

Cooper Duo Halts Winning Streak Of Brooklyn, 1 to 0

Chisox Victory String Also Broken, by Yankees, Paced by Gordon's Two Home Runs

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer
The combination of Morton Cooper pitching and Walker Cooper catching has become a fearsome battery for the St. Louis Cardinals and yesterday the boys made a family affair of beating the Brooklyn Dodgers, 1-0, in a sizzling show at Ebbets field.

Mort pitched two-hit ball while Walker tripled and scored the only run of the game to snap an eight-game Brooklyn winning streak and shut out the National league champions for the first time this season.

It also was the first defeat of the season for Wyatt, the Dodger ace who had won two games previously without looking nearly as good as he did in losing this one. He gave up only four hits, but Walker Cooper's triple in the fifth, followed by Cresp's fly to center, decided the game.

St. Louis came close to moving into second place by the victory over the Dodgers, but the Boston Braves managed to remain a half game in front by nosing out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3 in ten innings.

The Cincinnati Reds crushed the Phils, 10-3, with Starr pitching a six-hitter.

Ott hit his sixth home run with one on in the first inning to help the Giants get a 3-0 lead for Carpenter in the first five frames against the Chicago Cubs, but the Braves won out, 6-3.

Gordon Hits 2 Homers

The world champion New York Yankees also halted the Chicago White Sox' seven-game winning streak, 4-1. Joe Gordon hit two home runs to chase Chicago humbly back to the American league cellar. Cleveland's game with the Boston Red Sox was postponed and thus the Yanks' first place lead was swelled to 13 percentage points although they are deadlocked in won-lost reckonings.

Air-tight relief pitching by Harris raised the Philadelphia Athletics out of the basement with a 5-3 decision over the Detroit Tigers, who scored all their runs in the first two frames and then loaded the bases with one out in the third. This was where Harris came in, holding the Bengals scoreless on two hits the rest of the way.

The Washington Senators shared Chicago's cellar spot by folding 10-1 at St. Louis.

R. H. S. Tennis Team Schedules 2 Final Games of Season

(By MICKEY CAMPBELL)

The Roseburg high school tennis players close the 1941-42 sport season this week-end when they travel to Springfield and Eugene Friday and Saturday. The tracksters finished their season last week and the baseball players had their last game Tuesday. The tennis players are unable to defend the state doubles championship, won the past two years by Carstens and Cacy, because the tournament has been cancelled, due to the shortage of tennis balls. Thus this week's matches put on the finishing touches on an undefeated season to date.

Roseburg has already defeated Springfield once this year, 6-2, in a match played here earlier but has not played Eugene high yet this year. The locals expect to close their season with two more victories however.

Again the highlight match is expected to be between Ward Cummings and Ray Stratton, leading players of Roseburg and Springfield respectively. Stratton won the last match played in three sets but only after a very gruelling match. Players making the trip this week include: Cummings, Campbell, Ness, Clark and Maulding. Tennis Coach Schwarzkopf will also accompany the team on the two-day jaunt.

Seattle Loses To Seals Twice, Drops To Third In Race

Los Angeles Downs Portland In 12-Inning Battle; Sacs, Stars Stage 38-Hit Batfest

(By The Associated Press)

The San Francisco Seals, recent cellar dwellers, routed Seattle's three-time Pacific coast league baseball champions for a double win last night to drop the former league leaders into third place.

Although the Seals collected only eight hits they won the first game, 9 to 2, as three Rainier hurlers went wild to walk seven batters. Joyce forced the Seattle batsmen to space eight safeties.

Jansen, young Seal twirler who has been slow rounding into shape this year, pitched four-hit ball to nip the Rainiers, 4 to 2 in the seven-inning nightcap.

The first-place Los Angeles Angels just managed to stave off a peppery Portland team in a 12-inning game which the last-place Beavers continuously threatened, but finally went down, 6 to 4.

Heavy-hitting Angel batsmen collected 14 safeties off submarine hurler Liska and two more on the offerings of Schafer, who relieved in the closing frame.

San Diego moved a notch up to second place in the standing after a comparatively uninteresting 3 to 1 win over Oakland. Olsen, Oakland's hurler yielded the Oaks' batters six hits while his teammates pounded Yelovic, the losing pitcher, and Glenn for ten bingles.

Sacramento engaged in a slugfest with Hollywood and won 13 to 12 as the Solons cracked out 20 hits off three Twink hurlers and Hollywood retaliated by blasting four Sacramento pitchers for 18 hits.

The Twinks had a really big inning in the eighth when they scored eight runs and just missed tying the 13 tallies the Solons had chalked up.

The rationing of 15 major commodities within a year, including the six already rationed or about to be: sugar, gasoline, tires, typewriters, automobiles and bicycles.

May Curb Motorists

The possibility of further gasoline rationing spread over the map today as the government considered curtailment of automobile driving throughout the country to further conserve rubber.

The war production board directed the office of defense transportation to draw up a nationwide plan.

July 1 was mentioned as the logical date to start the program, if it finally was adopted. That is the date consumer rationing by ers for 60 days—except for deliveries to the army, navy or maritime commission.

Some officials at WPB, sharply critical of what they described as war department "shotgun" methods, said the "freeze" affected private as well as public construction. For example, farmers who cannot ship grain to already-filled elevators will be unable, in many sections of the country, to build bins for their spring wheat crops.

Remedy Promised

It was indicated that the order was rushed through WPB's lumber branch under army instructions before high-ranking WPB officials realized its full effect.

"There certainly was no intention of stopping defense housing," James S. Knowlson, director of industry operations, declared today, "and something will be done about it."

Some amendment would be drawn, it was understood, to permit continuance of "essential" defense housing, at least. Defense housing officials now are engaged in a review of all products, planned and under way, to establish their own priority list.

If projects were stopped too long, officials feared, contractors' crews would be broken up by workers seeking other jobs and the work of shipyards, aircraft plants, and other vital facilities would be impeded by lack of housing for employees.

Army Held Remiss

The only lumber still available for such projects is in retail yards, and it was reported the army had bought up some 2,000,000 feet of these stocks since March.

Authoritative WPB officials declared that the army, although warned months ago that it should begin stockpiling lumber for the cantonments in which it will house its multi-million-man new army, had failed to do so. Recent heavy demands for wood as a substitute for scarce metals suddenly left the war department faced with the possibility that supplies might not meet its demands—and the 60-day "freeze" was decided upon.

The army's requirements, even at the end of the 60 days, will not have been filled, officials reported.

Violations To Be Checked

Three thousand government examiners have been assigned to check on violations of the construction stop-order in all parts of the country, the war production board announced yesterday.

The examiners, borrowed from WPB from the home owners loan corporation, will check building permits in every principal city and gather information from building supply companies, labor unions and any other available sources of information, WPB said.

Red Tide Rolls Over Slaughtered Germans

on Kerch peninsula in the Crimea.

Reds Pace Slowed

Adolf Hitler's field headquarters pictured the Russians as suffering heavy losses as German warplanes ranged over the Khar'kov battlefield in great numbers, strafing and bombing the red armies.

The German command said Nazi troops guarding the big steel city, Russia's "Pittsburgh" in the Ukraine, beat off powerful tanked soviet attacks and destroyed 63 more red army tanks.

Hitler's headquarters also reported strong Russian assaults were developing in the bloody Lake Ilnen sector, 130 miles south of Leningrad.

Axis dispatches from Bucharest asserted that German-Rumanian counter-offensives had slowed the Russian drive upon Khar'kov in "a battle of extreme violence" but acknowledged that massed soviet forces were smashing violently at many places below Belgorod, 50 miles north of Khar'kov.

Slaughter Is Heavy

London military quarters said the northern wing of Marshal Timoshenko's armies were pressing forward relentlessly upon Khar'kov, although at a somewhat slower pace, while the southern wing was apparently checked.

At midday, after bitter all-night fighting, soviet headquarters announced:

"Our troops continued offensive battles in the Khar'kov direction. The Germans, disregarding enormous losses, have made counter-attacks attempting to hold up the offensive of our troops. These attempts of the enemy are being defeated, and the Germans are suffering huge losses in manpower and equipment."

In one sector alone, the communique said, red army troops killed 700 Germans and captured quantities of booty.

Fierce battles also raged on the Leningrad front, where the Russians said they had cut the road between "two enemy centers of resistance" and killed 600 Germans attempting a counterattack to restore the broken communications.

Kerch Battle Not Ended

Bucharest reports countering the German high command's claim that the battle of Kerch was "concluded," admitted that soviet troops were "still fighting with sharp resistance at many points" in the eastern Crimea.

As the Russo-German campaign rounded out its 11th month, Reichs-Marshal Goering told German workers in Berlin that this war is the hardest Germany has had to fight.

Senate Votes to Build Fence Along Mexico Line

WASHINGTON, May 21—(AP)—The senate voted $50,000 today to build a 25-mile long barbed wire fence along the Mexican border west of El Paso, Texas, although Minority Leader McNary (R-Ore.) questioned the wisdom of using essential materials for such a project.

"How does this jibe with our good neighbor policy toward Mexico?" McNary asked when the item came up.

"We want to keep the good neighbor policy on both sides of the border," retorted Senator McCarran (D-Nev.).

"Is the fence supposed to keep out smugglers or cattle?" McNary asked.

"Smugglers," McCarran said. "Well," said McNary, shaking his head, "it must be quite a fence."

Berlin Expects Mexican Declaration of War

LONDON, May 21—(AP)—Roundabout dispatches from Germany said today that Berlin expected Mexico to declare war upon the reich following receipt of an answer to her demand for satisfaction in the submarine-sinking of a Mexican tanker.

The dispatches, relayed here from Berlin via Stockholm, said that nazi circles also expected other Latin-American republics not now at war with the axis to follow Mexico's lead. It was said the German reply would be delivered today.

Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or acrid passages with stinging and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.
