Tires Now Available to Ministers, Medical Branches, Nurses, Teachers

An amendment to the tire rationing regulations was announced today by the state rationing administrator, extending eligibility of ministers for tires and tubes to any religious practitioner qualified to administer to the religious needs of the members of a congregation, and making licensed chiropractors and osteopaths eligible under the same conditions as apply to doctors of medicine.

The amendment tightens requirements in some respects. It is now mandatory that a vehicle operated by a physician, surgeon, farm veterinarian or practicing minister must be used "exclusively" for professional services or religious duties to be eligible for tires and tubes, instead of "principally" as heretofore.

Nurses, Teachers Included
Designation of nurses' eligible for tires has been changed from "visiting nurse" to "public health nurse", narrowing and more strictly defining eligible persons in this classification.

Eligibility for recapped or obsolete new tires has been extended to include school officials and teachers for necessary transportation between schools.

The eligibility standards for doctors and ministers have been changed to require that applicants must show that the vehicle on which a tire or tube is to be mounted is necessary because there is no other practicable means of transportation. Heretofore, the requirement was a showing that the car was needed and used in making professional calls. Even under the new standards, however, if it is necessary for the applicant to answer emergency calls as a part of his professional practice, he may be issued a certificate to enable him to use his car between his home, his office and hospitals.

Public school officials and teachers are given eligibility for recapped tires or obsolete new tires only when they need automobiles to get them from one school to another in areas where there is no other practicable means of transportation. The vehicles must be used principally for this purpose or other eligible purposes. Certificates will not be issued to any teacher or official whose duties are performed wholly at one school, as the purpose of the amendment is to make tires available to teachers who conduct classes in several schools, and to supervisors who cannot meet the requirements of their positions without them.
