DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

A Prayer
By Albert Edward Day
Father of all mankind, the heart has been touched by thy love is appalled at the hatred and cruelty and destruction and death now ravaging the world. The passion for freedom and justice in the hearts of multitudes seems unable to find expression except in war which is the enemy of freedom and the mockery of justice. A heroic willingness to die for humanity is perverted into tragic necessity of human slaughter. In the presence of this unspeakable disaster our hearts are bowed in penitence for everything we have done to make it inevitable and in earnest entreaty that divine light may illumine our minds, divine love purge our hearts and divine power endure our wills that we may act in the spirit and with something of the wisdom of Christ. We dare not pray merely for victory in this war. We love America more than life, but with even greater devotion we cherish Thy kingdom. May Thy kingdom come with its equal justice for every race, its liberation of every class, its emancipation of fettered minds, its cleansing of embittered hearts, its sanctification of all human relationships, its enrichment of all human life with gifts and tasks that are eternal through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

Lighting Control Of Atlantic Coast Forced on Govt.
WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—Secretary of War Stimson said today the "imperative necessity" of controlling lighting which might aid axis submarines was a prime reason for designating the entire Atlantic coast a military area. Voluntary efforts to control lighting of coastal resorts and cities have failed, Stimson explained. The secretary said a friend reported witnessing the destruction of a ship off St. Augustine, Fla., "which was facilitated by the glare from the shore." Stimson stressed also that no mass evacuations were contemplated on the east coast like those on the Pacific coast, but instead policing and control of certain vital but limited areas with the aim of prohibiting potentially dangerous persons, whether alien or citizen, from entering these areas. "The war department," he said, "felt sure the great bulk of aliens were fully loyal, and the army had no disposition to discriminate against aliens as such." Stimson also announced selection of a division camp site high in the Colorado Rockies for large-scale training of hardened mountain troops. Men for the outfit will be hand-picked from skiers, guides, trappers and others.

Heads of Legion Oppose Entry of War No. 2 Vets

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30.—(AP)—The executive committee of the American Legion rejected today a recommendation of the national constitution committee that ranks of the organization be opened to veterans of the present war and directed the committee to reexamine the question. The executive committee by a unanimous voice vote adopted a commitment motion submitted by Committeeman William McKinley of New Jersey after three past national commanders had spoken against action at the present time. Members of the executive committee said the question of admitting the younger men into the Legion would have to be determined finally at the national convention in September.

Milo Warner of Toledo, Ohio, the immediate past commander, cautioned the committeemen to "go very slow and not be panicked." He said that "this new bunch is going to form their own organization." The view that the question "is contrary to the principle of successful prosecution of the war," was expressed by former National Commander Stephen Chadwick of Seattle, Wash. Ray Kelly of Detroit, the third past commander, said the Legion "must not be put in the light of a salesman trying to expand the scope of our organization."

New C. of C. Head Pledges War Aid

Fortunately no bones were broken but she was badly bruised and shaken. H. E. (Joesey) Jones has established an office in the theater building where he will transact

Sugar Beet Fills Gap Created By Cane Shortage

(By NEA Service)
Sweet tooth in what Uncle Sam calls the "sugar scarcity areas" of America's northeastern states will not go unappeased—thanks to the lowly sugar beet, which is stepping into the breach caused by the cane sugar shortage. The western and middle-western beet sugar states are sending 200,000,000 pounds to the sugar-hungry east, accompanied by Price Administrator Leon Henderson's sharp warning to industrial users to buy it up or "have only themselves to blame" if a sugar shortage smacks them.

We are all going to be using a lot more beet sugar in the near future. Normally it makes up 30 per cent of America's annual sugar-bowl. Last year 795,000 acres were planted. This year, department of agriculture reports indicate, there will be a 24 per cent increase. The increase would be even greater if we had more processing mills. New Seeds Defy Blight About 15 years ago, the west's sugar beet crop was faced with extinction by the curly top disease. But bureau of plant industry workers developed new varieties that could withstand blight. Then it became necessary to produce our own seed. We used to have to import seed from central Europe, where its production took two years and much hand labor. During World War I we had a seed famine, and just missed one in this war because we learned to produce our own before the war's outbreak stopped trade with Germany and Poland. Not only do we produce our

Unregulated Burning in Oregon Woods Advanced
SALEM, May 1.—(AP)—Governor Sprague yesterday proclaimed that the closed season for unregulated burning in state forests be advanced from May 15 to today. The governor's proclamation was requested by the commanding general of the ninth army corps that state authorities control the burning of slashings and other debris prior to May 15. The governor said that State Forester N. S. Rogers advised him that weather conditions are such that unregulated use of fire would interfere with military and civilian activities.
