Schaefer states, fresh tomatoes have been found to increase the alertness of bombardiers at high altitudes. Therefore, he points out, it is not impossible that even a spoonful of beans or a lack of tomatoes might have serious effects upon United Nations aerial strategy.

strength in the savage desert fighting that they were unable to offer effective resistance to the final assault upon its defenses.

The worst losses came on June 13, when the British tanks fell into a German ambush and were slaughtered by heavy German anti-tank guns.

But that doesn't seem to be all. Rommel had a better system for REPAIRING his damaged tanks and getting them back into action. He organized repair shops on heavy trucks guarded by tank squadrons, and these repair outfits dashed in and salvaged damaged German tanks.

A tank PUT BACK into action equals one shipped long distances over dangerous communication lines. And gets into the fighting quicker.

In the post mortem, don't overlook this point:

The real cause of Tobruk's fall was the crippling of British naval power in the Mediterranean by GERMAN AIR POWER, thus making it impossible to continue to supply Tobruk adequately from the sea.

Wherever one turns in this war, air power seems to be the decisive factor.

THE bad news of the past week-end fell upon us outsiders suddenly. To our leaders, who are on the inside, with access to world-wide intelligence reports, it wasn't so unexpected.

More than a week ago, Premier Curtin of Australia issued a gloomy statement that at the moment appeared unjustified. He knew something.

Much more than a week ago, Churchill decided to come to Washington. It wasn't good news that influenced his decision.

He also knew something.

CHURCHILL and Roosevelt are laying plans to meet the situation that broke into the news over the week-end.

The answer isn't easy to find. A big American expeditionary force at the right place at the right time would be useful, but big overseas expeditionary forces require vast shipping facilities, and shipping is scarce.

And not increasing rapidly. The builders of ships are in a hot race with the submarines that sink ships.

AGAIN air power, which moves from place to place over the globe with time-shattering speed, comes to mind. Crushing air power seems to be the answer to nearly everything in this war.

If we had it.

IF the bad news of the past few days shocks and frightens you, it is a sign that you have fallen into the bad habit of considering each day's news BY ITSELF, your spirits rising on the days when the news is good and falling on the days when it is bad.

You mustn't do that. It's misleading.

If your morale is to be kept up, you must learn to get the OVER-ALL picture of the news. The over-all picture of the news in this spring and summer of this probably decisive year of 1942 is that the MIGHT of our side is slowly rising instead of falling.

OUT OUR WAY

Ten Million Cache Of U. S. Fugitive Blackmer Found

WASHINGTON, June 23.—(AP)—Secretary of the treasury Morgenthau yesterday announced that a $10,000,000 cache of securities and cash owned by Henry M. Blackmer, who fled the country at the time of the Teapot Dome scandal 20 years ago, had been uncovered in a wartime examination of foreign bank accounts.

The assets, Morgenthau disclosed, were hidden in New York City banks under mysterious names identified only by numbers.

Morgenthau recalled that Blackmer was alleged to have been the "pay off" man attempting to obtain the sale of government oil lands to private oil companies.

Blackmer left the country in 1921 when he was sought as a principal witness against secretary of the interior Albert Fall, who was convicted and sent to prison for accepting a bribe in connection with the oil fraud. He lived in France for a number of years, foiling numerous attempts to extradite him to the United States, and he is believed now to be in Switzerland.

In connection with efforts to uncover resources of axis agents and sympathizers, the Treasury has been making a systematic search of all assets in this country belonging to persons living abroad.

The Blackmer accounts in New York were traced back and finally identified as belonging to him although they did not bear his name.

DAILY DEVOTIONS

DR. CHAS. A. EDWARDS

People will go to almost any extreme to get satisfaction for their eternal welfare. But the man who has experienced Christ in his heart knows that there is but one source of satisfaction. That is God! The great Wesleyan revival of the eighteenth century cleansed the springs of Protestantism by ringing all the changes on the experimental note. At first it was ridiculed for that. Fun was made of the new teaching, for its enthusiasm and its doctrine of assurance. But the lost radiance of the early religion was restored to an age that was well nigh lost. When John Wesley began to preach, and to insist that religion is always the Life of God in the soul of man. Shall not modern Protestantism keep emphasizing that eternal truth? Professor Alexander spoke of the "deity-blind." Must not the deity-conscious bring to the deity-blind and the deity-dull a new experience of God? This is not just a matter of opinion; it is a matter of life and death, and only God can satisfy. Gratification is the fulfillment of desire. Satisfaction is the fulfillment of the soul. The business of the Christian is to give a radiant life of God to the world. Amen.

Not All "Fresh"

Only eggs laid in the state can be called "fresh eggs" in Georgia. Imported eggs, even though only a few hours old, cannot be called "fresh" there.
