American Legion Auxiliary Activities

By MRS. CLAUDE BAKER

Past presidents of Umpqua unit presented the 1941-42 president, Bess Riegel, with a $25.00 defense savings bond Tuesday night at their regular meeting. Earlier this year the unit put all its building fund into bonds, not a large amount but with the Legion funds it has amounted to about one thousand dollars. Have you kept up on your bond buying? They are needed more than ever now, Pearl harbor, Dutch harbor, let's not let it be Portland or Seattle harbor because WE harbored our personal funds when they might be doing the government, which after all, is ourselves, some good. Remember a dime will buy a bullet, or buttons on a young fellow's coat, and remember they all need flags!

June 14, 1923, certain rules for displaying the flag were adopted by sixty-eight patriotic societies meeting in Washington at the call of the American Legion to draft the present code. June 14, 1777, this epoch-making entry appeared in the annals of congress: "Resolved, that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes—alternate red and white, that the union be thirteen stars—white in a field of blue, repre-

Fireworks in Oregon Banned by Gov. Sprague

SALEM, June 5.—(AP)—All law enforcement officers in Oregon were ordered by Governor Sprague to arrest any person who sells or uses fireworks.

The governor cited an order by Lieut. Gen. John L. De Witt, commanding the western defense area prohibiting the sale and use of fireworks. This order, the governor said, carries the same force and effect of law.

"It should be noted," the governor said, "that the sale or use of fireworks, firecrackers and even cap pistols is prohibited throughout the entire state, in cities, towns, as well as in all areas outside incorporated cities. Customary roadstands cannot be operated."

The order also applies to stocks now in the hands of dealers or the public.

The reason for the ban is that fireworks may be used as signal devices or as simulated gunfire.

The U. S. bureau of mines recently relaxed the nationwide ban on fireworks, but this order does not apply to the western defense area.

U. S., Jap Fleets In Major Battle In Pacific Ocean

Japs Using Heaviest Craft in Allies' Route of Supplies

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—American and Japanese fleet units apparently were engaged today in one of the greatest battles of the Pacific as a result of the enemy's attempt yesterday to raid the strongly-garrisoned United States outpost on Midway island.

Commenting on the communication issued at Pearl harbor early today by Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, naval experts here emphasized that Nimitz had said "attacks on the enemy are continuing."

This seemed to indicate, it was said, that the fight which started at Midway yesterday morning had continued for many hours with both American and enemy units maneuvering for advantage in what may be a crucial engagement determining the enemy's ability to strike at more vital points, including Pearl harbor, the United States west coast, Alaska and even the Panama canal.

The action off Midway involved not only Japanese aircraft carriers but battleships and heavy cruisers. As great as this force appeared to be, however, there remained a possibility that it was engaged in a diversionary operation and that a main force was developing an attack elsewhere.

It was the first time that Japanese battleships have been reported east of home waters.

There was no immediate indication here whether a major portion of the enemy fleet was involved, but observers agreed that the presence of so large a force more than 2,000 miles from Yokohama indicated the Japanese were bent on reducing America's growing offensive power in the Pacific and possibly bringing the war within threatening distance of the west coast.

Jap Strategy Theorized

The Jap's grand strategy was still to be disclosed, and Washington authorities could at best only cite the possibilities based on what has been announced to date.

The Midway and Dutch harbor assaults, however, were viewed as evidence of a carefully conceived plan which may have any one of these ultimate actions in view:

1. An effort, preliminary to an attack on Russia, to destroy or conquer Alaskan bases and thereby cut a route over which aerial reinforcements might be moved to the soviet armies in Siberia.

2. Clear the way for a new and powerful attack on Pearl harbor, or even the western U. S. coast and Panama, by trying to knock out aerial reconnaissance and interception forces which may be based on Midway and Alaska.

3. A new attempt to cut U. S. supply lines into the southwest Pacific by forceful attacks on the Guardian islands south of Hawaii, after the Japanese would hope, having diverted American forces into the north Pacific.

4. A knockout try against the bases from which Japan may be or may have been attacked, including past and future air raids on the Japanese homeland and submarine operations against Japanese shipping.

The relation of Midway and Dutch harbor to any projected attacks anywhere on the North American continent arises from the fact that they flank the vast expanse of ocean over which an assaulting fleet would almost certainly move. Planes operating south of Dutch harbor and north of Midway should be able to keep a fairly good watch over the 1,653-mile stretch of water between those two points.
