front, 17 to 11, at half time. The Indians outscored Medford, 10 to 7, in the third period but were still trailing, 24 to 21, as the fourth period got under way, but a free throw by James left only a two-point margin, where the Indians clung desperately but failed to gain. With both teams battling desperately in the last few seconds, Roseburg was fighting for a free ball under the Medford basket, when Wall suddenly emerged to dribble unmolested the length of the floor and dropped in the score which put his team safely out in front.

The game was rough and hard-fought all of the way with a super abundance of whistle tooting.

Data Favors Medford

Medford excelled Roseburg in field goals, tossing 12 baskets to 10 for Roseburg. Each team sank six free throws out of 16 tries. Sixteen personal fouls were called on Roseburg players and 13 on Medford. Roseburg lost Cummings on fouls late in the fourth period. No Medford players went out of the game.

Medford far exceeded Roseburg in height and thereby commanded backboard rebounds in the first half, but in the second half James, besides being high point man for the evening, did an excellent job for Roseburg in plays off the board. Defensive work by Cummings succeeded in holding down some of the brilliant play on the part of Fawcett, smallest man on the Medford team, but the best ball handler. The tall Herman and the tall and heavy Wall, forward and center respectively for Medford, used their height and weight to advantage on score plays.

Lineups:

Roseburg (26)		(30) Medford
Wimberly (4)	F	(6) Herman
Hughes (4)	F	(2) Monteith
James (11)	C	(9) Wall
Cummings (1)	G	(1) Webber
Ness (6)	G	(6) Fawcett

Substitutions: Roseburg—Stephens, Baker, Hohnstein; Medford—Neidermeyer (2), Reynolds (4). Officials: Liebsley and Robinson.

U. of O. Frosh Hoopsters Defeat OSC Juniors

EUGENE, Feb. 7—(AP)—The University of Oregon Frosh threw up an airtight defense in the second half last night to defeat the Oregon State Rooks, 44 to 35, and even the annual basketball series at one game each.

The Frosh trailed at halftime, 24-22, but blanked the Rooks for 11 minutes of the final period.

Ethan Dale of the Rooks scored 15 points. Roy Seeborg and Alvin Popick made 13 each for the Frosh.

Volleyball Team at Days Creek Ends Good Season

DAYS CREEK, Feb. 7—The volley ball team of the Days Creek high school closed a most successful season Friday evening by defeating the Glendale girls in the local gym. The girls who have been undefeated throughout the season have amassed a total of 181 points as compared to 96 points totaled by their opponents. Miss Marjorie Church, girls athletic director, is justly proud of the showing made by the team which includes Geraldine Spore, Maxine Wright, Lois Matthews, Irene Bertrand, Violet Goin, Zelma Davis, Mary Ellen May, Margie Wright, Jean McGee, Berdean Perdue and Dorothy Brown. One of the unusual features connected with their outstanding success is the fact that there are but two additional girls enrolled in the local high school.

Metal, Wood Working May Be Taught Here

In the event sufficient local interest is shown, classes in metal and wood working will be organized here in the near future, it was announced today. The classes will be conducted as a part of the adult education program, and members will be trained to take up special positions in defense work. Persons who are interested in obtaining such instruction are requested to contact O. D. Rawlins, manual arts instructor in the local high school, or W. M. Campbell, city superintendent of schools. If enough adults are interested to warrant formation of a class, final arrangements will be made and announced.

Cougar Hoopsters Cut Washington's Lead by 58-52 Win

(By the Associated Press)

Washington State college cut Washington's lead in the northern division of the Pacific coast conference basketball race to half a game last night with a 58-to-52 victory.

The game was a battle of speed from the beginning, with WSC—defending its division and western collegiate championships—out-stepping the Huskies by just enough margin to keep ahead or even except in the first few minutes. The lead changed four times in those first four minutes. The WSC steped aheapd, only to be tied at 20-20 after 14 minutes. WSC took a 30-22 lead, only to have Norm Dalthorp and his mates sink three baskets in a single minute before the half ended with the count 30-28.

Mary Gilberg, conference scoring leader, playing with a patch over an injured eye, found the basket in the second half for eight points that boosted the WSC advantage to 43-37 after seven minutes. But Washington again challenged with three quick baskets near the end of the period to make the score 52-50 for WSC. A bad Washington pass and two WSC ringers provided the points that made the game safe for the winners while Washington was getting only one more goal.

Owen Hunt, WSC, led with 17 points, followed by Dalthorp's 13.

The loss left Washington with a record of six victories and three losses against six and four for WSC. The teams meet again tonight in what looks like the crucial game of the season; while at Corvallis, Oregon takes on Oregon State in an attempt to make it two straight over the third-place team.

Capt. Jeter Assigned to Head Coos Bay Station

Captain James F. Jeter, well known in Douglas county, particularly in the Canyonville area, has been assigned to the post of commander of the U. S. naval station at Coos bay. Captain Jeter retired from active service February 1, 1941, and leased Deer Park inn, near Canyonville, where he and his wife made their home until July, when he was returned to active status and was assigned to set up a new construction base. He was assigned to the Coos Bay station this week, and, with Mrs. Jeter, has taken up residence at his new post. A son, James F. Jeter, Jr., also is in the navy.

Captain Jeter has completed 32 years of service in the navy, starting as an apprentice seaman.

Dr. A. N. Johnson Takes Course at John Hopkins

Dr. A. N. Johnson, Douglas county health officer, now on leave of absence while on active duty in the U. S. navy, has been transferred to Baltimore, Md., where he has been assigned to a course of study at the school of hygiene at John Hopkins university. He expects to be transferred back to Seattle about March 19.

Papooses Will Battle Ashland Juniors Tonight

By MICKEY CAMPBELL

The Roseburg junior high basketeers entertain Ashland junior high tonight at the junior high gym. Ashland won the last game played between these two schools but the Papooses have been working hard this week in an attempt to reverse the score. The Papooses have lost several games this year because of their inability to relax on cripple shots. In last week's contest with Marshfield, the Papooses missed several would-be "set-ups" and as a result, Coach Hod Turner has been drilling them all week to correct this fault.

An interesting sidelight on the Ashland junior high squad is that they have two eighth grade players named Jandreau and Provost. Although these two boys are not regulars, yet they have shown their ability to carry on where their big brothers leave off. Provost has been especially outstanding for an eighth-grader and it will be interesting to watch the progress of these "little brothers." The game will start at 7:30 p. m.

There will be a tumbling demonstration at half-time, presented by the girls tumbling team.
