Canadians Face Boost In Taxes on Incomes

der $660 a year and married persons making less than $1,200 will be exempt from the tax.

Profits Levy Upped
The finance minister, under the new schedule, also increased the excess profits tax from 75 per cent to 100 per cent. This, he said, would "increase substantially the tax liability of all those whose profits have increased by more than one-sixth of their standard profits."

Other new taxes include a two per cent tax on life, fire and casualty insurance premiums and increased taxes on liquor, tobacco, soft drinks, furs, transportation and telephones. Others are on candy, chewing gum, photo supplies, jewelry and trinkets, smokers' supplies, fountain pens and luggage. Customers of night clubs, cabarets and dance halls will pay a new 20 per cent tax.

RAISE IN 3RD CLASS RATES OF U. S. POSTAGE FAVORED

WASHINGTON, June 24.—(AP)—The house ways and means committee voted today to require the post office department to raise rates on third-class postage, for periodicals and advertising matter, enough to pay the cost of handling them.

Rep. Cooper (D-Tenn.) said it had been estimated that the department was suffering a $26,000,000 annual loss in delivery of that type of mail.

The committee directed the post office department to submit a report before it raised either second or third-class rates. Second-class rates, affecting newspapers, would be raised a total of $78,000,000 under a committee decision last week. It said this was the amount of the annual deficit in handling second-class matter.

Film Material Exempt

The members voted to exempt sensitized photographic paper and unexposed film from the increase it has voted on photographic equipment and made imported bitters subject to new distilled spirits taxes. The new photographic equipment tax would be raised from 15 to 25 per cent under a committee proposal.

Cooper said the committee also had approved and sent to the house a resolution recommended by the state, war, navy and treasury departments to exempt from duty and internal taxes any goods sent to axis prisoners in the United States. It also would apply to articles made by American prisoners in axis countries and to articles imported for the use of the armed forces of the United Nations in the United States.

Protests were beginning to pile up against the committee's decision to grant certain corporations post-war refunds and to impose a 5 per cent tax on transportation of freight and express.

Sub Attack Fails To Excite Seaside, Ellsworth Says

The most interesting feature of the Japanese submarine shelling of the Oregon coast near Seaside last Sunday was the complete absence of excitement on the part of the residents and visitors at the beaches, Harris Ellsworth, editor of the News-Review, reported today. Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth returned to their home here last night after a week spent in the northern part of the state.

"The brief bombardment of the coast created far less concern than two tragedies in which three lives were lost by drowning at the local beaches," Mr. Ellsworth said. "The day following the shelling there was no evidence of excitement or special interest. Picnic crowds and hikers went about the beaches as usual and there was very little conversation concerning the attack."

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth were at the Gearhart hotel when the shelling occurred, having been in attendance at the Oregon Newspaper Publishers' association state convention held there Friday and Saturday. Thursday they attended the Oregon state grange convention where Mr. Ellsworth was initiated in the 5th and 6th degrees of the order. Monday noon he addressed a luncheon meeting of the state convention of Oregon Lions clubs at Seaside.

between June 3 and 14; three dead and 85 missing in the June 15 sinking of a medium-sized U. S. merchant vessel off the New England coast and five dead in the torpedoing of a British freighter the same day in the same area.

The Caribbean victims were five U. S. ships, two medium-sized and three small; five British merchantmen, four medium and one small, and one Honduran, one Norwegian and one Dutch vessel, all small.

Six hundred thirty-five survivors, including 126 passengers, related tales of suffering and heroism on being landed at a Caribbean port; told of encountering English-speaking axis submarine commanders and of being photographed by a German camera man aboard one of the undersea craft.

Torpedoes, shell fire, or both, were used in sinking the allied ships, they revealed.

The June 15 sinking of the American ship 75 miles off the New England coast was one of the war's worst torpedo disasters to a U. S. merchantman, with more persons lost than rescued.

Navy Casualties Reported.
The announced total of the dead, wounded and missing of the navy since the war started stood at more than 10,000 today with release of casualty list number 5 containing names of 98 recorded as dead, eight as wounded and 2,101 missing.

In addition the army has reported 796 deaths in battle and the wounding of 930 American soldiers.

The new navy list covered casualties reported to next of kin between May 11 and June 6, covering the navy, marine corps and coast guard. It noted that many of those listed as missing were serving in the Manila bay area when it capitulated to the Japanese and "likely are prisoners of war."

Battle of Egypt Begins Along Frontier Region

fought off a series of attacks in the bloody 20-day-old battle for Sevastopol, in the Crimea, and fell back before the assault of Field Marshal von Bock's forces on the Kharkov front.

Red army headquarters said Russian infantry, marines and sailors battled the Germans throughout the night around Sevastopol, and announced:

"Our units repelled fierce attacks of superior enemy forces." The situation remained grave, but the Russians said they had closed gaps torn in the defense system of the Black sea naval base and declared the Germans were suffering heavy casualties.

Nazis Gain Near Kharkov
On the Kharkov front, 400 miles north of Sevastopol the red army acknowledged that "our troops were pressed back to new positions."

Von Bock's offensive was apparently striking again in the Izum-Barvenkova sector, 80 miles below Kharkov, where the two armies battled indecisively to exhaustion last month.

A soviet communique said German motorized infantry, supported by tanks, attacked a Russian settlement and "in a fierce en-agement we destroyed 13 enemy tanks—the enemy suffered heavy losses in men."

Hitler's field headquarters asserted that axis troops had "annihilated" remnants of soviet forces still resisting on the extreme tip of an isthmus north of Sevastopol bay, across from Sevastopol city, and listed 11,000 prisoners taken from June 7 to June 22.

In aerial warfare, bad weather kept the RAF's big bombers aground while nazis raiders executed a small-scale attack on East Anglia, the section of England nearest to Holland, where the British army recently took over a 36-mile training area.

A communique said the Germans inflicted "neither damage nor casualties."

Churchill Faces Attack
Meanwhile, London newspapers predicted that Prime Minister Churchill's return from the United States would be marked by the bitterest criticism of his career but that he would retain firm control of the government.

"This is the most serious personal issue Mr. Churchill has faced since becoming prime minister," the London Mirror said, in the wake of yesterday's angry complaints in parliament over British war leadership.

"It will undoubtedly mean the heaviest adverse vote the government has had to face."

The Yorkshire Post declared parliament's reaction was "more serious than after the fall of Singapore," while the Daily Mail said "the government is faced with all the possibilities of a serious political revolt."

But stung as they were by the swift disaster in Libya, Britons generally were agreed they had only one possible leader: pudgy, indomitable Winston Churchill.

Navy Relief Drive In Roseburg to be Planned Thursday

All ex-navy men and ex-marines are urged by Ted Post, chairman of the Navy Relief society drive soon to be held here, to attend a meeting at Carl's Tavern at 8 p. m. Thursday, at which time final plans for the campaign will be formulated.

The Navy Relief society is engaging in a campaign scheduled to raise $5,000,000 nationally to aid the dependents of navy men and to assist in meeting emergencies in families of navy men.

The campaign locally, Mr. Post states, is to be conducted through the sale of sterling silver Navy Relief society pins. These will be sold for $1.25 each and the proceeds will go into the national fund. All ex-navy men and ex-marines are to aid in the sale of pins and it is especially important that all be present at the preparatory meeting tomorrow night, the chairman states.
