DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

The poet Wadsworth wrote: "This world is too much with us." Man needs seasons of rest and solitude. Gandhi spends every Monday in silence and prayer. Most of the great spiritual leaders have a time and a place for quiet moments and meditation. We all need to enter the inner closet of the soul and close the door against outside interruptions. Glare and noise hinder spiritual cultivation. Solitude and aloneness with God are necessary for the health of the soul. Fear and agitation take their toll in heart and nervous diseases. Calmness, strength and faith come from companionship with our Divine Guide, who is ever our refuge and strength. Amid the chaotic conditions of our present-day world let us ever remember that God is still standing within the shadow, keeping watch above his own. Yes, the world is too much with us, its frets and its cares, its disappointments and its losses. We cling to the things which are material, forgetting that they are temporal, while the things which are not material, but spiritual, are eternal. It is a good thing to get away from the things that hide the face of God. "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High shall abide under the shadow 'of the Almighty.'" Amen.

Vacationing—Sidney Hellwell, bookkeeper at the Bashford flour mill, is taking his vacation.
